

HAND TAKES TWO FALLS FROM BURNS AT HEILIG

Reed Wins From Ted Brown on Straight Downs

GOOD TECHNIQUE SEEN

O. A. C. Man Gets Second Finishing Hold Only Three Minutes Before Time Limit

In the first bout of the double main event at the Heilig theatre last night, Ralph Hand of Eugene won two straight falls from Frank Burns, Flint, Michigan. In the heavyweight match, Robin Reed in 57 minutes of clever matwork won with two straight falls from Ted Brown of Chicago in the second main match of the evening. Over seven hundred fans witnessed the matches.

The feature bout of the evening was the polished exhibition of wrestling technique rendered by the two welterweights of the program, Robin Reed and Ted Brown. Evenly matched for the biggest part of the bout, they relied on speed and cleverness. It was doubtful who the winner was to be from the opening to the end.

Arm Scissors Used
An arm scissors clamped on Brown time after time in the last 20 minutes of the bout by Robin Reed of Corvallis, world's amateur lightweight champion, baffled the wrestler from Chicago and accounted for his defeat.

The first fall came when they had been on the mat 40 minutes, after Reed had clamped his punishing arm scissors on Brown four times in a row. Brown was unable to squirm free from the hold for as soon as he got out of one he found himself in another.

The first 40 minutes were fast and clever work, was shown by both. The galaxy of wrestling holds were run to the limit. Robin Reed drew on his entire bag of tricks to have them foiled for the most part by the experienced Brown. Both men took great punishment from the painful toe holds they used repeatedly. The end came in the last part when Reed concentrated on his punishing arm scissors and patiently stretched the loser out for a fall.

Concentrated Work Starts
Reed's second fall came in 17 minutes, just three minutes before the scheduled end of the bout which was slated for two falls out of three or a decision in 60 minutes. Reed began the concentrated work on Brown and the toe holds began working for both. In the last five minutes of the second round Reed clamped reverse headlock after headlock on Brown and wore him around where he fell into the arm scissors again. Brown managed to evade three or four but the work was too much and the referee tapped Reed's back for the winner. Both men weighed 143 pounds. The winner of the bout was challenged by Harry W. Neel of Cottage Grove and "Wild Cat" Pete from Reedsport.

Ralph Hand, 173 pounds, of Eugene, in the first bout of the double main event outclassed Frank Burns 175 pounds from Flint, Michigan. The old veteran of the mat used every bit of his repertoire of tricks to land his more agile opponent but his experience went for naught when the husky Eugenean began working. Burns was obviously out of condition and appeared fat beside Hand. They wrestled for the best two falls out of three or a decision in an hour and a half.

Hand Shows Speed
Hand began to show some flashes of real speed after about 20 minutes had passed and started to work on Burns with a little more cleverness. Hand clamped two racking toe holds on Burns which set him groaning on the mat but he got out of them and Hand's speed alone saved him from a couple of headlocks put on by Burns which almost proved his defeat.

The fall came after 37 minutes when Burns fell into an arm scissors and lost the fall. Burns was slow and had difficulty in evading Hand's hold after he got warmed up.

Burns Appears Dazed
The second fall came with only three minutes of wrestling. They went to the mat with Burns underneath where Hand worked him into a punishing body scissors and arm bar. Burns never got off the mat and appeared dazed after the first rough fall to the canvas. He took a lot of punishment from Hand's body scissors with which the Eugenean put his shoulders to the canvas.

Harry W. Neel, professional of Cottage Grove, refereed both bouts. Robin Reed and Henry Jones will not meet until the night of January 1, 1926, at Albany. It was announced last night following the bouts here. Many of the local fans had been given to understand that the Reed-Jones match would be held December 11.

CLOSING DATE PROBLEM NATIONAL LEAGUE FAILS TO AGREE ON CHANGE

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Failure of the National League to agree today on a tentative schedule which would assure closing the season prior to October 3, one week later than the date in the American, contributes a new problem for discussion at the joint meeting of the two circuits tomorrow.

Although President John A. Heydler held out hope that they might find it possible to complete the schedule on September 29, he said that geographical and anti-Sunday baseball conditions faced by the older circuit pointed strongly to an October closing date.

LILLARD WEIGHED 122

Lillard weighed just 122, according to those who saw him on the scales. It was stated that Clarke arrived too late to weigh in and his exact weight was not known.

The Boatman's Pledge

An Indiana barge tender sauntered into the market place at New Orleans one sunny afternoon directly after having sold his cargo of supplies from "up north." He was staggered at the sight he saw, for before him were human beings being sold at auction.

"If I ever get a chance to hit that thing, I'll hit it hard, by the eternal God!" he vowed.

Thirty years later this gaunt, rangy boatman died at the hands of assassins because he had literally "hit that thing hard." And today Lincoln's name is spoken with reverence the world over. Living for a principle, working for a principle, dying for a principle, he has set a high standard to be attained. We attempt to follow his lead, in our little way, in the field of assisting business.

BAN JOHNSON IS VOTED LARGE SALARY INCREASE

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Ban Johnson, who a year ago was stripped of much of his power as president of the American league for attacking the rule of Commissioner Landis, has staged a "modern return from Elba."

This seemed apparent to baseball observers tonight after the same American League club owners who a year ago disciplined their chief, voted to add five years to Johnson's term of office, extended his contract from 1920 to 1925, and gave him an increase of $10,000 in salary, which boosts his annual figure to $40,000. Johnson's old contract, under which he received $30,000 a year, was torn up by the magnates, who approved by unanimous vote a new one embodying the additional term-in office and increased salary. A year ago at Chicago representatives of seven of the eight leagues voted to discipline their president, only Philip Hall of St. Louis supporting him.

While there was no evidence that this unexpected expression of confidence in Johnson itself marked a return to the belligerent condition of major league affairs, fuel for controversy was provided when the American League owners took issue today with the action of the National League men yesterday in approving the use of resign by pitchers and favoring the playing of inter-sectional games on holidays.

American Leaguers frowned on both ideas, opposing any modification of the present pitchers' rule and expressing their opinion that the present plan of sectional opponents meeting on holiday dates is satisfactory.

The American League took another important step when it voted to close its 1926 season September 25, a week earlier than this year.

BEST PITCHERS NAMED

COVELESKIE AND PENNOCK HONORED BY LEAGUE

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 9.—Stanley Coveleskie of the Washington Senators, and Herb Pennock of the Yankees were the most effective pitchers in the American league in the 1925 season, it was announced today.

Official averages recently published gave the New York southpaw the honor, but a check won for Coveleskie.

Corrected figures give Pennock an earned run per game percentage of 2.55 plus, while the Washington star allowed but 2.84 earned runs per game.

Earnings of more than a half million dollars were made by 1,442 students of Boston University last year. This was made possible through the activities of placement bureaus of the university.
