(Register Lane County Special)
CRESWELL, Ore., July 12.— E. J. Hinkelbrook suffered an injury several weeks ago which obliges him to endure medical treatment and he is now in a hospital at Salem recuperating. His injury has made it impossible for him to keep up his farm work and one of his plans was the setting of an acre to kale. On Wednesday a few of his Masonic brethren undertook to do this for him, going to his farm about 4 p. m. and went to work, setting nearly half o. it by 8:30. In the meantime at 6:30 Mrs. Hinkelbrook served the men with a fine chicken dinner which was greatly appreciated by them.

The men who assisted in the work were N. E. Smith, Clay M. Stone, E. T. Folts, Wayne Land, J. R. Clack, Bert Thompson and C. H. Sedgwick. Another evening will be given to complete the setting of the plants.

PONSLER BUYS PROPERTY AT FLORENCE

(Register Lane County Special)
FLORENCE, Ore., July 12.— J. C. Ponsler, a recent arrival in Florence from Roseburg, after spending the past nine months here, has become thoroughly convinced that western Lane county is a land of future promise, and that the country will be developed on a large scale in the next few years. With the completion of the Roosevelt highway from Reedsport to Newport, the completion of the Mapleton hill market road and the New York-Florence highway No. 28, thousands of eastern and southern vacationists will visit this part of the state, which is the last to be developed. These vacationists will in turn be future home seekers and a general influx of travel will be noted within a few years.

Mr. Ponsler on the first of July consummated the purchase of a business lot on Front street and plans to erect in the future a building to be used for a garage and super-service station. The lot was purchased from Morris & Morris, who have held the property for many years. Mr. Ponsler has the Ford agency for western Lane county in his territory as well as Reedsport.

Mr. Mills will give a Special Permanent Wave for $5 for a short time only. Marcels 75c

S. Carlson accompanied him to Eugene.
