What He Thought.

A woman came into the store of G. Sides on Tuesday and said: "Harry, what would you think of a man who would eat two slices of ham, eight eggs, five large potatoes with the skins on them, six slices of bread and two cups of coffee?"

I said at once that he was a hog. She then informed me that it was her husband and got mad.

Just then her husband came in and called me aside and asked me what his wife said to me. I told him and he got sore, too. He wanted me to apologize, but I refused and told him if he said any more about it I would publish his name in the Democrat.

"I still say he is a hog,"—
Mifflin County Democrat.

Selling It.

They were just about to get married and were discussing the details of domestic economy.

"But I'm afraid, dearest, we shall not be able to afford a servant at first," he said, looking tenderly at her.

"O, Harry, what ever will the neighbors say when they see me doing my own work?"

"Why, darling," replied Harry, genuinely puzzled, "whoso work do you want to do?"

Fixing The Blame.

He found his own front porch with wonderful accuracy, navigated the steps with precision, and discovered the keyhole by instinct. Once in the dimly lighted hall there was an ominous silence, followed by a tremendous crash.

"Why what has happened, Henry?" came a voice from above.

"It's all right, Mary, but I'll—I'll learn those gold fish to snap at me!"—
Exchange.

British Arsenal at Woolwich Is Immense Plant.

Munitions of War Being Turned Out in Enormous Quantities to Supply Forces Engaged in France and Turkey.

When "Good Queen Bess," in 1585, decided to establish a store of arms and armor at the old Tower house, a mansion in Woolwich Warren, adjoining the then boggy and unhealthy marshes of Plumstead, she little thought that by so doing she was founding Britain's greatest arsenal, which 330 years later would be giving employment to 30,000 men, earning more than $500,000 a week for making munitions of war for the greatest conflict the world has ever seen.

That small armory at the Tower house, however, was the origin of the Woolwich arsenal of today, which covers 600 acres, and where guns of all sizes, every form of military wagon, shot, shell, torpedoes, cartridges, bullets, war signals, life-saving rockets, and high explosives are manufactured.

Even in the bygone days, however, Woolwich figured largely in military history. It was Prince Rupert who protected the Warren with batteries in Charles II's reign, and other fortifications, which have now disappeared, were added by that king's successor. The Dutch several times threatened the dockyards at Woolwich and at Chatham, while at the end of the seventeenth century two French privateers were captured off Woolwich.

It is obvious that the secrets of the arsenal are most jealously guarded, particularly at the present time. Indeed, the government, since the war broke out, has adopted the precaution of recalling all text-books about the arsenal, although in peace times, when the average number of men employed there is about 14,000, visitors of British nationality, desirous of seeing the arsenal, may do so by obtaining an order from the war office.

It might be mentioned, however, that among the most effective guns manufactured at Woolwich are the famous six-inch howitzers of which the French speak so highly, while one of the latest time-saving ideas is to dip military wagons bodily in huge tanks of paint and hang them up to dry.

Woolwich arsenal is really divided into three great departments, called respectively the Royal Gun factories, the Royal Carriage department and the Royal laboratory. It is in the latter that every kind of experiment is made with explosives, and where officers and soldiers learn their use and effectiveness, while in the gun factories, which are filled with machinery of the best and most modern kind, guns of all sizes are manufactured for the army and tested over the extensive practice ranges which were formerly the Plumstead marshes.

Apart from the actual workshops, there are various important military establishments at Woolwich. There is the Artillery college, for instance, which gives special training to officers of the Royal Artillery in order to fit them for appointments in the manufacturing departments of the arsenal. Then there is the Royal Military academy, the oldest military school in the kingdom, where men destined for the Royal Artillery or Royal Engineers begin their training.

The Royal dockyards at Woolwich was closed nearly fifty years ago, but it continues to be used as a military store depot, and it is interesting to note that it was the first, and for very long the principal, dockyard in the kingdom. The Great Harry was built there in 1562, the Royal George in 1751, the Galatea in 1859, and more than 200 other ships. And the curious may spend many an interesting hour in the Rotunda museum, which contains the finest collection of military antiquities and models in the world.

Rebuilt Federal Trucks

A Safe Used Truck to Buy.

A REBUILT FEDERAL is as good value for the money as a new truck. By rebuilt we mean that the truck is entirely taken apart, each part examined and if necessary replaced by a new part made at the Federal factory; the entire truck repainted and refinished, and everything necessary done to make the truck practically as good as new in every detail.

