Wamic Items.

Geo. Magill and family have gone to Hood River for a short stay to visit relatives.

Emmet Zumwalt made a trip to Dufur last week for A. M. Patison's household goods.

Willis Norval and crew of men have been repairing the flume of the Badger creek ditch.

A little boy came to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Johnson last week. They named him Elmer Clark.

Although it has been a very cool rainy spring, the crops here are looking fine, and by the way Brent Driver was using an "armstrong mower" in his fine alfalfa field, would say, "hay time has come once more."

The Geneva Locke Co., who played three nights in the Wamic hall, were good and well worth seeing.

A. E. Lake is having his residence put in repair and will move his family out from the Dalles this week. They have many friends here and we are pleased to have them with us once more.

Mrs. Wilbur Wing hunt her foot by stepping on a nail and Dr. Shannon was called to lance it.

The sheep shearers will soon be home again.

Ab Griffin made a trip to Tygh Valley on business Tuesday.

Strawberries are ripe and all the fall grain is out of the boot here.

Maupin baseball team vs Wamic. Maupin mopped Wamic, but John says for Lester and Ernest not to worry. His boys were so bashful they could not play ball and look at the pretty girls too, and Maupin has so many, can you blame them?

Mrs. E. H. Rosecrantz and Mrs. A. H. Gillis visited with Mrs. Clara Schwale Tuesday. Wonder if Mrs. G. caught the rabbit she ran up a tree.

Tygh Valley Items

We are in sympathy with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Foster who lost their baby girl which was born Sunday morning at 9:30. The baby was buried at the Houser cemetery Monday morning.

We are sorry to say that Noah Flinn met with a serious accident near Walkersville, resulting in a broken limb. Dr. Shannon was called Tuesday afternoon and took the patient to The Dalles that evening.

Monday and Tuesday evenings The Madison Square Theatre Co. appeared at the hall in the plays, "My Old Kentucky Home," and "The Morning After." All were well pleased with the plays, and we expect to enjoy the one to be given tonight, "Ten Nights in the Bar Room."

Arthur Morris has returned home from The Dalles where he has been attending business college the past winter. Arthur is well known and liked by every one here and his many friends wish him the best success in his future work.

Pierce Mays is remodeling his old home near the Tygh Creek bridge into a modern bungalow.

John Muir and Raman Doreing spent last week in The Dalles.

Fairview District

A very enjoyable party was given at the Fairview school house last Saturday evening, June 5th, at which all of the eighth grade graduates who were present, were presented with their diplomas. All six of the graduating class passed with high averages, with honor to

YOUNG PEOPLE UNITE FORTUNES

Beckwith-Morris

Tygh Valley, Special to Times.

At 11 o'clock a. m. Wednesday, June 2nd, the wedding bells rang clear and bright, when Rev. Nathan Evans, pastor of the Methodist church of The Dalles, spoke the words which made Alice Beckwith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Beckwith, and Glen Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milt Morris, wife and husband. The bride was gowned in a dress of white lace, and the groom wore the conventional suit of navy blue serge.

The bride and groom have grown to womanhood and manhood in the vicinity of Tygh Valley and are the first and best young people of the county.

The bride had charge of the telephone office in Tygh Valley for one year to the entire satisfaction of every one. To say she had many friends is not necessary.

Glen Morris is one of Wasco County's best base ball players. He is now pitcher for the Maupin team, but June 2nd he was catcher, and surely caught the prize.

The many friends of these young people wish them all the joy that this old world can give to anyone.

themselves and credit to their teacher, Mr. G. W. Brown of Tygh Valley. Refreshments were served by the patrons of the school and Mrs. T. E. Morgensen presented each member of the class with a beautiful bouquet of flowers. About thirty-five people were present.

Miss Verna Martiu will leave

Friday, June 18, 7:30 p. m., at the band hall at Maupin the United Artisans will hold a meeting. Every Artisan should be present. After the business session ice cream and lemonade will be served with cake which the ladies will contribute. The doors will be opened after supper and every one is invited to a band concert at 8 o'clock.

Not to be Found

A chivarari party including Jake Davidson, Calvin McCorkle, Ruf McCorkle, Chas. E. Crofoot, L. D. Kelly and their families, three autos and a buggy from Tygh, went up to Milt Morris' Friday evening, but were so much in evidence in the action of getting there that the newlyweds became aware and escaped to the fields. Search though they would, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Morris were not to be found.

next week for Monmouth where she will take a short course in preparation for teaching next school year.

