ARMY CONCERT SUGGESTS RELIEF FUND GROWING OPTIMISM REPORT
Salvation Army Attending to Needs of Many; Christmas Kettles Out This Morning
Between 200 and 400 persons attended the benefit concert given by the Salvation Army last night for the relief fund. The concert was given by various fraternal and civic organizations in the city.
Captain Florence Grindle, Salvation Army leader here, said that the financial return from the concert would not be known until a check was made on the number of tickets sold in Springfield and Cottage Grove, but that she was well pleased with the showing made last night.
Several hundred dollars will be received, Captain Grindle believes. "There are more men every night in the soup line, waiting to be fed," the Salvation Army officer said last night, "and the need for this money is apparent. We are giving all the aid we can. We have a long list of poor people whom we will help at Christmas time."
The Salvation Army will have two Christmas kettles on the streets this morning and next week there will be five stationed at various corners. Three others will be located, one each at Cottage Grove, Junction City and Springfield.
Those who attended the concert and program last night pronounced it a successful entertainment.
The program follows:
L. O. F. Band—Introductory concert.
Masonic Lodge—"The Ghost Story" directed by Fred Chess and Mrs. Norman Christie of the Eugene high school faculty.
Kiwanis club—Vocal selections.
Rotary club—Dance pantomime "The Beggar Maid's Dream" by Gretchen Wintermeier and Meredith Ann Jenkins, directed by Mrs. Jenkins.
Lions club—"The Neapolitan Serenade" by Keith, Kiggins, Sherman W. Moody, Fritz and Ernest Ludlow.
Cottage Grove Lions club—Skit, "The Pleasant Afternoon," by Helen Osterander and Ralph Bough.
Musicians Union—Concert, directed by Charles Runyan.
Springfield Lions club—Vaudeville skit.

CONTRACT SUIT IS FILED
Cancellation of Agreement Is Asked
Paul Sertle Alleged Misuse of Lands by Neal Roberts in Logging Operations
Seeking the cancellation of an agreement by which Neal Roberts was given permission to haul logs across the property of Paul Sertle, the latter filed a complaint in the circuit court yesterday.
According to the complaint, Mr. Sertle believes he has suffered considerable damage because of what he alleges is misuse of the agreement. Mr. Roberts is operating a sawmill and logging camp, by not confining his activities to the right-of-way across the property owned by Mr. Sertle, by erecting a dam in the Long Tom river, on the Sertle property, by constructing a tramway where a plank road was planned, and by refusing to allow Mr. Sertle the use of a railroad spur landing to load cordwood for the market.
The property involved was described as lots 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 in section 24, the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter and lots 4 and 5 in section 35, township 17, south, of range 6 west, all situated south of the Long Tom river and the Southern Pacific railway tracks running from Eugene to Marshfield.
Mr. Sertle claims that prior to the erection of the sawmill he and Mr. Roberts entered into a verbal agreement for the use by the latter of a right-of-way across the Sertle property. A week later a written agreement containing part of the former understanding was presented and signed by the owner of the land.
The construction of the dam across the Long Tom river, the complaint stated, had resulted in the river cutting a new channel, thus causing considerable damage to the Sertle land.
Mr. Sertle asks that if the cancellation of the agreement is not equitable, that Mr. Roberts be restricted to the use of one right-of-way for a road and that he be compelled to remove the dam in the Long Tom river, and also to close all gates behind him.
L. L. Ray is attorney for the plaintiff.

FORENSIC DATES GIVEN
TRYOUTS FOR MEET WILL BE GIVEN JANUARY 12
Debators Begin Work on Triangular Contest With University of Washington and Idaho in February
The university forensic schedule begins at the first part of the winter term with the debate tryouts on January 12 for all university orators. Both varsity and freshman debate men will spend part of the holidays in preparing for the forensic work ahead.
A number of new men will be used in the next intercollegiate debate, a triangular event, composed of teams from the University of Oregon, the University of Idaho and the University of Washington, which will be held on the Oregon campus. The Oregon representatives in the meet will probably be: Affirmative, Ralph Bailey, varsity debater for the last two years, and senior in law, and Dudley Clarke, sophomore in economics; negative, Jack Hempstead, sophomore in law and Mark M. Taylor, sophomore in business administration.
The Oregon affirmative team will meet the University of Washington on the campus and the negative team will go to Moscow, Idaho, to debate the Idaho squad, and the Idaho negative squad meets the Washington affirmative at Seattle.

REST ROOM COMPLETED
FRANCES WILLARD P. T. A. MEMBERS PLEASED
Plans for Lunch Room in Basement of School Building Discussed at Meeting
Members of the Frances Willard Parents-Teacher association at the meeting at the school yesterday extended votes of thanks to the workers who had made possible the new rest room completed today, and to the board of education for setting aside space for the room.
Decorated in soft gray and brightly colored tapestries, the room presents a restful atmosphere and will be used by the teachers of the Frances Willard school, and also as a place to take children in an emergency such as sudden illness or injury. Benches and wicker chairs upholstered with patterned materials complete the furnishings of the room. Mrs. Rolla Brownline.

