With the advent of Ash Wednesday Society seems to have had but small effect on the round of social gayety which has made the week past spin by in a great hurry. There have been numerous affairs to suit every taste—small and large, afternoon and evening, light and serious.

Today, February enters its last week, and never did month seem shorter. Two days off of thirty days is a negligible matter until one comes to a month which actually has a few whole days shorter, or three, than all the others. Then it is that one appreciates how much may be accomplished in one brief day.

The weather, April-like in its uncertainty, has kept society attending strictly to its indoor obligations, and as a consequence, fuel has been added to the fire of longing to be out-of-doors in spring sunshine. Meanwhile, regardless of human feelings, forsythia and Japanese quince and plum blossoms continue to nod unconcernedly to stormy skies, and shrubs are actually bursting into bud. It's a tantalizing thing, this having spring arrive right under our very feet clad in rubbers, and under our very eyes obscured by storm hats.

Of special interest for the opening days of this week is the initial appearance of Eugene's first and only symphony orchestra. It is a step distinctly in the right direction for the musical and cultural interest of the city and is greatly to be commended. Under the direction of Charles Runyan, who organized the symphony of thirty-five members, rehearsals have been under way for the past three months, and it is very probable that Eugene has in store an interesting surprise in the work of the orchestra.

The first concert will be an event of tomorrow night at the Heilig theatre, and will draw wide patronage from university and town alike.

Among the largest affairs of the late winter season was the attractive afternoon bridge for which Mrs. Joseph H. Koke, Mrs. Walter Carrol and Mrs. Harmon Anderson were hostesses on Tuesday of last week past.

Guests were bidden to the Sorosis Tea house, and there a motif in keeping with the approach of spring was carried out in the use of quantities of bright daffodils, and greenery, while the idea of valentines and hearts both in decorations and menu was significant of St. Valentines day.

Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Schaefers and Mrs. John H. Bell. About twenty tables were in play, the list of invited guests covering:

Mrs. S. D. Allen, Mrs. D. M. Anderson, Miss Irene Applegate, Mrs. Atwater, Mrs. W. W. Alexander, Mrs. Nathan Barrett, Mrs. Jack Bartlett, Mrs. Harold Beyfelt, Mrs. Alson G. Bradley, Mrs. John B. Bidding a group of friends for the second of several evening affairs they have sponsored during the late winter, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Davis were hosts Thursday evening at their home for a gayly appointed St. Valentines bridge party.

In token of the season, streamers about the rooms were festooned with red hearts and cupids, while old-fashioned lace paper valentines carried out the effect in score cards. Red carnations and Japanese pussywillows formed a pretty decorative note, and during the hours of bridge it was the rule to double on heart bids. In the supper which followed the game, the same motif was carried out.

Guests for the evening numbered Mr. and Mrs. Ray O'Donnell, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hendershott, Mr. and Mrs. John Bland, Mr. and Mrs. Potter, Grace Howe, Cora Townsend, Helen Bailey, Helen Bell, Helen Kehm, Irene Burton, Iris Rodeman, Jessica Coe, Josephine Stofiel, Jana Glenn, Janet Backes, Jacqueline Baird, Jean Spencer, Janice McKinnon, Kate Potter, Kathleen Powell, Leulla Farrow, Lucille Burton, Lucille Carrol, Lucille Worth, Mary Gray, Margaret Underwood, Margaret Densmore, Marion Powell, Mildred Mahoney, Mildred Addison, Mildred Coleman, Mildred McDermott Margaret Edmunson, Mary Burton, Maxine Perry, Madia Gross, Nora Ashton, Nellie Baxter, Nellie Bell Swan, Orma Slattery, Remoh Nicols, Reba Brogden Roma Gross, Virginia Reid, Vera Turner Vera Hostick, Wanda Roach, Zelda Monroe and Dell Davidson.

