The Boatman's Pledge

An Indiana barage tender sauntered into the market place at New Orleans one sunny afternoon directly after having sold his cargo of supplies from "up north." He was staggered at the sight he saw, for before him were human beings being sold at auction.

"If I ever get a chance to hit that thing, I'll hit it hard, by the eternal God!" he vowed.

Thirty years later this gaunt, rangy boatman died at the hands of assassins because he had literally "hit that thing hard." And today Lincoln's name is spoken with reverence the world over. Living for a principle, working for a principle, dying for a principle, he has set a high standard to be attained. We attempt to follow his lead, in our little way, in the field of assisting business.

LILLARD GETS DECISION OVER O. BOBBY CLARKE

Four Knockdowns Credited to Eugene Man

WINNER LACKS SPEED

Lighter Man Is on Offense in Latter Part of Fight But Takes Punishment

With four knockdowns to his credit and ten pounds of weight advantage, Mack Lillard of Eugene won a clean cut decision over O. Bobby Clarke, of San Francisco in the ten round main event bout at the Winter Garden last night before the largest crowd which Promoter M. A. Gallows has registered this year. This was the third of the semi-monthly ring cards this fall and was filled with good mixing from preliminary to main bout. Mack Lillard weighed in at 132 pounds and seemed to have retrograded from his old knockout speed. He was slow and floated in the ring most of the time. Bobby Clarke weighed 122 pounds and after the opening rounds carried the fight to Lillard's corner socking him time after time.

In the last part of the bout Lillard failed to show any speed and was on the defensive against his lighter opponent's rushes.

First Knockdown Early
The first knockdown of the bout came in the opening round when Lillard battered Clarke into his corner and landed a hard right jab on Clarke's jaw. He took the count of six but the bell saved him from further punishment.

Lillard got the best of the clinches in the second round. They clinched often. Lillard was landing some good blows when the round ended.

The third round found Clarke again on the canvas for a low blow of Lillard's. The referee helped him to his feet. Lillard bored in for the rest of the round doing some damaging work with his right in the clinches.

Clarke Is Groggy
In the fourth round Lillard knocked the southerner down for a count of two in the first part of the round. Clarke was groggy and covered for the remainder taking punishment in the clinches. He went to his corner decidedly bested.

The fifth round saw a reversal of the fight. Clarke came up with a burst of speed and pounded Lillard into the ropes. He had his heavier opponent groggy and hanging over the ropes. The round went to Clarke.

The dash of the fight came in the sixth when Clarke rushed Lillard in his own corner and carried the fight to close quarters. He forced the fighting and had the Eugene boxer bewildered and knocked into the ropes. The round was Clarke's.

Clarke ran into a straight jab of Lillard's in the seventh and went down for the count of three. Lillard hit him while he was on his knee and was booted and catted by the audience. The round was Lillard's.

Clarke Brings Blood
The eighth, ninth and tenth rounds found heavy Lillard standing in the center of the ring with Clarke jabbing him time after time. A fight to the nose brought blood on Lillard's face. He failed to land a clean blow on Clarke in the eighth and ninth. Clarke sidestepped his rushes and landed hard jabs in his face and abdomen.

In the tenth the Eugene boy tried desperately for a knockout but failed to land. The fight ended with both boring in with speed.

The semi-windup of six rounds went on decision to George Dixon, 144 pounds, of Portland, over Joe Blackwell, 147 pounds of Eugene. The Eugene boy was completely outclassed by his clever colored opponent who crouched, weaved and outboxed him in every department of the game.

Special Event Draw
In the special event, Harold Reese, 125 pounds of Portland, substituted for Solly Burns of Seattle the scheduled fighter, and boxed Harold Davis, 133 pounds of Eugene to a clean draw. The first round was even with both men sparring for an opening. The second was Reese's for he bored in on his opponent and landed several telling blows, drawing blood from Davis' ear. The third went to Davis when he battered the colored boy into the ropes and punched him to grogginess. The last round was even.

In the four-round preliminary, Ray Jacobs, 123 pounds, of Eugene, bettered his opponent, Kid Fuller, 133 pounds of Eugene, and won by a shady knockout in the second round. He outclassed Fuller completely.

BEAR CHASE SCHEDULED FOR SUNDAY MORNING

Next Sunday in the vicinity of the Coyote bridge on the Elmita highway, 10 miles west of Eugene, there will be a made-to-order bear hunt, and this will be a good chance for Eugene bear dog owners to give their animals a little training, according to R. R. Gibson, farmer, who lives in that locality.

Mr. Gibson has in captivity on his place a year-old bear which he recently bought from a man in the Lake creek valley. It will be turned loose at the bridge Sunday at 10 a. m. and will be allowed to run a distance before the dogs are let loose on its trail. The animal will be shot after the dogs have had plenty of practice trailing the bear, said Mr. Gibson. Care will be taken to see that it is not tortured or injured. It is expected to climb a tree when the dogs are close upon its heels.

Mr. Gibson says the bear is quite vicious at times and if cornered by the dogs will put up a bad fight, but it is quite likely that it will seek safety in a tree when closely pressed, he said.