When you buy a rebuilt Federal, you are protected by the same policy and interest that we give to all Federal owners. We operate a repair department, in which the workmen are specialists on Federals, our supply of Federal parts is complete, and the stock room organization high class, which insures the prompt fitting of all parts orders. We also operate a service department, which is open day and night, "always at your call." The Federal being a good truck in the first place and protected by a company which is equipped and has the disposition to give you service is consequently

A SAFE USED TRUCK TO BUY.

If you are in the market for a truck from $1000 to $1400, we urge you to compare used Federals with new trucks at similar prices. We think we can convince you of their superior value.

Perfectly Dry Now.

A stranded but still haughty "leading lady" was obliged to put up at a dilapidated country hotel. She glanced frowningly about the office, reluctantly signed the register and took the brass key from the proprietress.

"Is there water in my room?" she demanded.

"Why, there was," replied the proprietress. "There was, but I had the roof fixed."—Kansas City Times.

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for nearly forty years, and to-day hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. They Kill Three Snakes With Which a Trout Run Man Was Battling.

Clearfield, Pa.—Permitted to roam through the woods at will, several pigs belonging to Henry Smith, a wealthy farmer near Trout Run, developed a great dislike for snakes.

Recently when Smith, while trying to kill two rattlesnakes and a blacksnake, which were fighting, was attacked by all three reptiles, his hogs, feeding a short distance away, heard the noise and, coming to his aid with their sharp hoofs and tusks, tore the snakes into shreds and devoured them.

The rattlesnakes, according to Smith, measured three feet in length. The blacksnake was the largest ever seen in this section.

GIVE ALL TO FRANCE

Rich and Poor Turn Over Hoarded Treasure.

Peddler and Seamstress Lead Great Line of Patriots Bringing Gold to Maintain Nation's Credit and Defense.

Paris.—Since the Bank of France opened special counters in Paris to receive the people's hoarded gold a few days ago the yellow coins have continued to flow in an uninterrupted stream. Depositors exchanged gold for bank notes in the first four days in Paris to the extent of $3,000,000. No reports from the provinces have been made out.

Capitalists went to the bank in automobiles, taking little bags of gold to strengthen the credit of France and help in the national defense. In the early morning hours working men and small employers hurried in on the way to their labor to hand in their jealously preserved savings.

First to respond to the call for more gold were a street lemonade seller who brought two napoleons wrapped in a big rag, and a little seamstress, who proudly gave her solitary coin.

All who take gold to the bank get in return a receipt slip as a souvenir, saying for their country's sake they have parted with their treasure.

In addition to equivalent value in paper money the Bank of France can issue legally three bank bills of $20 for every $20 in gold. When Finance Minister Ribot asked the governor of the Bank of France to open special gold-receiving offices in Paris and its provincial branches M. Pallain already had taken steps to this end.

Inquiries in many competent quarters have led to the estimate that gold money held privately in France amounts to $700,000,000, or nearly $80,000,000 less than the total gold reserve now at the Bank of France.

Few of the depositors say: "I wish to exchange gold," or, "I wish to pay in gold." All make the simple remark: "I bring gold."

Rich and poor alike are conscious they are taking gold, not to the bank, but for France.

It would be a mistake for the public to imagine that it is making a sacrifice in exchanging gold for notes, since the gold is unemployed and therefore unprofitable. The bank is naturally anxious to keep as large a reserve as possible so as to maintain fully the credit of its paper issues and at the same time enable the government to pay for supplies from abroad in gold.

Another reason why the government wishes the nation's gold to be held in the strong hands of the bank is to prevent it from being withdrawn privately under false pretenses to find its way to the enemy by trickery. Germany and Austria are in desperate straits financially, and are ready to adopt the most deceitful practices to get gold.

SINGS TO HER DEAD BABY

Child Had Drowned in Four Inches of Water While Mother Was in Another Room.

New York.—Mrs. Bernard Morris of 2375 Eighth avenue left her son Philip, fifteen months old, and her daughter Helen, two years old, lying in four inches of water in the bathtub while she went into another room.

In a few moments she heard the little girl scream. Rushing into the bathroom, she found the baby floating face downward in the water. Thinking the baby had only turned over, the mother dried him carefully and put him in his cradle.