Alvin Templar Austin Coburn, Alfred Vandoren, Arthur Richardson, Adrian Burris, Claire Cooley, Charles Woodin, Clarence Harris, Clifford Horner, Curtis Burton, Carl McDowell, Clive Stamey, Carson Mathews, Donald Davis, Dudal Callison, Dalles Hieseon, Darold Elkins, Delmar Newman, Dwight Newman, Delbert Addison, Edward Thurston, Edward Best, Evert Vadnais, Edward Charlesworth, Fritz Ludlow, Forres Cooper Gordon Stearns, Gordon Goodpasture, George Wilson, Glen Godfrey, George Platt, Hal Skinner, Hubert Veltum, Harold Shuey, Hobart Wilson, Howard Strawn, Hugh Miller, Howard Dixon, Harold Lyons, James Walton, Jack Dunbar, John Ludlow, Kermit Stephens, Kenneth Taylor, Kenneth Patterson, Lytell Green, Lloyd Gardineer, Lester Olson, Lowell Manerude, Lee Travis, Lew Harris, Mervin Simpson, Milton Pierce, Milton George, Marion Zurcher, Milo Marlatte, Norris Laudrem, Norman Parker, Orris Paige, Philip Catch, Paul Townsend, Roland Wildman, Russell Greenfield, Richard Godfrey, Roy Ford, Ralph Newman, Roland Coleman, Russell Prairie, Russell Stewart, Roy Whytal, Sigvald Skavlan, Tom Wells, Vern Godfrey, William Powell, Wilam Guske, Winsor Calkins, William Balke Wilbur Adams, William Pittman, William Bartle, William Post, William Baird, Jim Baker, Gene Slattery, Bruce Greeves.

Among the attractive dinners of the week past was Mrs. J. Bishop Tingle's buffet supper on Friday night, given in honor Miss Lillian Tingle, who will leave next month for a summer stay in England and on the continent, and Miss Mabel Potts.

Guests for this interesting and delightful affair were Miss Tingle, Miss Harriet Thomson, Miss Myra Hepburn, Miss Julia Burgess, Dr. Wilmoth Osborne, Miss Mozelle Hair, Miss Margaret Tingle, Josephine Potts, Jimmie Tingle and the hostess.

Eugene friends of Mrs. Tingle will be much interested to know that she also will spend the late spring and early summer in Europe, leaving about the middle of March for Boston, from whence she will sail for Greece.

Miss Tingle will take Master Jimmie Tingle with her on her interesting trip.

Girl Scouts under the direction of Mrs. Walter Banks and Mrs. Clifford Manerud gave their party last night at the chamber of commerce, and about a hundred members of the organization were guests of the scout troop. Games, a program, and a playlet were the entertainment features planned by the girls themselves, and about thirty members of the newly organized Springfield troop were special guests.

Ice cream cones were served after the games and program.

Mrs. T. M. Gerow, Mrs. Ralph Martin and Mrs. George Hitchcock are members of the committee for this troop.

Among the pleasant affairs planned to honor the wives of visiting newspaper men, who have been guests in Eugene for the past two days during the annual convention, was the tea on Friday afternoon for which members of Theta Sigma Phi national womens journalism fraternity, were hostesses in alumni hall.

Presiding over the tea table were Mrs. Clara Fitch, Mrs. Floyd Westerfield, Mrs. L. H. Johnson, and during the calling hours from three until five o'clock several musical numbers were an enjoyable feature.

A banquet for the delegates to the convention, trips over the city, and several other informal affairs were planned as part of the convention.

• • •

According to plans made by the committee, the annual Washington's birthday dinner dance of Assembly club members will be one of the gayest and smartest affairs of the winter season. The decorations are to be especially elaborate with Ed Bohlman, who is a talented decorator from the university campus, in charge of the details. A special dinner will be a big feature of the affair, and during the dinner hour several cabaret features will be introduced —musical numbers and dance numbers by university talent. Favors, table decorations and other details of the party are most interesting, and the committee has made elaborate plans for the success of the dance. Music by the Campa Shoppe orchestra has been engaged.

Reservations should be made at once with George Hitchcock, chairman of the committee.