"THE SHIP" WINS FAVOR
MORONI OLSEN PLAYERS GIVE GOOD PRODUCTION
Battle Between Age and Youth With Each Fighting For Its Own Belief, Is Theme
By G. W. M.
For the second time this season Eugene theatre goers are indebted directly to Moroni Olsen, play-ers and indirectly to the A. M. Y. W., under whose auspices they are appearing here, for one of the most excellent productions seen on the stage here in many moons.
Headed by Moroni Olsen, Janet Young, Byron Foulger and Gordon Nelson, the repertory company last night played "The Ship" and won high favor both for their choice of play and their accomplishments in producing it.
The vehicle came from the pen of St. John G. Ervine, and never was play more filled with crackling little bits of crisp philosophy, sidelights on human nature as a whole, but each seeing its mistake at the crucial moment.
Every act was replete with those succulent morsels which one snatches up and swallows so quickly, only to recall them at more leisure, to ruminate Moroni over them and enjoy their full meaning even better. Ervine proved his right to a reputation as a bold writer of comedy and a student of human nature.
In way the play defies description. It is the most subtle and yet vivid kind of battle between age and youth, each fighting for its own unalterable beliefs, each unwilling to give in, yet each seeing its mistake at the crucial moment.
The medium of this battle is shipbuilding as carried on by the father and as scorned by the son. The maiden voyage of the magnificent, the greatest triumph of marine engineering yet completed provides the climax, and produces a scene of the most telling power. The play replete with selling force the clash between old and young wills, with an even older tolerance and wit to guide them through stormy waters.

PLAY TO BE PRESENTED
MEADOWVIEW YOUNG FOLKS GIVE COMEDY THIS EVENING
(Register Lane County Special)
MEADOWVIEW, Ore., Dec. 11.—The Meadowview Community club will present the play, "And Home Came Ted," at the Meadowview school house Saturday evening, December 12.
This is a sprightly comedy of mystery in which there is an abundance of fun. The thrilling story is cleverly written and the interest of any audience is held from the beginning to the end by a series of dramatic situations rising from one climax to another until the final denouement at the close of the last act.
The Meadowview players have had considerable experience and always make good on anything attempted. The cast is made up from the best of the local talent and the characters are the following:
Skeete Kelley, the clerk..... Frank Hardie
Dianna Garwood, the heiress..... Miss Doreen Middleton
Miss Lounberry, the spinster..... Mrs. Stanford Matheson
Ira Stone, the villain..... Chance Dwiggins
Aunt Jubilee, the cook..... Mollie Macklin
Mrs. Man, the mystery..... Mrs. J. M. Purkerson
Neil Purkerson
Jim Ryker, the lawyer..... Mollie Macklin
Fugate, assistant state rodent control leader, carrying out the experiments at different farms..... Mrs. J. M. Purkerson
Henrietta Darby, the widow..... Mrs. Frank Hardie
Ted, the groom..... Neil Purkerson
Elsie, the bride..... Miss Myrtle Brownlee
Senator M'Corle, the father..... Harry Gunther
The play is being directed by Mrs. H. H. Gunther.
A small admission will be charged and the proceeds will go to the Community club for use in making Meadowview a pleasanter place to live.

CARROT TOPS ARE USED
BEST OF ALL WINTER BAITS SET OUT FOR GOPHERS
Experiments Conducted by County Agent and Assistant State Rodent Control Leader
Experiments in poisoning gophers with winter baits carried on in Lane county during the past week or two have proved that the gophers do not take any of the baits consistently except the carrot tops, said Mr. Fletcher, county agent, who, in co-operation with Roy Fugate, assistant state rodent control leader, carried out the experiments at different farms.
Besides carrot tops, they used turnip tops, pieces of carrot and parsnip and false dandelion leaves. The gophers did not take any of the baits consistently except the carrot tops, said Mr. Fletcher. They found at least one dead gopher and found that the activities of the gophers had stopped indicating that they may have died in their holes.
It is believed that the carrot tops may prove to be a good winter substitute for clover, which is usually used as a summer bait, said Mr. Fletcher, although it is only a matter of experiment so far.

ROAD WILL BE OPENED
WORK NEAR OAKRIDGE WILL START SOON
(Register Lane County Special)
OAKRIDGE, Ore., Dec. 11.—A road meeting was held Sunday at the Brude residence by the people living west of town interested in the loop road.
It was voted to spend the remainder of last year's funds at once, by opening up the road to a point at the John Cross place. Work is expected to start the later part of this week. Next year's work will open the road out to the main road at the Earl Walker ranch.
