Work Is Started On Remodeling May Store

Ax Billy Shop To Be Made Entirely Modern

Basement Department To Be Ready In July; Whole Interior To Be Renovated

Extensive alterations which will make the store entirely modern, and give it an extra floor have been started at the Ax Billy department store, the Eugene shop of May Stores, Inc., it was announced recently by L. L. Hurst, manager. Contract for the work has been let to Blair T. Alderman, local designer and builder, and workmen have already gone to work on the basement floor. Specifications call for Eugene union labor.

The basement will be converted into a modern basement store, Mr. Hurst said. All hardware, dishes, household furnishings and many other lines of merchandise will be carried in the downstairs store. Entrance to the basement will be located near the present main entrance on Willamette street.

A modern shoe department will be established where the hardware department is now located. The mens department will be completely renovated and a doorway will lead directly to it from Willamette street. Other changes will be made in this section of the store such as lowering shelving and improving the appearance of fixtures.

Department Grows Fast
The piece goods department is growing rapidly, the manager said, and in order to accommodate it, the middle shelving in the department will be removed. Tables will replace the shelves. The grocery department also will be renovated.

The entire store will be repainted on the interior, walls, ceiling, shelving, tables and counters being painted in ivory color. Work is also planned for the second floor in order that the ready-to-wear department may have more room.
When the alterations are completed, the floor space for selling will be much larger and many new lines will be carried, Mr. Hurst said. The store will be one of the most modern in the state and the stocks will be complete.
