Our Bible school at 9:45, ably led by Mr. Swan, is steadily growing and meeting the needs for Bible instruction. Come with your children. A welcome to all at all times.

FIRST CHRISTIAN—Oak and Eleventh streets. E. V. Silvers, pastor. This Sunday is the last one of the meetings and we believe it will be the best. We urge the members to be present regardless of any avoidable hindrance. There is much sickness in the city, hence those who are able should attend. Do not let the rain keep you away. The Sunday school at 9:45 o'clock, should show the largest attendance of the meeting. Evangelist Ross speaks at both morning and evening service, and will also speak a short time at the Sunday school. Sunday evening service will be the last opportunity to hear these evangelists. Do not fail to be present. Thank offering envelopes will be provided, and a thank offering taken for the meeting. Let us make Sunday a day long to be remembered. It will be our greatest day of the meeting. The Rosses have endeavored themselves to the people of this community, and will be long remembered for their splendid work. The pre-service concert will be given Sunday evening at 7:15 o'clock.

BIBLE STANDARD—Fred L. Hornshuh pastor. On February 14th, two weeks from today Dr. Chas. S. Price one of the greatest evangelists of the country and known internationally will preach the dedicatory services of the Lighthouse temple and also conduct a campaign of a month, beginning from that date. Until then our Sunday services are conducted in the armory, Seventh and Oak. Sunday school, 10; preaching at 11 by Rev. J. H. Pontius of McMinnville, subject, "I Will Open Unto You the Windows of Heaven." This is an interesting up-to-date subject on special blessings. Preaching again at 2:30 "Making a Stake." Come prepared to grow as you take several strides heavenward. "This and Other Worlds" will be the topic of the evening. Information along this line will be not only intellectual but spiritual. The Crusaders hold their young people's meeting at 5:30 on Seventh and Pearl. Week day meetings are held in the old location. A hearty welcome is extended to all. The following two weeks are given to much prayer and devotion for preparation for the greatest campaign ever held in Eugene beginning February 14.

N. F. MACDUFF SPEAKS AT OAKRIDGE MEETING

Boy Scout Demonstration Arouses Interest

TROOP GIVEN PRAISE

Value to Be Gained from Scouting Explained by C. R. Clark Who Reviews Work

(Register Lane County Special)
OAKRIDGE, Ore., Jan. 30.—The Boy Scout demonstration held at the Oakridge theatre last night was one that the audience felt that their time was well given to. Nelson F. MacDuff, supervisor of the Cascade national forest, gave a short interesting talk on what parents could give their children, namely health, education and character. These would build good citizenship for the country.

Executive Is Pleased
C. R. Clark, Lane county scout executive, was well pleased with the work of the troop here and praised their window display in the local hardware store. Mr. Clark explained the value of scouting as directing the activities of the boys along worth-while channels. He said that in many instances the Boy Scouts organization was misrepresented as not just a club to take the place of a home but as a tool to the home and should be encouraged by the parents.

Oakridge now will have two of its court of honor staff present in Eugene as members of the Lane county council from this district. They are J. D. Ash and C. R. Jones.

Scoutmaster Speaks
Rev. Mr. Rolland, scoutmaster here, spoke a few words on the cooperation shown. He is a very enthusiastic leader having spent many years in the work in this country and was also a Boy Scout in England.

The court of honor staff here consists of J. E. Paddock, J. D. Ash and C. R. Jones. Tenderfoot Ernest Bates and Melvin Spatz were advanced to second class scouts, and Clarence Jones from second to first class.

Merit Badges Given
Merit badges for pathfinding, first aid and bird study were awarded to Star Scout Britain Ash. He now has a total of eight merit badges.

Star Scout Clarence Bates received merit badges for carpentry, cooking and health. He now has five merit badges to his credit.

Elementary first aid demonstrations were given by the class consisting of the roll and triangle bandages, recurrent bandage of the scalp, splints and the Schaefer method of artificial respiration. These were all exceptionally well given.

Signal Messages Sent
Uses of the neckerchief were given by Scout Jones, while Scout Spatz and Bates sent signal messages over wires and by flag.

Other interesting numbers on the evening's program were: America, by three boys. Scout pledges, by Boy Scouts. Violin solo, Mr. Evans.

Prize duet by Mrs. E. Smith and Miss Lillian Jaquet.

Vocal solo, Jack Phelps, responding with a humorous reading.

TAX BILL IS AMENDED

SENATE SPENDS FOUR HOURS DISCUSSING MEASURE

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The tax reduction bill was subjected to a dozen new amendments today, some on vital provisions as the senate spent a four-hour session wrangling over the first controversial section to be reached in consideration of the measure.

While no rate sections were reached today, Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, opened the promised fight against repeal of the inheritance tax, offering amendments to restore the inheritance and gift tax rates now in effect.

Considerable support for the amendment from western senators of both parties is anticipated by Senator Couzens, whose move would not only block the proposed repeal of the inheritance levy voted by the senate finance committee, but would negative the reductions in this tax provided by the house.

What to Order
What shall you order at the grocers today to give the family a little variety? How about these: Have you served the lately? codfish; parsnips, cranberries, cheese, celery, dried beef, tapioca, cornmeal, spinach, heart, tongue, sweetbreads, liver, herring, salmon, mackerel, oysters? A good way to reward yourself of different things to order is to sit down a few minutes with a good cook book.

A suggestion for 1926 is "Clubs for Wives," but why not try kindness first?

Always remember that good resolutions won't grow on bad habits.
