

CONGRESS PREPARES FOR ORGANIZATION

Republicans Still Undecided on Party Standing of Insurgent Group

MONDAY IS OPENING DAY

Follette Absent From First Conference

COMMITTEE POSTS LOST

Remain Delegation Decision to Define Formal Statement and Define Position; Body May Act as Unit

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—(By The Associated Press)

Final decision as to their party standing will be made by the Republicans in the Senate today.

Republicans Held Their Session Without Even a Question of the Insurgents

La Follette as one of their group, though invited to this conference.

La Follette Absent From Conference

He was in progress here in a conference with the Wisconsin delegation in the house.

Republican Committee on Policy Adopted by the Party

La Follette's position was not mentioned in the policy adopted by the party.

None of the Other Insurgents Has an Important Committee

Ranking places on minor bodies of the house, but they are to retain these positions.

Majority Party Will Not Deal with Insurgents

Insurgents postponed today until Monday session with some leaders determined to reach their decision on the matter.

At its conference today the Wisconsin delegation decided to issue formal statement tomorrow indicating that its members intended to act as a unit Monday.

Conference Is Brief

The extreme Republican conference was extremely brief.

Republicans also failed to take up the question of the legality of the appointment of Gerald P.

as a senator from North Dakota.

Both the Republican and Democratic committees assigned to the Senate Democrats will meet Monday before the session opens to discuss the nomination of La Follette.

Longworth Is Speaker

Both the Republican and Democratic committees assigned to the Senate Democrats will meet Monday before the session opens to discuss the nomination of La Follette.

DANA ACTION AROUSES WRATH OF DEMOCRATS

SMITH AND MORROW BITTER ON RECOMMENDATION

Central Committee of State Ignored, is Complaint of Leaders of Party

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 5.—(Special to the Register)—Democratic leaders—several of them—are waiting today and protesting vigorously against the possible appointment of Marshall N. Dana to succeed Bert E. Haney, as a member of the United States shipping board.

It has been many months since these Democratic leaders have been so wrought up, so rampant, so bitter at the world. Today they told their troubles in political circles to anyone who would lend a patient ear.

To say that these gentlemen are angry over the naming of Mr. Dana had all the earmarks of their losing a choice piece of patronage.

Fury Is Aroused

Haney has no fury like a woman scorned—unless it be a scorned Democrat, and this is being exemplified by the loud and raucous cry emitted by such outstanding Democrats as Dr. C. J. Smith, state chairman, and Dr. J. W. Morrow, erstwhile national committee man for Oregon, and a few others.

They are on the rampage; they are hostile and they are out to prevent Mr. Dana's appointment by President Coolidge, if they can do so, although there is no certainty that the appointment will come to Oregon.

The "organization"—meaning Dr. Smith, Morrow, et al.—has been ignored, as they express it, but by organization they also mean the Democratic state central committee. They claim that they were not consulted as to whether they wanted Mr. Dana or whether they preferred some one else.

The law provides that the shipping board will be composed of Democrats and Republicans. Appointments have been made with men of opposite parties. No Democratic group in Portland looks on the shipping board place as a piece of political patronage. Such is their viewpoint.

After much deliberation, the chamber of commerce recommended Mr. Dana, Democrat, and Frank Shull, Republican, for President Coolidge to appoint.

Dr. Smith has never been an applicant for the appointment, but nevertheless he was a candidate. His friend Dr. Morrow did the missionary work in behalf of Dr. Smith and, among others, went to Ralph E. McNary, state executive committee man, and asked Mr. Williams to give a boost to Dr. Smith.

One of the contentions of Drs. Smith and Morrow is that Mr. Dana is not their kind of Democrat. He has not fussed around with the Jackson club. He was even charged with having registered as an independent. Mr. Dana is registered in Clackamas county.

Indian Sent to Hospital

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Dec. 5.—Perry John, Klamath Indian, will be taken today to the state hospital at Salem in compliance with the verdict of a circuit judge yesterday, following his trial on an indictment charging him with a criminal assault on a small child.

The jurors held John to be not guilty by reason of insanity, and directed that he be sent to the state institution.

DAVIDSON SHOWS RESISTANCE

Of the three accused in the turnkey's office, Davidson alone showed resistance. The report reads: "Guard White left the room immediately upon the entrance of Murray, and Nesmith, the turnkey, in a brief time—at least one minute—the three officers were in the room with one convict—Murray—who showed no show of resistance."

TAMMANY CLUB ASKS ADOPTION OF PLATFORM

OTHER ORGANIZATIONS WILL MAKE CHOICES KNOWN

Both Brys and Was Preparing to Take Active Part in Next Election in Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 5.—(Special to the Register)—A convention to recommend nominations in the Democratic primaries and the adoption of a platform is the plan which Tammany Club Inc., is proposing for next spring.

