Moran yesterday through the co-operation of the public it is expected that mail will be dispatched and delivered on time, he said, but this should be done unless the public is careful to observe all mailing regulations.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE PROGRESSES VERY WELL

Lane County People Make Hearty Response

RECEIPTS ARE $40 DAILY

First Voluntary Contribution Sent In By Mrs. P. L. Campbell Who Buys $5 Worth

The sale of Christmas seals in Lane county is progressing splendidly, according to Mrs. P. L. Campbell, chairman of the seal sale, who reports that average receipts since the sale began have been about $40 per day.

The first voluntary purchase of the campaign was made by Mrs. Campbell, who bought $5 worth immediately after the sale opened. The first mail subscriptions received were from F. L. Arncliffe and the Red Cross drug store, District No. 127 made the first return of money from the sale, and Union High School No. 7 of Thurston was the first rural school to ask for more seals.

Kappa Omicron was the first sorority to respond and was also the first to reach its quota of 10 cents per capita. Alpha Phi was the second sorority to respond, and was a close second for per capita response. Sigma Nu, Kappa Sigma and Lambda Psi were the first fraternities to respond.

Outside Reports Encouraging

Reports from the sale of Christmas seals over the state are extremely encouraging and indicate a record sale this year. Mrs. Georgia Lowe, chairman at Falls City, nearly tripled last year's record and sold all the seals sent her in one day.

"We are going to sell some seals down here," says J. T. Morrison, president of the Coos county public health association, and he has asked for $750 worth of seals in addition to a $1500 supply already received.

The Klamath county chairman, Mrs. G. A. Bellman, sent for $300 worth of additional seals and Hood River county's chairman, Mrs. Charles Miller, had to have $200 worth of extra seals in order to meet a growing demand.

Miss Corinne Pennington of Toledo, in Lincoln county, has re-ordered $150 worth of seals on top of an original $100 supply. Miss Emma Kotan, district 124, near Halsey, Linn county, asks for 350 more seals—200 sold.

Reorders are coming in from all over the state, indicating that quotas are generally being oversold.
