

E. E. CHADWICK RETURNS

SECRETARY OF CHAMBER ATTENDS SEATTLE MEETING

Questions of National Importance Discussed; Western School for Secretaries to Be Established

Many questions of importance were discussed at the meeting of the western division of the United States chamber of commerce at Seattle, according to E. Eugene Chadwick, secretary of the Eugene chamber, who arrived home last night from the meeting.

Mr. Chadwick was accompanied to Seattle by W. A. Reed, secretary of the Corvallis chamber, I. Amies, secretary at Roseburg, and Frank Mendenhall, secretary of the Cottage Grove chamber.

John O'Leary, president of the United States chamber, was present and naturally was the principal speaker, said Mr. Chadwick. He attended the two days' sessions of the national chamber and spoke at the secretaries' sessions during the two days afterward.

Mr. O'Leary stressed the importance of getting behind this movement for a United States merchant marine, said Mr. Chadwick. He is quoted as saying that the indifference of the general public is responsible for the failure to establish a merchant marine adequate to care for the nation's shipping.

PUPILS GIVE PROGRAM

SECOND GRADERS AT PATTERSON WIN HONORS

Thirty Mothers Attend Parent-Teacher Association Meeting; Reports Are Given

Second grade pupils of the Patterson school, with the assistance of their mothers, carried off honors at a meeting of the Patterson school Parent-Teacher association held yesterday.

The second grade won first prize for having the most mothers in attendance at the meeting. There were 30 present, it was reported by Mrs. Rose Stacks, principal of the school.

In addition, the second grade pupils provided the entertainment, with folk dances and songs. Miss Vergie M. Crow, teacher of the 11 western states it was decided to establish a branch at Stanford. This will not interfere in any way with the annual school at the summer session of the University of Oregon, said Mr. Chadwick.

The ladies' aid society of the First Christian church will hold a bazaar and cooked food sale, Saturday, December 12, at Danner-Robertson's, 77 East 9th.

CLERKS TO MEET HERE

RAILROAD MEN ON DIVISION IN CITY SOON

Approximately 50 members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks of the Portland-Ashland division of the Southern Pacific railway, will be in Eugene with their families Saturday night for a social gathering.

The entertainment will be given at Stang's dance pavilion, 90 Ninth avenue east. Following this program there will be a banquet in the Osburn hotel at noon Sunday and a business meeting afterward.

Plans for the event were announced yesterday by H. N. Davenport, secretary of the association.

Members of the P. T. A. at the close of the meeting voted to extend the sympathy of the entire membership to Mrs. J. C. Knight, at the loss of her baby girl.

Mrs. Stacks also reported that the sale of Christmas seals had netted $70.17.

In the measurement of children to find those undernourished, 20 of the children were given red cards denoting danger because of being more than 25 per cent underweight. Sixty-eight were given blue cards which also indicates underweight. The cards are to be given to parents warning them of the conditions.

Report of the central council meeting was read by Mrs. Crosby Dalton.

Plans for the Christmas cantata to be given Tuesday, December 22, were discussed by the members of the association. The cantata will be given in the afternoon.

Wending school officials are seriously considering the problem of supplying Bibles in the schools that districts and pamphlets giving suggestions for Bible study have been forwarded by Mr. Elkins at the request of the Wending officials.

From southern California, also has come a request for information. An article in the Christian Science Monitor in which Mr. Elkins was mentioned, aroused the interest of a group of people in a small town in the south and they have asked for guidance, stating that they seriously considered the supplying of Bibles in their schools.

More than 100 Bibles ordered for the Eugene public schools, and for which local churches subscribed the purchase price, have been shipped from New York and should arrive here any day, it was reported yesterday.

SCHOOL PICTURES HERE

CHRIST HEAD CANVASES GIFTS OF MR. ELKINS

Pictures of Christ's head, done on canvases by Hoffman, which were recently ordered by Willard A. Elkins, member of the board of education and which are to be placed in the Eugene high school, the Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson and Frances Willard schools, have arrived.

With the exception of the picture to be presented to the Frances Willard school, all are alike. The latter is a picture of "Christ Among the Doctors of Law." The pictures are in suitable frames and will be distributed shortly.

Mr. Elkins said yesterday that during the next year he would give similar pictures to every public school in the city.

OIL WELL IS SURVEYED

OLYMPIA PASTOR HERE TO MAKE INSPECTION

Making a survey of conditions of the Guaranty Oil company and the progress of the drilling that has been done at the site of the well southeast of Eugene, Rev. J. S. McCallum of Olympia, Wash., was in the city yesterday.

Rev. McCallum will make his report to the state corporation commissioner, under whom he is serving in this capacity.

The sister is well known in Eugene, having been pastor of the First Christian church here for 12 years. He is, in addition to his other duties, chairman of the finance committee which periodically investigates the condition of the Guaranty Oil company.

PIONEER WOMAN PASSES

MRS. MARGARET McLEAN 90 ON OCTOBER 20

Covered Wagon and Old Oregon Trail Recalled in Passing of Lane County Resident

Margaret Rebecca Davidson McLean, 90, pioneer of Lane county and resident here since 1853, died at the Eugene hospital at 12 o'clock last night after an illness of little more than a month.

Acquainted with perhaps most of the old-time residents of this part of Oregon, Mrs. McLean had a wide circle of friends and belonged to the Baptist church, the W. C. T. U., the Bazaar club and the Grange. She was an active worker in all of these organizations, and in fact did considerable work in the Grange even in the last few years.

With her death passes an annual custom of the members of the various orders to which she belonged, that of visiting the aged woman on her birthday anniversaries. This custom has been followed for many years. Her last anniversary was October 29.

Mrs. McLean was born in Indiana in 1835, where she lived with her parents until 1853. During the latter year her father and mother joined one of the biggest immigrant trains, and the family set out for Oregon behind oxen.

The train was on the trail six months, during which time the McLeans and the family experienced by the members were later made a part of the romantic history of Oregon.

When the train reached the territory, people already there went many miles to meet them. Mrs. McLean's parents were induced to remain with friends in Pleasant Hill that winter, following which they moved to Camp She married Joseph McLean June 29, 1854. Mr. McLean died in 1884. Since then the aged pioneer woman has resided with her son, George N. McLean, with another son, John M. McLean, survives.

Friends said last night that Mrs. McLean had been extraordinarily active for many years.

Her body was removed to the Veatch chapel and funeral arrangements will be made later.

HOLT HEADS GROWERS

DRYING FILBERTS DISCUSSED BY HEN DORRIS

McMINNVILLE, Ore., Dec. 10.—At today's session of the western nut growers' association, J. O. Holt of Eugene, was elected president for the coming year. Dr. Robert Nixon, of Forest Grove, vice president for Oregon; John Spurgeon, Vancouver, vice president for Washington; C. E. Schuster, of Corvallis, secretary-treasurer.

Forest Grove was selected as the meeting place for the association in 1926. Invitations to attend the next convention were extended by Forest Grove, Vancouver, Wash., Salem and Oregon City.

At the morning session A. E. Wright of McMinnville presented a paper on harvesting walnuts. E. H. Wiegand of the horticultural department of the Oregon Agricultural college, discussed drying walnuts. Hen Dorris of Springfield presented a paper on the methods of drying filberts. Dr. J. C. Powell of Monmouth gave a resume of his experience in marketing nuts.

In the afternoon Ira Powell, of McMinnville, discussed the cost of developing a filbert orchard until it was six years old. When he said, it should be self supporting.