A somewhat similar idea is germinating with the Oregon prohibition referendum corporation and the anti-saloon league intends to endorse a list of candidates in the Republican primaries. One thing is certain is that no candidate in the Republican primaries will have backing of both the anti-saloon league and the Oregon prohibition referendum corporation, for one is dry and the other is wet.

Tammany Club Inc., has a charter membership of about 65 men who are Democrats through and through, but so far as can be ascertained each of the 65 is "old" Governor Pierce and the governor's head of democracy.

Not being the official Democratic organization, Tammany cannot hold a Democratic convention, but there is nothing in the law to prohibit the club from holding a convention and recommending to the Democratic voters a list of men to be voted for in the primaries. This is exactly what is intended, unless the future causes a change in the program. It is also the intention to prepare a Democratic platform.

The anti-saloon league is already carefully picking out the men to whom it will throw its support in the coming Republican primaries. Instead of being friendly to two or more aspirants for the same nomination the league will combine its strength and give it to one of the contestants, thereby becoming a real and active force and influence in the race for that particular nomination.

It appears as though this support will go to Frederick Steiwer for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

LEGION PLANS DRIVE

12,000 MEMBERS GOAL FOR COMING YEAR

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 5.—Twelve thousand members in Oregon will be the goal of the American Legion during the coming year, according to a decision reached at a meeting of the legion executive committee here today.

It was decided to put on a membership campaign in the state immediately after January 1. With that in view a state-wide organization is to be formed with metropolitan chairmen in each county. The legion has 9266 members in the state at present.

A report of the recent American Legion endorsement and Doernbecher hospital drive in the state showed that a total of $72,498.00 had been raised. Of this amount, $32,312.39 went to the Doernbecher hospital and $40,185.61 to the legion endorsement fund.

Action was taken naming a permanent trophy awards committee. This committee will have charge of making rules and regulations governing legion drum corps and other contents in the state and the naming of judges for such contests.

The following men were named on that committee: George R. Wilbur of Hood River, chairman; George Cernek of Albany, Charles Reynolds of Silverton and Dewitt Harry of Portland. Alternates are Dr. Howard Hoekins of Albany and Arlie G. Walker of Sheridan.

SAHARA REVEALS OLD CIVILIZATION

Legendary Tin-Hanan Tomb Found By Expedition Into Africa

TRADE ROUTE LOCATED

Hoggar Country Explored By Carthaginians

LIBYAN VENUS VISITED

Resting Place of Ancestress of Tuareg Line of Kings Placed on High Volcanic Rock Overlooking Desert

(By The Associated Press) PARIS, Dec. 5.—An account of the method used in proving existence of an advanced ancient civilization where desert wastes now sweep over the great ranges of the south central Sahara and of the discovery of a "legendary tomb" that is not a legend any more, was brought to Paris today by the Count De Prorok and Bradley Tyrrell, a trustee of Beloit (Wisconsin) college, who said their discoveries in the Hoggar country, which some antiquarians have regarded as the "lost Atlantis" of the ancient world, had fully repaid the cost of the expedition.

The primary object of the expedition—establishment of the fact that in ancient times there were Sahara trade routes between Carthage and the great civilization then existing in the Hoggar country—was achieved. The unburied count said today. "The tomb of Tin-Hanan (the discovery of which was announced November 29, 1913) believes, the greatest archaeological treasure Africa has ever produced. The statue of the Libyan Venus we found there alone would more than pay the entire cost of the expedition."

Structure Is Circular

"Tin-Hanan's tomb stands on a high volcanic rock overlooking the desert. It is built in a circular shape with rectangular blocks covered with Libyo-Berber inscriptions. These have been turned over to the French government. The vice-president of the French Institute, Tombs of 15 nobles, or amirats, surrounded the base of the tomb.

"Tin-Hanan was the ancestress of the Tuareg line of kings, the rule was that of a matriarchy, that is, the succession descended through the female side. Legend appears to link her with the great goddess of the Carthaginians, Tanit, and with Athena of the Greeks. The tomb resembled the so-called 'Christian's tomb' at Algiers, but is better preserved.

"We began digging half way between the base and the top, and into the heart of the structure, and then downward until we struck a passage leading into an open chamber filled with dried dates, wheat and food stored for ages.

"French soldiers now are guarding the tomb which the French government has declared a national monument.

"Carthage and Africa were not the first states to exploit the Sahara country. We found all along the way neolithic stations, marked by heaps of black stones and spears; the Carthaginians, Tanit, are cutting that still more ancient trade routes had passed that way. These (tomb) were the handiwork of man at the dawn of history and might be ten thousand years old.

