BIRD WAS FIRST TAILOR

THIS SPINNER TAUGHT ADAM AND EVE TO SEW

(Correspondence of the Associated Press)

LIVERPOOL—Adam and Eve learned to sew by watching the tailor bird spin its nest, in the opinion of Sir John Bland Sutton, celebrated British surgeon.

Sir John explained that surgeons still were searching for the perfect stitching material for wounds and asserted that birds, plants, insects and animals had been studied with the view of finding the ideal substance.

"In India, Brazil and Asia Minor the mandibles of ants have been used from remote times as clips for closing the edges of wounds, which are pressed together and the ant applied by means of forceps," said Sir John. "The ant separates its mandibles for defense, and as the insect is brought to the wound it seizes the edges and remains fixed. The body of the ant, antiseptic by virtue of the formic acid normally present in ants, is divided with scissors, leaving the mandibles grasping the edges of the wound."

The Wrong Key Note

Swiftly he entered the crowded room, pulled a bundle of notes from his pocket and began to address the assembly.

"Gentlemen," said he scowling, "A serious condition confronts us."

The chairman made several attempts to interrupt the speaker, but he refused to be even slowed up. His oration lasted for half an hour, ending with the abruptness with which it had commenced.

"Have you quite finished, sir?" asked the chairman.

"Yes—quite. But I defy you to deny the accuracy of my statements," retorted the orator.

"I have no wish to," answered the chairman. "But I should like to point out that this is the Boosters' club. The Undertakers' convention you intended to address is holding its meeting in the room across the hall."
