

WIDOW OF JOHN GLAB AND HER NIECE CITED

Charged With the Slaying of Mrs. Glab's Mate

KILLED AT LOS ANGELES

Woman and Edith Kaser will be Arraigned in Court Monday on Formal Complaint

LOS ANGELES, Cal. June 20.—(AP)—Formal complaints charging murder were issued late today against Mrs. Hazel Garland Glab, 29 year old thrice married blonde, and her 17 year old niece, Edith Kaser. The two women had been held since late Monday night in connection with the murder that evening of John L. Glab, wealthy retired Chicago druggist and bootlegger, who married Mrs. Glab five months ago.

Both Mrs. Glab and her niece will be arraigned on the murder charges at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. At first it was planned to arraign the women at once and they were taken into court for that purpose with their attorneys. But at the last moment the plans were changed and the arraignment delayed.

Denies Divorce Intended

While being questioned at the inquest Mrs. Glab denied that Glab had talked of divorcing her. The police theory has been that a fear that Glab's plan to go to Nevada might be in connection with divorce proceedings, might have provided the motive in the slaying. For five minutes, Mrs. Glab, accompanied by deputy sheriffs, today stood at the side of her husband's body. She gazed at his face without show of emotion, according to the officers. Then the officers said, she turned to them and asked: "Have they found what size of bullet killed him yet?"

In addition to the young widow of the slain man and her niece had on murder charges the authorities are holding as a material witness W. R. McIntyre, young former Los Angeles policeman who figured in a shooting scrape with Mrs. Glab a year and a half ago—a year prior to her marriage to the wealthy retired druggist.

Fearing Former Policeman

The officers said they had been informed that Glab expressed a fear that the former policeman would "bump him off." Repeated threats of Glab to kill his wife, McIntyre and himself were told the police today by Mrs. Marian Adams. She entered the case when McIntyre told the officers that the morning after the shooting a woman named "Marian" called him on the telephone and told him of the former druggist's death. Mrs. Adams, who said she was a friend of the Glabs and knew McIntyre slightly, told the often made threats by Glab. "The last time was Wednesday of last week," she told the officers. "Glab came to our house and seemed gloomy. He said: 'This can't go on this way. I can't stand it. I'm going to kill you all—Hazel, myself and McIntyre.'"

DUTCH BEAT PARISIANS

HOLLAND SENDS FLOWERS TO PARIS BY PLANE

PARIS, June 20.—(AP)—Holland is sending flowers to Paris in less time than the Parisian florists can get their own products in from the suburban gardens. Airplanes loaded with roses, carnations, lilacs and sweet peas leave Aalsmeer every morning and the flowers are on sale here late the same day. This, say Paris florists, is merely the tangible evidence of a highly commercialized "factory" production of Dutch flowers that is making it difficult for the French growers to compete.

One of the leading French flower men, sent to Holland to investigate, returned in sadness. He does not fear for the business of a few large florists here who specialize in rare flowers and charge what they please, but he thinks the Dutch can now, or will soon, undersell the French in their own market on good, standard flowers and will make flowers cheaper for the masses.

NOBLE LOCATED ON FLOE AND SUPPLIES DROPPED FOR GROUP

a keen regret that he had been unable to take them on board and suggested, they might be able to work their way toward land with the use of the rubber boats which he dropped them.

He said he had seen nothing of Amundsen and expected to start tomorrow in search of those still with the dirigible and the three walkers.

With Maddalena today were Merigato Cagna and a mechanic.

Quest of Amundsen Next

If Amundsen and Gullbaud do not make themselves known tonight a hunt to find them necessarily greater in proportions than that for Noble and his crew, may be in order. Few doubt that Amundsen, his wireless out of commission, would have delayed long in communicating with Kings Bay, if for nothing else that he might ascertain whether the need for his expedition had passed. Some here saw a touch of irony in a situation that should have found Noble and lost Amundsen.

It appeared tonight that further rescue work for General Noble and the five men with him will take the form of five planes available now to keep in touch with the group, the two planes of Rilsner-Larsen and Holm, the Savoia-55, a seaplane piloted by Major Penzo, Italian, and a Swedish seaplane. Unless the ice in the vicinity of the group should open considerably and permit landing of the seaplanes these should be used principally now in keeping the castaways supplied with food and clothes, guiding dog teams and the ice breaker to them, and in attempts to find the 10 others of whom nothing has been heard.

SIX MEMBERS SHOT BY RADICAL DEPUTY

reported later to have surrendered to the police. The public and newspapers, which are profoundly stirred by the crime, recall the threat uttered in parliament last night by M. Popovitch, minister of hygiene, to Stefan Raditch: Deputy Regular Firebrand "I warn you that you will lose your head in parliament one of these days."

The dire prophecy was almost fulfilled, and other deputies shared with the attorney leader of the opposition in the tragic chastisement. Punica Ratchitch, who belongs to the government radical party, is a Montenegrin. In all recent disturbances in parliament he has been the noisiest and most vehement in his denunciation of the opposition led by Stefan Raditch. Like most Montenegrins he carried a revolver constantly, and the other deputies have been awed by his physical prowess. Premier Voukitchevitch called at the palace and informed the king of the shooting affray. The sovereign was deeply moved by a recital of the terrible scene and sent his condolences to the families of the dead deputies, and afterwards visited the hospital to see the wounded.

Democratic Members Resign BELGRADE, June 20.—(AP)—

The Democratic cabinet resigned this afternoon. It was indicated that their colleagues would follow suit and a new ministry would be formed with Raditch as a member, should he recover from the wounds he suffered today when a radical deputy emptied a revolver in the assembly at a group of opposition members.

Schiller's Plane Crashes MONTREAL, June 20.—(AP)—

Charles (Duke) Schiller, noted Canadian air pilot, crashed today at Shubert flying field in an amphibian plane in which he had intended to fly to Quebec. He was uninjured, although the plane was damaged. The engine of the craft stalled when the plane was a few feet off the ground.

Then Rasche Enjoyed NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP)—

Previous backers of Miss Thea Rasche, German stunt flier, served an injunction on her and A. R. Martine, banker and aviation enthusiast today, restraining them from using an airplane which Mrs. James A. Stillman recently obtained from Martine for the cross seas flight of the girl pilot.

HEALTH OF BOSS VITAL EXECUTIVE OF BIG BUSINESS PRONE TO ILLNESS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—(AP)—It is just as important to supervise the health of the boss of a large industry as to look after the physical welfare of his humblest worker, delegates to the American Medical association convention were told.

The speaker was Dr. Halstead G. Murray of Farmington, Mass., who addressed the section on preventive and industrial medicine and public health. "Practically everything in a factory is examined and inspected at regular intervals to prevent waste, wear and tear and to maintain the physical equipment of the plant at the highest possible state of efficiency, so why not examine the executive of the company at least once or twice a year to prevent excessive wear and tear?" Dr. Murray asked. "Executives are the key men of the industry, and it seems only reasonable for any company to give some thought to their welfare."

A well-meaning pedestrian said to a man who was employed to advertise on the street: "Pardon me, but do you know that your sand-which boards are turned wrong side out?"

"Sure I know it," was the snappy reply. "You don't suppose I'm going to work in me lunch hour, do you?"

There is no secret reason for Lucky Strikes' superiority. Toasting, an exclusive process, completes nature's work in thoroughly maturing the finest tobacco.