"The expedition packed up 45 cases of these treasures. Count De Prorok said, and 'presented them to the governor general of Algeria.'"

Statuette Very Old

The Libyan Venus, to which Count De Prorok referred, was a small stone statuette of great antiquity, found near the tomb of Tin-Hanan. Count De Prorok said it may date from nearly 100,000 B. C. The treasures found in the tomb in which a skeleton was discovered, included "a golden diadem dotted with stars, five necklaces of precious stones, 15 bracelets, nine of them gold and nine silver; furnishings of delicately carved wood; a complete set of ivory articles, a little mound of precious stones."

"The expedition packed up 45 cases of these treasures. Count De Prorok said, and 'presented them to the governor general of Algeria.'"

More Time Given

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 5.—An extension of 15 days has been granted by the interstate commerce commission for the filing of briefs in the Klamath Falls railroad case. Ben C. Day, attorney for the Southern Pacific, said the briefs would be filed with the interstate commerce commission December 15. The date originally set was December 1.

MRS. RHINELANDER NOW WILL ASK FOR DIVORCE

JURY DECIDES AGAINST SUIT BROUGHT BY KIP

Davis Says Couple Can Never Live Together Because of "Bosminching"

(By The Associated Press) WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Dec. 5.—Leonard Kip Rhinelander, member of a socially prominent family who today filed suit for annulment of his marriage to Alice F. Jones, former mulatto housemaid, now faces a suit for separation by Mrs. Rhinelander.

Announcement that summons and complaints in this suit have been issued was made by Mrs. Rhinelander's counsel, Lee Parsons Davis, after the jury in the annulment case had returned a verdict favorable to Mrs. Rhinelander. The papers include a request for alimony and counsel fees, but Davis did not reveal the amount asked.

Isaac N. Killa, chief counsel for Rhinelander, announced he would appeal today's verdict.

Although the jury was empowered to pass upon the granting of an annulment, it was asked to answer seven questions propounded to it which will serve as a basis for the decision of Justice Morchauer.

Davis had said in court during the trial that Mrs. Rhinelander and her husband never could live together again because of the way they "bosminched each other" during the trial.

STORM CATCHES STAGE DRIVER AND PASSENGERS SUFFER FROM COLD

(By The Associated Press) DENVER, Colo., Dec. 5.—Trapped in a blinding snowstorm on the summit of Berthoud Pass, about 60 miles west of Denver, with the mercury hovering near zero, Dennis Tilden, a stage driver operating between Denver and Steamboat Springs and his six passengers, among them two women, were compelled to spend last night in a crude board shack until today when a rescue party from West Fork reached them.

The rescue party traveled with a team of mules. The horses were able to drag the automobile stage over the summit of the pass and down to Empire and safety.

Frankie efforts by Tilden and four male passengers had enabled the party to travel 11 miles through the great drifts of snow from 8:30 o'clock Friday morning until 7:30 that night, if miles of huffing the heavy snow banks with shovels, while the two women sat in the car fighting to stave off freezing to death.

DWYER EVIDENCE READY

GRAND JURY WILL HEAR CHARGES OF BRIBERY

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Evidence to be called in a special grand jury Monday in an effort to smash the so-called Dwyer (liquor, syndicate of bribery and corruption in coast guard and prohibition forces was compiled by District Attorney Buckley and the assistant, Mr. Buckley, said.

"We intend to follow the evidence which comes into our possession no matter where it leads. Where persons in the employ of the government are implicated there will be no quiet resignations under the expedient of silence. It is appropriate to clean house and dust the furniture before getting ready to entertain the bootleggers. With this policy both General Andrews and Major Green (assistant to General Andrews) are in thorough and determined accord."

PRISONERS WILL WORK

J. W. LILLIE TAKES PLACE AT PENITENTIARY

(By The Associated Press) SALEM, Ore., Dec. 5.—A. M. Dalrymple who today handed in his resignation as warden of the Oregon state penitentiary and who will be succeeded by J. W. Lillie, deputy warden under Dalrymple, has as yet decided on no plans for the future, he said this evening. He indicated, however, that he will return to Salem, Ore., where he was appointed on October 8, 1924, to succeed Johnson Smith of Portland.

Warden Lillie refused to make any statement this evening with reference to the policy that will be adopted at the penitentiary other than to say that with the exception of prisoners receiving treatment in the penitentiary hospital, all would be out to work at productive employment.

THIEVES BLOW SAFE

NO MONEY SECURED IN ATTEMPTED ROBBERY

MEDFORD, Ore., Dec. 5.—About midnight last night the safe in the American Express company office, only a few steps from the Southern Pacific passenger depot was blown by explosives, but no money was secured as the charge blew off the outer door and jammed the inner door, so access to the cash was impossible.

