RUPTURE EXPERT COMING TO EUGENE

The Rice Rupture Method Expert, personal representative of William S. Rice, Adams, New York, will be at the Osburn Hotel, Eugene, Oregon.. Saturday, Dec. 19.

Every ruptured man, woman and child should take advantage of this great opportunity.

The Rice Method for Rupture is known the world over. You can now see this Method demonstrated and have a Rice Appliance fitted to you. Absolutely no charge unless you are satisfied to keep the Outfit after having the Appliance adjusted and you see how perfectly and comfortably it holds. No harsh, deep-pressing spring; nothing to gouge the flesh and make you sore. Can be worn night and day with positive comfort. Soft, rubber-like composition pad, any degree of pressure required.

Don't wear a truss all your life when thousands have reported cures through using the Rice Method. Why suffer the burden of rupture if there is a chance to be free from truss-wearing forever? Anyway, it will cost you nothing to come in and learn all about the Rice Method and the wonderful opportunity for help and cure it offers in your case. Remember the Expert will be there only one day, then your opportunity will be gone. Just ask at the hotel desk for the Rice Expert and he will do the rest. Call any time from 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m., or 7 to 9 evenings.

Don't miss this great opportunity to see this Expert on Hernia.

OLD HUGO NOVEL TO BE PUBLISHED FIRST TIME

Manuscript of Earlier Story Has Been Discovered

AUTHOR SENT TO EXILE

"Les Miseres" Written More Than Ten Years Before the Appearance of "Les Miserables"

(Correspondence of the Associated Press)

PARIS.—The manuscript of a novel written by Victor Hugo ten years before "Les Miserables" appeared, has been discovered, and soon will be given to the public.

The project is the idea of Gustave Simon, the venerable literary executor of Victor Hugo, who for 40 years has been active in promoting interest in the great novelist.

Both the fact that the old manuscript is in existence, and the plan to publish it have been kept secret hitherto, as far as the public is concerned.

Announcement of the discovery and proposed publication of the manuscript was made here by the American Braille press for war and civilian blind, which has been making inquiries regarding the matter, in a desire to promote interest on the part of French blind readers in the works of Victor Hugo.

The following statement was made by a representative of the press:

"It should be interesting to know that Victor Hugo's literary executor, Gustave Simon, the scholar and bibliophile, is still busy and that after years of research he has discovered the manuscripts of 'Les Miseres,' a novel written by Victor Hugo more than ten years before the appearance of "Les Miserables,' or more than three-quarters of a century ago.

"Except for the last two chapters, 'Les Miseres' was ready for publication when Victor Hugo was sent into exile, which drove all thoughts of finishing his novel from his mind. The manuscript was thrown aside and not ever looked at for ten years. Hugo then took up the manuscript, read it, was dissatisfied and decided to rewrite the whole story. 'Les Miserables' was the result.

"Exile had caused changes in Hugo's mind and it had its effect on his story, so that while 'Les Miseres' has the basic theme of 'Les Miserables,' there are essential differences in the two works. The earlier novel, it is said, will read like a new book. In 'Les Miseres' there is none of what is usually called the love interest and Cosette, one of the famous figures, does not appear. In other words, 'Les Miserables' was almost an entirely new story."

MRS. LUCY WOOTEN DIES

PIONEER OF 1853 REACHES AGE OF 83 YEARS

(Register Lane County Special)

CRESWELL, Ore., Dec. 17. — Mrs. Lucy Wooten, 83, died at her home in Creswell Thursday afternoon. She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Lucy J. Graenberger and Mrs. Thomas Brown, both of Creswell; Mrs. Bell Scott, Paisley, Oregon, and Mrs. John Simmons, Lakeview. The son is D. B. Conrad, Delano, Cal.

Mrs. Wooten crossed the plains with her parents in 1853. In 1886 she was married to McElroy Wooten, who died about eight years ago. The funeral will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. at the Creswell Methodist church, Rev. J. L. Stratford officiating. Interment will be in Cloverdale cemetery.

CRESWELL PERSONALS

(Register Lane County Special)

CRESWELL, Ore., Dec. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Whitney and two children from Arizona arrived Sunday to spend the Christmas holidays with his mother, Mrs. Anna Scott.

The ladies' aid society of the Methodist church met Wednesday afternoon at the aid house and worked on articles and enjoyed a social time.

W. A. Mabie held a very successful sale at his ranch Tuesday there being a large attendance and articles sold to advantage. A fine lunch at noon proved an enjoyable feature.

Jay Kuni arrived home Monday from Lindsay, Cal., where he has had employment for the last several weeks.