Joe Chastain, Jr., has several men at work pulling mustard on his ranch north of Maupin.

J. H. Chastain has started work on a reservoir lately. Mr. Chastain had a well drilled last summer and will soon have a first class water system in order.

Criterion Chronicles

Supervisor Fryman, Messers Kidder and Tunison and balance of the road crew deserve much praise for their good work on the Criterion-Maupin boulevard.

C. M. McLennan last week called at Criterion on his rounds of the sheep camps, preparatory to shearing, which began Saturday, last.

Owing to the lateness in shearing the fleeces are much heavier and of a finer quality than common.

J. E. Miller and L. B. DeCamp attended Artisan lodge at Maupin Friday night.

Edwin Kidder is at his parents' home, having finished 1914-15 term of high school at The Dalles.

Criterion citizens visiting Maupin recently, are J. B. Kidder, L. B. DeCamp, L. N. and J. O. Winfree, B. O. Nosker, Dale Bonney, J. E. Miller and C. A. Daws.

A. A. Canfield went to the McLennan ranch Friday last to cook for the shearing crew.

C. A. Daws made a business trip to The Dalles last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buzan have returned to their homestead after several months' absence at Bakeoven, where Mrs. Buzan taught school.

All growing crops are making excellent progress and owners are optimistic as to the outcome.

Jas. H. Baxter made two business trips to Tygh Valley last week.

J. E. Miller took in the "shearing sights" at the McLennan ranch Sunday last, incidentally stopping for dinner. The machine method of shearing, which is rather a novel sight to some, is quickly and carefully executed by the present crew, who also took the clip at Hay Creek.

Many are looking to an early harvest of crops this year; be that as it may, owing to providential weather, we will surely have plenty to do at harvest time.

Mrs. Job Crabtree and children went up to Herb Hammer's yesterday morning for a few days' visit.

NEW SCHOOL LAW THIS ELECTION

Can't be Followed

The following article with regard to Portland school elections may be of some value in solving local problems that will come up at elections to take place this month:

As the impossible cannot be expected in connection with an election, Attorneys Nicholas & McCoy have advised School Clerk Thomas that certain provisions of the new law governing school elections will have to be ignored at the election to be held June 19.

This provision is to the effect that when voters register they must state whether or not they are taxpayers. Only taxpayers are eligible to vote at a school election. The law further provides that the registration books shall be delivered to the election officials in the various precincts for the school election and be used the same as in other elections.

This caused the question to be raised as to what procedure should be adopted for the school election June 19, as the registration books do not show who are taxpayers, and registration time is past. The board's attorneys advised Clerk Thomas that the school election should proceed as in the past. The election officials can ask the voters if they are taxpayers. If doubt exists the voters may be required to make an affidavit that they are taxpayers.

In past school elections a citizen voter could vote at any polling place in the district, but at the forthcoming election all must vote in the precincts in which they are registered. The school board is given authority, however, to group precincts according to convenience and have but one polling place for each group of precincts.

When the new laws go into effect the corrupt practices act will also apply to school elections.

Temperance Big Point

Sunday's Oregonian gave space to some excellent pictures and a writeup of nearly a column on the Adventist camp meeting in Portland which closed Tuesday. The Times editor was on the grounds Saturday and Sunday and was present at a number of interesting meetings, one of which the Oregonian said:

"In the afternoon the whole period will be given over to a specially prepared temperance program. The various temperance organizations will be represented. There also will be special singing, recitations, solos, a chorus of 100 voices accompanied by a large and fine orchestra.

The Adventists as a people are especially strong prohibitionists and worked hard during the last campaign to help the amendment to carry. They are determined to work until the whole nation is dry. To aid in this purpose they arrange an elaborate program on the subject of temperance each year in all the 100 camp meetings that are held in the United States."

Made a Ford

There was an old man and he had a wooden leg, He had no money and he wouldn't beg;

He had a piece of pipe and a 12-inch board, And he said to himself: "I guess I'll make a Ford."

With a gallon of gas and a quart of oil,

And a piece of wire to make a coil,

Four great big spools and an old tin can;

He hammed them together and the thing ran.
