

SPRING GRID WORK AT U, STARTS NEXT MONTH

Meeting of All Candidates Held Yesterday

Spring football practice at the University of Oregon will get under way during the coming month. It was announced last night by Captain J. J. McEwan, new Oregon mentor.

A meeting of all football candidates was held for yesterday afternoon and the policy and plans for the coming work was outlined by the new coach.

During the first few weeks a system of grid practice will be used. This system calls for alternate practice nights for the players such as ends one night, tackles and guards the next with the centers and backfield the following. In this manner the individual player will work but two nights a week.

However, after the squad gets back into shape nightly practice with some scrimmage will be in vogue. The spring season will be of long duration, the coach stated, but the men will not be overworked.

"It is my desire to know what type of material I have to work with before the opening of the fall season," Captain McEwan said, "and it will take quite a while to get my system across to the players. From all indications the players will have to unlearn the system used last year.

"The system I will try to teach will be comparatively simple as it will involve the methods used by my teams. This consists of a thorough knowledge of fundamentals combined with a fierce attack.

"I sometimes find that a player has been turning out for a position when he is best fitted for some other place. I will try to pick out these men. If there are any, and place them, during the spring practice. Then with the opening of practice in September, I will know what chances Oregon will hold.

One other reason for the sustained time of the practice, it is intimated, is that Oregon meets the University of Washington, last season's coast champion, in Portland, October 9. This will give but little preparation after the start of fall practice September 15, when Oregon will be pointed for this game, although Captain McEwan believes the Webfoots will be lucky to hold the Huskies to a single touchdown score.

Albert Stanciar, new grid captain, will be on hand for the practice next month to help the coach form the foundation for the coming team. Ex-Captain Bob Mautz, veteran end, will also help during spring practice.

Assistant coaches have not been chosen as yet, it is stated.

RICKARD PLANS MATCH DEMPSEY AND GENE TUNNEY MAY MEET IN FALL

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Jan. 21. — Tex Rickard, whose promoting hand is credited with managers believed to be preliminary to matching Jack

Dempey for a heavyweight title fight with the ex-marine, Gene Tunney, broke his silence today sufficiently to give the impression that he figures on staging this battle at his Jersey City arena, Boyle's Thirty Acres, next September.

Rickard refused to make any pointblank admission that he has negotiations for such a match near completion, as published reports have contended. Likewise he declined to deny them, but at the same time he admitted holding a conference yesterday with Bill Gunn, Tunney's manager, expressed his conviction that Tunney is the champion's most logical contender, and made it clear he has shelved plans to match Dempsey with the persistent negro challenger, Harry Willis.

OREGON HOOPERS LEAVE TODAY ON NORTHERN TRIP

Ten Players to Play Four Games in Five Days

The University of Oregon basketball squad, consisting of ten players, coach and manager, will leave this morning on its annual northern jaunt. While on the trip the team will play four conference games in five days.

Coach Reinhart will lead his players through one of the toughest road trips ever attempted by an Oregon team, he says, as games with four of the strongest teams in the conference will be played on home floors in rapid succession.

"These will be four of the hardest played games this year," the coach said, "as Oregon will meet every team on its home floor and each is believed for this contest. Last year, by the merest chance, the Webfoots won all games on the northern trip and tied the Oregon every team for conference honors, and every team will remember that defeat."

The ten players who are making the trip include Roy Oberberg, center; Howard Hobson and Jerry Gunther, forwards; Swede Westergren and Charles Jost, guards, who are veterans; and Ray Edwards, Arnie Kiminki, Veri Flynn, Fred Joy and Rube Murray, substitutes. Bob Neighbors is making the trip as manager.

The Webfoot quintet will meet the University of Washington in Seattle, Saturday night, in the opening game of the trip; the University of Montana, Monday; Idaho university, Tuesday; and W. S. C. Wednesday, returning home in time for a return game with the Huskies January 30.

ALUMNI TO DINE COACH

The annual social meeting of alumni and ex-students of the University of Oregon in Portland will take the form of a dinner and reception for the newly appointed head football coach at the university, Tuesday, and W. S. C. formerly of West Point military academy, it was decided at a meeting of the committee. Lamar Toole has been appointed executive chairman of the committee and has announced the date as January 29.

Captain McEwan and the following faculty members and students from the university will be honor guests: Robert Mautz, captain of the 1925 football eleven; Walter Malcolm, president of the student body; Fred Martin, yell king; Jack Benefield, graduate manager; Virgil Earl, director of athletics; Professor H. C. How, faculty adviser; John F. Howard, dean of the school

OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION, AND DEAN STRAUB

The committee personnel announced for the annual dinner meeting follows: Lamar Toole, chairman; Ralf Couch, Lyle Bartholomew, Floyd Maxwell, Lyle Brown, Alan Bynon, Alexander Brown, Elston Ireland, Stan Anderson, Harold Young, George Colton, John Anderson, Harold Say, Burns Powell, Ruel Moore, Gladys Bowen, Mildred Weeks, Helen Harper, Roberta Kilham, Agnes Reich, Jeannette Calhoun and Mildred Seimetz.

FROSH HOOPERS TO PLAY

FIRST YEAR TEAM MEETS ALBANY SATURDAY

The University of Oregon freshman basketball team will play their strong Albany college five tomorrow afternoon at Albany, it was announced last night.

Albany college is a member of the Willamette valley conference, but the game with the Oregon freshmen is but a practice tilt for both.

Clare "Red" Scallon, all-star forward of Portland, will not enter the fray, it was announced last night. The players who will make the trip will be chosen at the termination of a practice session this afternoon, the coach stated.

