FURS WANTED
ATTENTION TO TRAPPERS!
I believe about this time some of you have shipped your furs to the wildcat price list houses, and I am positive that you are terribly disappointed. Because I know the way they deal from past experience. I was a shipper for ten long years and I always got the worst end of it. So why take your hard earnings and trust to people that you never see and are three thousand miles away. It is better to deal here with men you know and have been in business for 16 years where you have something to say about grading the furs yourself. Furthermore when you deal with us you must be satisfied with the grading, etc. If not you do not have to sell. But when you ship to the fake houses you must take what they give you. Take our advice and sell to the

DAILY MARKET REPORT

(Oregon Journal Market Review)
PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 22.—Further weakness in the butter trade was shown for the day. Cubes continue their downward course on the dairy exchange, all values again showing a sliding disposition.

With the output of butter the greatest on record for this period of the season, creamery interests are generally in favor of lower prices in order to keep the trade from becoming congested. Prints are moving in fair volume at former prices.

Because of the abundance of fresh butter, but little movement of storage goods is indicated. There is a surplus of butter in practically every section of the Northwest at this time.

Weather conditions are likely to prove the chief factor in the making of butter prices during the next few years. Continuation of the mild weather would weaken values to a very considerable extent.

Egg Prices Are Sent Lower
Further losses of 1c to 2c dozen were shown for eggs on the exchange. The open market is safely keeping below the exchange list price, few sales being made up to the latter.

Shippers' Weather Notice
Weather bureau advised Tuesday: Protect shipments during the next 36 hours against the following minimum temperatures: Going north to Seattle, 46 degrees; northeast to Spokane, 28 degrees; east to Baker, 18 degrees, and south to Ashland, 24 degrees. Minimum temperature at Portland tonight, about 44 degrees.

Brief Notes of Wholesale Trade
Potato trade extremely quiet.
Sweet Potatoes mixed in price; 5@5 3-4c pound.
Orange movement is better; quality very good.
Nut prices are being cut 1c to 2c pound for walnut stock.
Supplies of Columbia river smelt less liberal.
Japanese oranges reported in at $2.00@$2.25 bundle.