MAPLETON HAS SCOUTING ORGANIZATION OF NEW TROOP IS ANNOUNCED

Organization of a new troop of Lane county Boy Scouts at Mapleton, to be known as Mapleton troop No. 1, was announced yesterday through local executives of the council.

The troop is the outgrowth of results obtained at the summer encampment held near Mapleton earlier this year, and at which three of the boys of the community were given their first training.

Scoutmaster Charles Welch has been given charge of the troop and is being assisted by Assistant Scoutmaster Roscoe Plowman. The troop committee consists of E. S. Kirby, chairman; L. J. Plowman and F. B. Huntington.

The roster of the troop follows: Virgil Austin, Levi Carpenter, Lester Carpenter, Ray Foster, Lloyd Hendrickson, Fred Huntington, Melvin Jensen, Donald Johnson, Forest Kirby, Horace Neely, Rosalind Swagart and Earl Whitaker. The boys who were in the Lane county camp last summer were Fred Huntington, Roscoe Plowman and Ray Foss.

GREATEST HOOP COACH IN 1926 SUMMER SESSION

Dr. Walter E. Meanwell Will Conduct Classes

HAS WONDERFUL RECORD

Outstanding Basketball Mentor's
Record at Wisconsin Considered
Marvel of Modern Athletics

The engagement of Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, head basketball coach at the University of Wisconsin and called the "miracle man of basketball," to conduct a coaching school at the university in the summer session of 1926, will mark a distinct advance in athletic progress in the west, according to announcement by Fred L. Stetson, director of the summer session.

Meanwell is regarded as the outstanding basketball coach in America. His record at Wisconsin is considered one of the marvels of modern athletics. His teams have won 165 games and lost only 23; placed first eight times and were never below third in their conferences in 11 seasons. Thirty-two members of all-star teams out of a total of 65 in 13 seasons have been from Meanwell's teams.

A two weeks school, consisting of intensive courses for high school and college basketball coaches, will be conducted by Meanwell. The basketball wizard has been giving coaching courses with Kenzie Rockney at Notre Dame and Wisconsin, in which more than 850 coaches have attended.

Dr. Meanwell is the originator of the pivot and short pass, five-man defense style of play, which in its variations is the basis for most of modern basketball. Meanwell methods and technique have been spread by the several thousand coaches who have attended his various summer courses since 1912. Some of his ex-pupils now recognized in their work are: Olson of Ohio State university; Ruby, of University of Illinois; Williams, formerly of University of Indiana and now of Wisconsin; Bond, University of Missouri; Chandler of Iowa State; Tebell of North Carolina. The annual coaching school basketball course will last only two weeks. Meanwell will spend four or five hours each day with the class, according to Heinhardt, who added that most coaches of the maple floor game had been schooled under Meanwell than any other mentor.

USE OF RESIN FAVORED BY NATIONAL LEAGUE

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The National league went on record at its annual meeting today favoring modification in the playing rules to permit the use of resin by pitchers.

Improvement of the game in general and curtailment in the quantity of balls used throughout the circuit in particular were the motives of the magnates who sat through a session of more than four hours without taking definite action on many problems. They will further discuss the unsettled questions tomorrow.

A report from President Heydler showing that 3847 dozen balls were used in the league last year preceded consideration of the playing rules. Mr. Heydler pointed out that this total was 245 dozen more than were used the season before, and 1221 dozen more than were put into play in 1920.

The league's position with regard to the use of a foreign substance on the ball under ban for several seasons, he declared, would be placed before the joint rules committee of the major and minor leagues. Commissioner Landis has been requested to call a meeting of the rules body in February.

"We recommend," Mr. Heydler explained, "that the resin be used under the direction of the umpire. It will make for better games and cut down the rapidly mounting total of balls we are being required to use. We have come to the conclusion that failure of the pitchers to get a fair grip is the root of our troubles."

The recommendation of President Barney Dreyfuss of Pittsburgh, that games called prior to the fifth inning on account of rain be played out from the point at which they were stopped, received favorable consideration but no action was taken.

Resolutions of tribute to the late Christy Mathewson, former pitcher of the Giants and later president of the Boston Braves, were adopted.

BIG WRESTLING CARD IS ON AT HEILIG TONIGHT

"Eugene will have one of the best wrestling cards ever put on in the state!" This was the enthusiastic statement of Virgil Hamlin, Portland promoter, who was talking to Bill Dodelle, local promoter, over the telephone last night. Quite a contingent of fans are coming down from Portland to see the matchman, says Hamlin, and other valley towns will be well represented.

Interest in the match tonight at the Heilig, when a double mat bill will be held, is heightened by the announcement that Bill Montana, a grappling movie star, will challenge the winner of the Ralph Hand-Frank Burns match. Montana is to wrestle Jack Woods, Coos Bay, Oregon giant, Friday at Marshfield, and expects to throw him with little difficulty.

Frank Burns, nephew of the famous Farmer Burns, arrived in Eugene last night, and will take a light work-out here today. He is ready for Hand, he declares, and although he expects a hard meet, he believes he will go back to Portland entitled to another go with Ted Tyson, his conqueror. Robin Reed, O. A. C. champion, will drive over from Corvallis with several of his student followers. Reed is wrestling coach there, and is bringing most of his team along with him in action. Ed Brown, his fast and snappy opponent, is