Mrs. Jay Kuni gave a dinner party Tuesday evening in honor of the birthday of Miss Phettyplace. The guests were Miss. Armstrong, Miss Phettyplace and Miss Inman.

The Royal Neighbors suprised the Woodmen Saturday evening after lodge meeting with refreshments which were enjoyed and a social hour also.

CAR ON SIDING BURNS

CLOTHES BEING DRIED ARE IGNITED BY FIRE

(Register Lane County Special)

OAKRIDGE, Ore., Dec. 17. — An N. W. car No. 790 on siding 19 burned Monday at about 2:15. A Mexican while trying to dry some clothes had built a fire and evidently had them too near the stove, causing them to ignite.

The beds and clothing of nine Mexicans was destroyed as well as the car.

HOW THE UNITED STATES WON HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

MARY ALICE MYERS DIES

Landed in Year 1820

HAD PERILOUS JOURNEY

They Found the Islands Inhabited by a Handsome, Semi-Civilized Race of Kindly People

It was in 1820 that those first missionaries came to the Hawaiian Islands from Boston, resembling, "in altruism and religious fervor," the Pilgrim fathers on the Mayflower, Frances Parkinson Keyes writes in December "Good Housekeeping."

"Probably no page in American history," as Gilbert Grosvenor has expressed it, "is more stirring and romantic than the adventure on which these young men and women of New England embarked . . . Some Hawaiian boys had been brought to New England by American whalers. Their stories of the godlessness of their native islands so aroused the sympathy of the churches—that some good people at once organized to send missionaries to Hawaii, then called the Sandwich Islands."

The missionaries, after their perilous journey around Cape Horn, found the Islands "inhabited by a handsome, semi-civilized race, a happy and kindly people, fond of music and the beauties of nature, but subject to a peculiar and harsh form of religion." Their King, Kamehameha the Great, had just died, and his favorite widow "had induced the people to shatter their old practises of tabu and idolatry, and had further induced the new king to eat in the presence of women for the firs; time . . . The Hawaiians, having discarded their old rites as barbarous, were receptive and agreeable to new teachings. To win their confidence and support all that was required by the youthful company—was tact and evidences of character and sincerity.

The spiritual ideals which those devoted men and women planted in these islands are bearing fruit today as useful to Hawaii and to the United States as the fruit of the Mayflower. They saved the Hawaiian race from such ravages of disease and ignorance as decimated the islanders of the southern Pacific. They hitched Hawaii's wagon to a star . . . It was their children and grandchildren who guided the successive sovereigns of Hawaii in preventing its absorption by European powers, and who when the islanders had outgrown the monarchy, led the movement for independence and ultimate entrance of the Territory of Hawaii as an integral party of the United States."

BLACK PRINCE SAID TO HAUNT OLD HALL PLACE

IT WAS THERE HE WOOED THE MAID OF KENT

Armored Noble Said to Have Appeared Several Times at Old Haunts, Say Dwellers

(Correspondence of the Associated Press)

LONDON.—The Black Prince of the house of Plantagenet, whose romantic life made him the most chivalrous figure of a chivalrous age, is said to haunt Hall Place, where once he wooed Joan, the fair maid of Kent.

Clad in his conventional black armor, the prince has appeared several times in late years according to Lady Limerick and others now residing in the 14th century mansion. The noble lady believes the prince is giving warning of impending danger to England.

"The last time I saw the ghost," she said, "it was standing by the fireplace in the morning room, and when I entered with a friend, it glided away through the window into the garden. On two occasions, the ghost appeared at dusk.

"Sometimes there have been sounds of music as if very sweet old fashioned instruments were being played."

Lady Limerick has resided in the mansion many years and she said the prince had been such a frequent visitor the servants had become accustomed to him. His body is believed to have rested here a night when it was being taken to Canterbury for burial.

JAZZ OUT OF JUNGLES

SUCH IS OPINION HELD BY BLASCO IBANEZ

PARIS.—Jazz came to us from the jungle, according to Blasco Ibanez, the Spanish writer, who was moved to a dissertation on dances after seeing Pavlowa perform.

Ibanez criticism of jazz was scathing, and he said that Pavlowa more nearly approaches the primitive than jazz. He declared he believed the original form of the dance had been an "imitation of the elements inspired by the wind of the season." Continuing, he said:

"Jazz came only after the collapse of the third civilization, when men reverted to the jungle. The dance we now call classic was an interpretation of happiness in the absence of evil on earth. man felt for the second time resorted to lower depths of ity. His dance became an tation of passion and sin inspired him in his lower "Today this same dance turned to us via the jungle