Mrs. Harold Grady of Salem will arrive in Eugene Thursday and on Saturday Mrs. George McGill with George, Jr., and Mrs. Grady will leave by motor for a three weeks visit in San Francisco. Mr. McGill left a fortnight ago for Chicago and will return to the coast by way of California, meeting Mrs. McGill in San Francisco for a week's visit with his parents.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Johnson had as their guests for dinner very informally last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. George Hitchcock, Mrs. George Bent and Robert Earl.

• • •

A group of Eugene matrons made up a motor party to Salem on Thursday, going as the guests of Mrs. Herbert Rohme, who entertained with a delightful bridge luncheon at her home. Additional guests from Salem were Mrs. Ralph Laraway and Mrs. Harold Grady, both of whom formerly lived in Eugene, while in the party from here were Mrs. George McGill, Mrs. Walter Hummel, Mrs. Waldo Adams, Mrs. Frederick Stickels, Mrs. C. D. Donahue.

The bridge benefit and tea which Alpha Delta Pi members sponsored yesterday afternoon at the Osburn hotel was a largely attended affair of the week past.

Receiving the guests were Miss Mildred Bateman, Mrs. Burroughs, Mrs. Fred J. Clark, Mrs. Wilson Jewett, Mrs. O. R. Gullion, Mrs. W. G. Halem and Mrs. E. E. Brodie.

Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. E. L. Packard, Mrs. Floyd Westerfield, Mrs. Hartsell and Mrs. W. J. Hilt.

The tea hour was in charge of Mrs. Andrew Fish, Mrs. Scofield, and Mrs. Eugene McCornack and the active chapter members served, wearing frocks of fetching colonial design. Appointments for the benefit were all in the spirit of Washington's birthday, and decorations carried out the same color note.

An attractive group of musical numbers was given during the tea hour, and Miss Jean Harper arranged the program.

A number of matrons spent the early hours in needlework in the parlor, while others went in for the tea hour.

About thirty tables of bridge were in play.

• • •

Mrs. Harry Keeney entertained Monday for members of the Monday Book club, a one o'clock luncheon preceding the interesting program of current events.

Mrs. A. T. Cockerline reviewed Marjory Marker McClure's "High Fires."

The next meeting will be with Mrs. L. J. Temple, with Mrs. S. E. Roberts presenting a program on Problems in Modern Music.

• • •

Mrs. Harry Sinclair, Thursday night gave a surprise bridal shower for Miss Maxine Nichols at her home at 931 Eleventh avenue west. Miss Nichols was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. Twenty friends were present and the evening was spent in listening to a radio program. The Charleston dance was featured by Remoh Nichols. Refreshments were served during the later part of the evening.

Attractive as always in its colorful and quaint appointments was the annual silver tea given by members of Matrons Guild of Central Presbyterian church, which is an outstanding event for Guild members each year, and was one of the largest affairs on the social calendar for the past week.

Guild members received in the newly completed and attractive Westminster house on the university campus, and in the receiving line, all wearing becoming colonial gowns were Mrs. Arthur A. Rogers, president of the Guild, Mrs. Bruce J. Giffen, Mrs. A. H. Saunders, Mrs. J. O. Holt, chairmen of the committee, Mrs. C. O. Wilson and Mrs. D. M. Anderson.

Mrs. Harry Hobbs, Mrs. A. R. Curtis and Mrs. Horace Burnett, also garbed in buffant colonial gowns and attractive with their powdered hair, assisted in receiving about the rooms.

The matrons who poured were in similar costume, and included Mrs. R. A. Wilcox, Mrs. G. I. Hurley, Mrs. Sherman Moody and Mrs. A. E. Roberts. Pussywillows and graceful sprays of japonica made a decorative note about the reception rooms, while an old-fashioned bouquet in silver basket, with pastel tapers burning in silver sticks made the tea table very lovely.

Mrs. T. A. Pearson was in charge of the program given during the tea, the numbers including solo, Mrs. William Baskerville; trio, Mrs. T. A. Pearson, Mrs. H. D. Scougall, Mrs. E. E. Wyatt; minuet, dance and song number, Miss Evelyn Hollis, Miss Edith Pearson; duet, Mrs. T. A. Pearson, Mrs. E. E. Wyatt; violin solo, Miss Nina Warnock.

