TOD MORGAN NEW OWNER OF LIGHTWEIGHT CROWN

Ballerino's Second Throws Towel In Tenth

(By The Associated Press)

OLYMPIC AUDITORIUM, LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—A long arm and a cool head from Seattle carried by one, Tod Morgan knocked the junior lightweight crown spinning from the head of Mike Ballerino of Bayonne, N. J., here tonight.

Ballerino's seconds threw a towel into the ring toward the close of the tenth round, giving the northwest boy a technical knockout.

Ballerino opened with rushing tactics, which gave him the title and has made him famous, but eight inches longer reach on the Seattle boy's arms, coupled with his hard hitting ability were too much for the Bayonne slugger.

Throughout the battle the champion did his best to carry the attack to the challenger and took terrific punishment, particularly from straight rights and lefts to the head and chin.

Ringsiders gave Ballerino the first round, called the fifth about even and allotted all the others to Morgan.

Ballerino was knocked down once for the count of nine, again for the count of three and was barely standing, groggy, in a neutral corner when his seconds threw in the towel.

The champion weighed 129¾ pounds, the challenger 128.

Benny Whitman of Los Angeles refereed.

In the slow semi-windup Henry Wallach of New York took the decision from Add Cadena, former lightweight champion of the navy.

JESS HAWLEY CHOOSES ALL-AMERICAN PLAYERS

Nevers Named as Fullback By Dartmouth Coach

(This is the fourth series of all-star football teams selected for the Associated Press by prominent eastern coaches).

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Because of the outstanding position occupied by Dartmouth in national football this year, unusual interest is attached to the all-American team picked today by the Greens' head coach, Jess Hawley, and wired to The Associated Press from French Lick, Indiana.

Hawley honors three of his own stars, Parker, Diehl and Oberlander, but does not pick his brilliant end, Tully, who has been placed on nearly every all-star team named so far.

Illinois has two players on Hawley's eleven, but no other team has more than one. Five eastern, four middle western and two far western are included. The team follows:

Ends: Oosterban, Michigan, and Kassel, Illinois.
Tackles: Koparker, Dartmouth, and Weir, Nebraska.
Guards: Diehl, Dartmouth, and Sturhahn, Yale.
Center: McMullan, Princeton.
Quarterback: Grange, Illinois.
Halfbacks: Oberlander, Dartmouth, and Wilson, Washington.
Fullback: Nevers, Stanford.

Manuel Laraneta and Bob Lee probably will try to do Earle's work in paving the way for the ball carrier Saturday against Oregon Agricultural college.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS ENTERTAINED BY CARD

Three Draws Registered By Local Sportsmen

Three draw matches were concluded at a meeting of the local Knights of Columbus at parish hall last night when the members were treated to a mat card through the courtesy of W. W. Gallow, local fight promoter.

Jim Shults of Iowa and Ralph Hand of Cottage Grove wrestled 15 minutes to a draw in the main attraction. Carl Miller and Ray Jacobs battled through a four-round boxing exhibition that was declared a draw, and Max Lillard and Peewee Bond went through two rounds with the same result.

Miller and Jacobs are both Eugene men and well known in ring circles here.

The members of the K. C. lodge gave Mr. Gallow and his entertainers a vote of thanks for the performances.

Harry Kremmel, local baker, gave a brief talk on the industry which he represents. He said that department of commerce statistics showed an increase in the baking industry of 100 per cent since 1919.

"There are 7000 less bakeries in the United States and 62,000 more wage earners," he said. "Ten years ago there were seven loaves of bread baked at home to three in the bakeries. Now the situation is just the opposite. This is due to the improvement of baking methods."

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Test Brakes in Rain

In spite of all the care taken with brakes during an adjustment it is something difficult to tell for certain whether, in actual practice, all the brakes would hold equally. This calls for the street test where brakes are slammed on suddenly and the tire marks on the paveing observed. But even this test can be improved by waiting for a rainy day, or at least until the streets are wet. Here any sliding of the tire will wear them very little, and a greater force on any brake drum is quickly detected owing to the excellent tire marks left on the wet pavement. The test when conducted in wet weather, however, calls for very greatly reduced speed.

Speed an Aid to Traffic

In effort to relieve traffic congestion in Atlanta, Ga., speed limits of motor vehicles are to be increased from twenty to twenty-five miles an hour in business sections and from twenty to thirty miles in residence districts. State speed limit is thirty miles.

FORDSON TRACTORS WIN

CAPTURE THREE FIRST PRIZES AT PLOW MATCH

Event Considered to Be the Most Important Contest Held Annually in this Country

Fordson tractors captured the three first prices of the day at the forty-seventh annual wheatland plowing match, held recently at Naperville, Ill., and considered to be the most important plowing contest held annually in the country.

Glenn Wright of Plano, Ill., representing the Yorkville Motor company, with his Fordson tractor and Oliver plow won in the manufacturer's class, with a score of 92 points.

Walter Erickson of Naperville, Ill., driving a Fordson and Janesville plow, won first honors and a silver cup in the farmers class, with a score of 92½ points.

First place was captured in the only other event, the boys class, by Forrest George, 18 years old, scoring 83¼ points with a Fordson tractor and Oliver plow.

The victory of the Fordson was well received by the 600 or 700 enthusiastic farmers who cheered the contestants, since by far the great majority of them were owners of that type of tractor.

Fordson success was not a surprise to the practical farmers who witnessed this plowing contest. Factors which gave the Fordson first honors in ever class were, its short turning radius and ease of steering, the wheel running in a furrow. This makes for better uniformity and straightness of furrows, both of which were points considered in computing the scores.

The farmers at the wheatland contest were over-joyed because one of their vocation in winning scored slightly better than the victor in the manufacturers event with his brand new equipment. Considerable amusement was afforded by the difficulty in finding horses to pull the only two "walking plows" which also took a part in the plowing exhibition.

Cleaning the Radiator

A simple way to clean the fins of a cullular radiator is to insert an ordinary lead pencil eraser and rotate it. This will serve to rub off any dirt that has collected, without the risk of injuring the cells. An ocasional rubbing of this sort often will serve to keep the core of the radiator from being marked with light and dark spots.
