

TWO ALBERT SINCLAIR TO HEAD 1926 OREGON GRID TEAM

Coach J. J. McEwan Pleased With Choice

Albert Sinclair, of Eugene, was elected to captain the 1926 University of Oregon football team at a banquet held in honor of Captain John J. McEwan, new head football mentor of the university, last night.

Sinclair is one of the outstanding players of the university during the past few years. He played both center and fullback during 1923, his first as a varsity regular, and played tackle during the past season, being one of the best men on the line. Sinclair did not go out for football during 1924.

The new captain takes the place of Robert Mautz, one of the great, old captains and ends ever produced at Oregon. Mautz was present at the banquet and was one of the first to congratulate his successor. Mautz was highly pleased with the man who will lead Oregon through its first year under the tutelage of Captain McEwan, he said.

Captain McEwan is another well-pleased with the choice and expects the new captain to be a great help and inspiration in building up the team next season, he said. Not only is Sinclair a good football player but he and ex-Captain Mautz led the players in scholastic standing during the past term.

This is one of the requirements the new coach calls for in his system of tutelage, he says, as all players who anticipate making the team must keep up to standard in their scholastic work.

Captain McEwan was called on for the principal speech of the evening and during his talk he pointed out that he wanted real men to come out for his team. He is a firm believer in spiritual discipline, he says, as this brings forth team spirit. The squad must be on hand for practice at the time designated and must adhere to the training rules, he further stated.

The new coach pointed out that he is a comparatively new man in the coaching world and expects to do his best work while coach at Oregon. The system at Oregon will consist of attack and more attack, he said.

Other speakers on the program included Karl W. Onthag, Judge G. F. Skipworth, Robert Mautz, Albert Sinclair and Walter Malcolm, teammaster.

First Trip

THOMAS NASH

Although Thomas Nash has been piloting his ships in and out of Queenstown, Ireland, for 32 years, he has just crossed the Atlantic for the first time. He was an unwilling passenger on the Franconia. After piloting it out of the harbor it was too rough for him to return on the pilot boat and he had to come to New York.

The veteran promoter was non-committal today on reports, published by the New York Telegram, that Dempsey already had agreed to meet Tunney in the historic Jersey City ring bowl and that while no formal contracts yet had been signed, the match would be clinched as soon as several important angles are straightened out.

Parts Exports on Increase Exports of all automotive products from the United States and Canada during September were valued at $30,245,434 as compared with total exports during August valued at $31,243,310, according to the automotive division of the department of commerce. These figures indicate that while there was a considerable decrease in actual vehicle exports from 37,633 passenger cars and trucks in August to 25,561 in September, the trade as a whole has not suffered to any great extent. The exports of assembly parts increased over $1,000,000 in value. This feature of September's export trade is particularly significant when an explanation of the current trend is attempted.

Cheer of Winter Bouquet

The perforated glass weights to be used inside flower bowls are very useful for the winter bouquet. From the Japanese we have learned the beauty of the sprightly bouquet instead of the closely packed ones we used to think beautiful. For these the glass weights are necessary. The latest fashion is to have only one or two sprays of flowers or decorative foliage in the bowl and call it a bouquet.

Artificial bouquets are very popular today. They are particularly desirable in these days of superheated houses, gas fumes, and sunless rooms. They do not require daily care and do not have to be frequently replenished and may be set anywhere without danger of wilting. At first glance they look like real flowers and beget a happy atmosphere although you know they are frankly artificial.

SPRINGFIELD BOWLERS PLAN CITY PIN LEAGUE

Four Organizations May Enter Teams

(Register Lane County Special) SPRINGFIELD, Ore., Jan. 20.—A city bowling league in which teams will be entered by Springfield organizations will be started here soon, if plans now being made materialize, according to Traubert Henderson of the Springfield alleys. Interest is being shown in the project by local pin artists, he said.

Four organizations will probably have teams in the league, including the town team that played in Eugene last night. Employees of the Danner Motor company, Ford dealers, are lining up a team and an aggregation representing the American Legion and another composed of business men will take part when the league is organized.

The teams will probably get into action within the next week. It is believed by Mr. Henderson, the Danner employee who held a practice game here Friday night when the best five bowlers will be picked from a group of about 10 men. The other teams will pick their men soon. The first outside game of the season on the local alleys will be played by the town team next Tuesday night when it plays a return game with the Eugene city team. Springfield won by 32 pins from the team at Eugene last night. Arrangements are under way for a game in Springfield with Eugene-Elika team which has not yet been scheduled. It will probably be played at some time next week. The winning of a prize starting around the body as a remedy for lumbago is an old remedy that has revived in a variety of late.
