DETAILED FIGURES ON CITY BUDGET ARE GIVEN

Total Amount to Be Raised Over $168,000

EARNINGS ARE CREDITED

Meeting of Taxpayers to Approve Estimates to Be Held December 22

Detailed figures of the city budget for 1926 were given out yesterday at the office of City Attorney Cabans. The budget committee finished its work during the latter part of last week and the mass of figures embodied in the different items of the budget were prepared by the city attorney yesterday for publication.

Notice has been given that the meeting of taxpayers to vote upon whether or not to approve the budget as submitted will be held at the city hall December 22 at 7:30 p. m.

In making up the budget this year the committee took the earnings of the several offices and departments of the city government and gave each credit for this amount instead of totaling the earnings as has been done in the past.

Police Force Increased

The police department has been allowed two extra men for duty at night, following out the recommendations made by Ramey Rugh, chairman of the police committee of the council. All other departments will be conducted on practically the same amount as allotted to them for 1925 and in some instances for less.

The total amount to be raised is $168,561.34 according to the budget figures. The general levy is $101,869.90. The earnings from the different departments are $42,701.32. This taken from the general levy leaves $59,168.58 which is the levy under the six per cent limitation.

Additional levies which do not come under this limitation are as follows: For sinking funds for general bonds, $39,200; for interest on general bonds, $46,999.50; for the city's one-tenth payment on street intersections, $18,000; under the new charter amendment which permits the city to baneroff the intersections, $751.60; interest at six per cent on $751.60, estimated amount of total cost of street intersection improvements, $450.96.

Budget Items Given

The 1926 budget for each department together with the earnings from the levy and credit to the levy as well as the 1925 budget for each item are given as follows:

Attorney's office—Budget and levy, $1870. Budget for 1925, $1979
Recorder's office—Budget, $5929; earnings, $439.57; credit to levy, $4419.57. Budget for 1925, $5980.

Treasurer's office—Budget, $2970; earnings, $1120.56; levy, $1342.74; budget for 1925, $2242.
Engineer's office—Apparently there is a great increase in the budget for the engineer but in the past the five per cent engineer's salary have paid the salaries of the deputy engineers without going into the budget but this year this item is included. The budget of the engineer is $24,672, the earnings, $27,762.55 and the credit to levy, $30,245. The budget for 1925 was $4660.

Fire department—Budget and levy, $21,110. Budget for 1925, $20,614.75.
Police department—Budget and levy, $11,880. Budget for 1925, $12,090.

Street and bridge department—Budget, $22,140; earnings, $4452.63; levy, $14,687. Budget for 1925, $22,917.
Parks, general—Budget and levy, $2629; budget for 1925, $2590.
City pound—Budget, $3290; earnings, $5290; credit to levy, $2000. Budget for 1925, $3985.30.

Health department—Budget and levy, $500.
Building inspector—Budget, $3800; earnings, $800; credit to levy, $4200. Budget for 1925, $1990.

Milk inspector—Budget, $600; earnings, $500; levy $100. Budget for 1925, $400.
City hall maintenance—Budget, $2475; earnings, $2142; levy, $333. Budget for 1925, $2102.75.
Aviation fund—Levy, $500.
City pound—Levy, $300.

Sewer maintenance and operation—Budget and levy, $2900. Budget for 1925, $2900.
Employment agency—Levy, $600.

Elections—All premiums on bonds are placed in this fund, amounting in this budget to $2500. The levy is $150.
Library—Budget, $5500; earnings, $500; levy, $4900. Budget for 1925, $5200.
Emergency—Budget, $5000. Budget for 1925, $2934.92.

For 1925 the amount levied for city purposes was $56,565.92 and the estimated receipts were $11,040, making a total of $109,605.92. The levies for interest on bonds were $11,455 and the sinking fund amounted to $36,725 making a total of $144,745.92.

STAGE SERVICE DELAYED

MELTING SNOW CAUSES DIFFICULTIES ON PASS

Although several passengers were taken across McKenzie pass Friday and Saturday on the new snow-packer of the Eugene-Bend stage line, service will be delayed several days until new snow falls or the weather grows colder, according to word brought back to the city yesterday.

Recent warm weather has thawed the snow and in places it has melted entirely from the highway. Where the latter condition is not prevalent, the snow is so soft and mushy that it has been hard work to drive over it, officials of the stage line explained.

The snow is said to have melted back about three miles and at the summit the ground is bare in several places.

NEWELL IS GIVEN OATH

OREGON DRY CHIEF TO MOVE TO PORTLAND SOON

Ceremony Conducted Yesterday by Federal Judge Wolverton; Lyle Is President

W. K. Newell of this city, recently named deputy prohibition administrator for Oregon, was given the oath of office at Portland yesterday afternoon and was expected to return to Eugene during the night.

Mr. Newell will move immediately to Portland to live, where he will be near the scene of activities of the federal forces in this state.

The oath was administered by Federal Judge Wolverton in the presence of Roy T. Lyle, chief prohibition enforcement officer in the northwestern district, and Dr. J. A. Linville, retiring deputy administrator for Oregon.

Following the brief ceremony and the subsequent congratulations, Mr. Newell declined to make any public statement.

"I'd rather let my actions speak for me" was his rather typical reply to inquiries about plans for the future.

Mr. Newell went to Portland Sunday at the call of Mr. Lyle, and there received his instructions from the northwestern director, whose headquarters are in Seattle, Wash.

The Eugene man was named for the office recently and confirmation of his appointment came through Saturday afternoon from the hands of General Andrew Andrews at Washington, D. C.

The new Oregon dry chief will move to Portland within two or three days, but recently said he would retain his interest in the firm of Wetherby-Newell, local realtors.

BODIES RECEIVED HERE

ACCIDENT VICTIMS HAD NO RELATIVES IN STATE

Bodies of Eric Ericson, 27, and Augustus Nelson, 41, the two workmen killed near Oakridge on the Natron cutoff Saturday, were received at the Branetter chapel here last yesterday.

Both men apparently had been killed instantly by falling rock and timber when a section of tunnel No. 14 caved in, according to reports in Eugene. The bodies were greatly mutilated.

Neither Ericson nor Nelson were married and as far as could be learned yesterday, had no relatives in this part of the country. Their families were given as Sweden, Ericson had been working on the Natron cutoff about 15 days and Nelson nearly six months, it was reported.

Ericson is said to have a brother and sister at Mount Washington and an effort was being made to locate them. In the meantime the body will be held here. As Nelson had accumulated a small estate, Fred H. Lindsay, vice president of the United States National bank, was named administrator and the victim's funds will be probated in the county court.