For several minutes she sang and rocked the baby, and then, seeing he was quiet, she put her hand on the child's face. It was cold. Doctor Rosenbluth of the Harlem hospital, who was summoned, said the child was drowned.

Hopeful.

"Mister," said the small boy who was sitting on a rock by the roadside, "do you s'pose they's any kidnapers goin' through the country this time of year in automobiles?"

"I haven't heard of any."

"But sometimes they come along unexpected, don't they?"

"I suppose so."

"Well, I'm goin' to hang on here a little while longer. There's enough chores waitin' fur me at home to keep me goin' till 10 o'clock tonight an' I ain't never had an automobile ride in my life."—Washington Star.

Useful.

"What kind of work could you possibly do around an office?"

"I'm a kind of all-round handy man, mister. I kin hold a door open, light a match for ye, look out an' see if it's rainin', call a taxi, drop letters down the chute, an' tell folks yer out when ye ain't."—Life.

A Good Job.

A certain cottage and its old mistress had improved so greatly in comfort and appearance that a visitor shrewdly surmised that the son of the house, a lazy ne'er-do-well, had turned over a new leaf. He inquired about it.

"Yes sir, my son's in work now," said the smiling old mother. "Makes good money, he does, too. All he has to do is to go twice a day to the circus and put his head in the lion's mouth. The rest of 'is time 'e 'aa to himself."—Buffalo News.

An Advantage.

"To what do you attribute your remarkable health?"

"Well," replied the very old gentleman, "I reckon I got a good start on most people by bein' born before germs was discovered, thereby havin' less to worry about."—Washington Star.

How Did He Dodge That?

Designing Widow—Speaking of conundrums, can you tell me why the letter "d" is like the marriage service?

Slowboy—I'm no good at conundrums. Why?

Widow—Because "we" can't be "wed" without it.—Boston Transcript.

Cut the Cost of Living!

A plate of hot biscuits or muffins, a fresh, home-baked cake, a loaf of brown or nut-bread, rescues any meal from the commonplace, and more expensive things are never missed.

With K C, the double acting baking powder, good results are doubly certain. There's economy too, in the cost of K C.

ARE YOU DISFIGURED BY SKIN ERUPTION?

Pimples, rashes, ringworm, prickly heat and, worst of all, that red itching, scaly torment, eczema, vanish when you use resinol ointment and resinol soap. There is no doubt about it. Even though your skin is so unsightly with eruption that you shun your friends and your friends shun you, resinol usually makes it clear and healthy, quickly, easily and at trifling cost. When you are sick of wasting time and money on tedious, expensive treatments, get resinol ointment and resinol soap from the nearest druggist and you will quickly see why physicians have prescribed these for twenty years for just such troubles as yours! Great for sunburn. —Adv.

"How do you know that Blinks has had a raise in salary?"

"He argues that the world is getting better, that the danger from monopolies has been greatly magnified, and that human nature isn't so bad after all."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Offhand Comment.

"Bliggins says tobacco is disagreeable and unnecessary."

"Yes," replied the sardonic smoker, "but it's all a matter of opinion. I should say the same thing about Bliggins."—Washington Star.

Woes of an Author.

"How's your new book coming on?"

"Passably well. The demand isn't what it should be. I mean among the purchasers. And, of course, if people don't buy the book there's nothing in it for me."

"I see. By the way, I'm reading it now. Blinks loaned me a copy that Tompkins borrowed from Bradley. Pretty fair story."

HAROLD SOMERS, 160 DeKalb Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

One day Dr. Reed bought a new horse, with which he was much pleased until he discovered that the animal had an insurmountable objection to bridges of all kinds and could not be made to cross one.

Inasmuch as at that period it was necessary to cross certain bridges in order to reach any one of the surrounding towns, the doctor decided to sell the horse. He did not think it necessary to mention the animal's peculiarity but was much too honest to misrepresent him and, after some thought, produced the following advertisement, which he inserted in a local paper:

"For Sale—A bay horse, warranted sound and kind. The only reason for selling is because the owner is obliged to leave Boston."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Ouch!

"It says here that blue is the only color that can be determined by the sense of touch," remarked the Old Fogey. "Do you believe that?"

"Sure I do," replied the Grouch. "You have often felt blue, haven't you?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Intense Sarcaasm.

"What are those, girle?"

"Summer furs."

"To ward off the scorching rays of sun, eh? I suppose when you want to keep cool at home you put on a buffalo robe kimono."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