On the committee for this interesting and successful affair were Mrs. Arthur A. Rogers, chairman; Mrs. M. C. Harris, Mrs. C. S. Benjamin, Mrs. Frank Nombalais, Mrs. R. A. Brodie, and Mrs. Major Ashton as an additional member of the committee.

The February meeting of the Oregon Lewis and Clark chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution was held on Lincoln's birthday at the home of Mrs. A. R. Paris with Mrs. Paris, Mrs. Gilstrap, and Mrs. Stone as hostesses.

Rev. A. H. Saunders of the Central Presbyterian church of this city gave an address on "International Relations," with an introductory tribute to Abraham Lincoln whose broadmindedness and far-sightedness in matters of international and world-wide movements has ever been an inspiration to all patriotic Americans and to all peoples of the earth as well. Rev. Mr. Saunders gave a comprehensive survey of warfare, the development of which has been shown to parallel the development of science down through the ages. He pointed out that if we didn't encourage the very great unpopularity of war as a method of settling international disputes we could look forward to a greater wholesale butchery in the next martial encounter than we have ever experienced in the past. The speaker commended the action of the United States in joining the world court and expressed his desire to see our country go further and take even more active part than that in keeping all international relations peaceable.

The chapter business meeting followed. Among other matters under discussion was that of the purchase of a copy of George Washington's "Prayer for the Nation." This method is being taken to raise a fund for the erection of a memorial at Valley Forge to commemorate the long and exceedingly severe struggle Washington and his army made there in the winter of 1777-78 that every individual living in the United States today might enjoy the privileges of an independent democratic nation.

Dainty refreshments were served with Mrs. Swigart and Mrs. Crow pouring and the hostesses assisting about the artistically decorated dining room.

Eugene friends of Miss Helen Darling and Miss Martha Johnson will be interested in news which was told at a large tea given last Thursday in Portland by Mrs. Roscoe R. Gilmer in honor of the two.

Of especial interest was announcement of the engagement of Miss Darling, to Louis Field Cavin of Los Angeles, the wedding to be an event of June 22 in Portland. Miss Darling is a former student of the university, and a member of Chi Omega fraternity.

At the same time Miss Johnson, whose betrothal to Roscoe Hemenway was told in the fall, announced the date of her marriage for May 17, the ceremony to be a large affair in Portland. Mrs. Johnson is also a former university girl, and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta. She is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Williams Frazier Johnson who formerly made their home in Eugene.

Eugene friends of Mrs. Garfield Madden (Elsie McMurphey) are glad to know that she will arrive within the coming month to spend the summer in Eugene as the guest of her mother, Mrs. Albert McMurphey.

Mr. and Mrs. Madden have been making their home in Japan since their marriage four years ago, and this will be their first visit in Eugene during that time. Mrs. Madden, with their three sons Robert, Martin and V. Garfield, Jr., are sailing Tuesday from Tokio, and Mr. Madden will arrive late in May to spend the summer with his family. Both are former students of the university, Mrs. Madden being a member of Alpha Phi and Mr. Madden of Delta Tau Delta.

Mrs. P. J. Bartle was pleasantly surprised Saturday afternoon by a party planned in honor of her birthday anniversary by Miss Mabel Olson, who entertained at the Bartle home.

Valentine motifs were carried out both in the decorations and the menu served following the afternoon hours of sewing. Miss Ella Walden played several piano selections as an added pleasure to the guests, and Miss Dorothy Bartle served the luncheon. Bidden to extend Mrs. Bartle their good wishes were Mrs. M. G. Howard, Mrs. William Kuykendall, Mrs. Clarence Elkins, Mrs. W. B. Neal, Mrs. C. I. Collins, Mrs. G. P. Winchell, Mrs. N. E. Winnard, Mrs. A. H. Ross, Mrs. W. R. Newland, Mrs. A. E. Edbloom, Mrs. C. D. Donahue, Mrs. Harold Ed-