The explosion was heard over the entire business district, but when the police arrived no one was in sight. Ten suspects have been arrested, the only direct clue being a suitcase filled with dynamite and revolvers, found at the door of the express office, apparently where it had been dropped when the yeggs ran.

When Yetts Ran

(By The Associated Press) SALEM, Ore., Dec. 5.—Alfred Ahlman, a convict violently insane was taken from the state prison in Eugene today and turned over to federal authorities. He will be deported to Sweden. Ahlman was granted a conditional pardon by the Oregon State Penitentiary. He was sentenced to serve three years in the prison for threatening the life of Governor H. H. Hays, who was received March 8, 1923 from Tillamook county.

OFFICERS NAMED BY STUDENT DELEGATES

Conference at University, Given for Preparatory Schools, Closes

LIFE WORK DISCUSSED

Faculty Division Becomes Added Department

SOCIAL VALUE STRESSED

Sufficient Technical Knowledge to Earn Living Most Easily Obtained by Education, Group Is Told

The eighth annual state high school conference yesterday afternoon ended with the installation of officers in the joint sessions of the three main groups in the music building on the university campus. Five hundred delegates take back with them to high schools in every section of the state the results of the two day program of conferences, discussions, banquets and addresses and a higher meaning of education as demonstrated at the University of Oregon.

Washington high school of Portland, through the most coincidental, carried off the district sweepstakes in the final day's session of the conference Saturday.

Meeting in three separate divisions, the high school press association, the association of accountancy officers, and the association of girls' leagues, the delegates chose four presidents of next year's conference, Robert Thomas, of the student body officers, Edward Von der Pree, of the press association and Elizabeth Criswell, of the girls' leagues group. All are from Washington high school of Portland.

Other Officers Chosen

Other officers of the student body officers' association are Calvin Bryan, Grants Pass, vice-president; Mary Donnelly, McMinville, secretary and Frank Lombard, Springfield, treasurer. In the editorial new list of officers besides the president there are Bruce Davis, Union, Oregon, vice-president and Frances McElroy, Franklin high school of Portland, secretary. The girls' league officers are Virginia Jones, Astoria, and Virginia Jones, Astoria, were chosen vice-president and secretary respectively of the association of girls' leagues.

Addressed by Eugene Chadwick, secretary of the Eugene chamber of commerce, Bruce Giffen, university doctor, Rex Putnam, Norman Thomas, Dr. Henry D. Shelton, dean of the University of Oregon, and Dr. E. C. Robbins, dean of the school of business administration, were the features of the final morning's sessions of the student body officers' league.

Life and the commonwealth were the subjects discussed at length by the speakers. Round table discussion on individual problems followed the addresses.

In the editors and managers' sessions, Dean Eric W. Allen, of the school of journalism, George W. Russell, journalism professor, and Robert W. Taylor, dean of the school of journalism and director of the university press, led discussions on high school publication problems in the round table groups of the morning. The girls' league was addressed by Elizabeth Cady, editor of the 1926 Oregonian, Harold Readman, of the Klog-Chatman Engraving company, Jeannette Calkins, editor of the Oregonian, and Frank Logan, business manager of the Oregon Daily Emerald. Each took up a separate phase of the work and discussed it thoroughly with the delegates.

A new department of the conference, the faculty division, proved its right to permanence Saturday morning when approximately 100 of the faculty members, including the delegates considered problems in a separate session under the direction of Professor F. L. Steison of the school of education.

Dean Brown Speaks

Dean Marian A. Brown, University high school, Oakland, Cal., was the principal speaker at the session and talked on the topic "Teaching Through the Social Program." Virginia Judy Eately, dean of women of the university, Dr. H. Walker, dean of men, Audrey Jensen, student in the fine arts department, and J. C. Bain, superintendent of public schools, Springfield, also addressed the delegates.

A stiff show and a demonstration of athletics by the women's athletic association and the department of physical education for women featured the program for the girls' league.

The final session of the conference was held in joint meeting of all the groups in the music building. Preceding the installation of the newly elected officers, Rex Underwood, professor of violin in the school of music, gave a recital of several numbers. Walter Malcolm, president of the associated students, presided at the final meeting and the installation of officers following which a picture of the assembled delegates was taken. With the fall of President Malcolm's gavel, as the smoke from the camera man's flash light school, finished the conference, the most successful ever held, was adjourned.

Dean Robbins, of the school of business administration, in the final address, endeavored to smooth out the bumps encountered by the student after graduation and explained the relationship of the student to the commonwealth.

The first requirement, he stated, is that the student shall have sufficient technical knowledge to enable him to earn a livelihood. The days are past, said the dean, when the high school graduate could depend on his education and one's parents for support.