FEW WATERFOWL APPEAR

WILLAPA HARBOR HUNTING REPORTED POOR

(By The Associated Press) SEASIDE, Jan. 21.—Information received here today stated that Willapa Harbor has experienced the poorest waterfowl hunting season in history. The season ended last Friday.

Game Warden Mossman declared that he believed the waterfowl myriads were depleted by epidemics at Great Salt Lake, Utah, Tule lake, Oregon, and other inland waters.

Mossman said it was his opinion that the epidemic which carried off thousands of ducks at Great Salt Lake last spring was brought north by ducks that apparently were well but germ carriers. He pointed out that manifestly the disease appeared at Klamath and Tule lakes.

UNIFORM CODE DESIRED

PACIFIC NORTHWEST MEN MEET IN PORTLAND

(By The Associated Press) PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 21.—City building officials of the Pacific Northwest met here today to work out a uniform building code. Building materials men and manufacturers associations will be invited to attend a meeting tomorrow when various angles of the code will be considered.

Robert L. Proctor, superintendent of buildings of Seattle and chairman of the section, presided. Others at the meeting were W. P. Weathers, Longview, Wash., A. C. Horner, Stockton, Cal., H. H. Plummer, Portland, and J. G. Horn, inspector of buildings, Tacoma, Wash. Completion of the code is expected in the next few months.

CROP SURPLUS ADMITTED

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE SPEAKS AT URBANA

Washington Attitude Believed to Be Undergoing Change on Farm Problems

(By The Associated Press) URBANA, Ill., Jan. 21.—Admitting that "the agricultural surplus problem" does exist and that it can be solved, William M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture, went a step further than his chief, President Coolidge, in an address to the Illinois Agricultural association here today which indicated a changing attitude in Washington.

Before the American Farm Bureau federation in Chicago, Secretary Jardine's President Coolidge virtually denied there was a "surplus problem." Today his secretary of agriculture admitted that surplus production is pulling down agricultural prices and pleading for "sympathetic consideration" while the government grappled with the "undeniable economic conditions back of the problem."

Reaction among the farmers who heard him varied from extreme disapproval and statements that such speeches "make more Democrats in the West," to warm endorsement.

Sam H. Sampson, Quincy, Ill., whose election as president of the American Farm Bureau federation was regarded among Illinois farmers as a reaction from President Coolidge's address in Chicago, and who criticized the president as "ignorant of true conditions," declined to comment on Secretary Jardine's address.

WATER ALLOCATION PLAN

COLUMBIA RIVER SUBJECT FOR INVESTIGATION

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 21.—Cooperation of the federal government with Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington in the allocation of waters of the Columbia river and its tributaries was proposed in a bill today by Representative Summers, Republican, Washington.

Expenditure of $25,000 for further investigation by the interior department would be provided, with a report to congress by December 1, 1927, of the agreement reached with these states on the apportionment of water for irrigation projects.

Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, introduced a similar measure in the senate. The measure was offered as a result of conference between members of the Washington congressional delegation and irrigation experts from four states, which resulted in agreement to seek legislation necessary for construction of a $400,000,000 project in the Columbia River basin, designed to irrigate 1,750,000 acres of land.

CATNIP LURES LIONS

CAT FOUND TO LIKE OIL FROM PLANTS

(By The Associated Press) COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Jan. 21.—Mountain lions are being lured to their death by oil of catnip, Stanley P. Young of Denver, biologist in charge of the Colorado-Kansas district of predatory animal control of the department of agriculture, told the Colorado Fish, Game and Forest Protective association today.

"A cat is a cat regardless of its size or living conditions and the great mountain lion is as susceptible to the delicious intoxication of catnip as is our own pet tabby," he said. "The lions come down to roll about in patches of poisoned food around which oil of catnip has been poured, just like little kittens."

ALUMINUM ALLOY FOUND

NEW SUBSTANCE USEFUL FOR AUTOMOBILE BODIES

(By The Associated Press) BERLIN, Jan. 21.—The discovery of a method for alloying aluminum with other metals which will produce materials for automobile bodies which will not show scratches and will have both color and finish "built in" is claimed by E. Jirocha, a German electrical engineer. He has demonstrated his discovery to a commission of metallurgists of the German Institute of Chemical Technology. He is said to have made alloys of aluminum and more than a dozen other metals, producing materials of many different colors, the color varying with the metal used for the alloy. These alloys have a surface resembling glazed porcelain.

The bureau for aluminum research reports that the alloying metals penetrated aluminum bars to a depth of four-tenths of an inch. Aluminums alloys made by Herr

Rare Turkish tobaccos give distinction to Chesterfield's blend

Drawing from a photograph by our Mr. Gary, showing the loading of Turkish tobacco aboard lighters to be transferred to the ocean liner in mid-stream. The tobacco is picked, leaf by leaf, and tightly packed in burlap bags weighing from fifty to a hundred pounds each.

For Chesterfields, the best Turkish tobacco — and nothing but the best!

Where does Chesterfield get its spicy tang, its delicate piquancy of taste and aroma? From costly Turkish tobaccos, world-famous for their distinctive character, their sheer excellence of quality.

And how does Chesterfield get its mellow fullness and its satin-smoothness? From the way this fine Turkish is blended with the choicest Domestic leaf; carefully, shrewdly, in that can't-be-copied Chesterfield way that brings out the hidden flavors in each type of leaf.

It took no end of skill and patient experiment to get this blend right. Was it worth it? Just smoke a Chesterfield and let the good tobaccos speak for themselves!
