HEILG THEATRE

MADE PROFIT OF HIS VISIT

Unexpected Call of Paderewski Is Turned to Good Account by Music Teacher.

Paderewski arrived in a small western town about noon one day and decided to take a walk in the afternoon. While strolling along he heard a piano and, following the sound, came to a house on which was a sign reading: "Miss Jones. Piano Lessons 25 Cents an Hour."

Pausing to listen, he heard the young lady trying to play one of Chopin's nocturnes and not succeeding very well.

Paderewski walked up to the house and knocked. Miss Jones came to the door and recognized him at once. Delighted, she invited him in and he sat down and played the nocturne as only Paderewski can, afterward spending an hour in correcting her mistakes. Miss Jones thanked him and he departed.

Some months afterward he returned to the town and again took the same walk.

He soon came to the home of Miss Jones and, looking at the sign, read: "Miss Jones. Piano Lessons $1 an Hour. (Pupil of Paderewski)."

Horrible Possibility.

"Our engagement was most romantic. I was traveling with her party at the time, and I proposed to her in the far West on the edge of a mountain gorge."

"Oh, suppose she had thrown you over!"—Baltimore American.

MOTHER OF SCHOOL GIRL

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Daughter's Health.

Plover, Iowa.—"From a small child my 13 year old daughter had female weakness. I spoke to three doctors about it and they did not help her any. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had been of great benefit to me, so I decided to have her give it a trial. She has taken five bottles of the Vegetable Compound and she started taking the Compound and her periods did not come right. She was so poorly and weak that I often had to help her dress herself, but now she is regular and is growing strong and healthy."—Mrs. MARTIN HELVIG, Plover, Iowa.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you are ill do not drag along and continue to suffer day in and day out but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Northwest Auto Dealer Back.

Three Weeks' Journey Through East Makes Him Optimistic.

Mr. F. W. Vogler, president of the Northwest Auto company, returned last Sunday from a three weeks' trip through the East.

He comes back charged with enthusiasm and happy over securing one of the biggest Reo contracts that the Northwest ever received. This contract provides for the selling of 1000 Reo cars and trucks in the Northwest territory, which comprises Oregon, Washington and a part of Idaho.

Mr. Vogler says that the East is more prosperous than ever. It seemed to him almost like a new country, the improvement was so marked since his last trip, eight months ago. This condition in general, he says, is true of every line of industry. There is a job for every man who can handle a tool, while the demand for labor in the fields is enormous, due to the extremely heavy crops.

There will be a wonderful crop throughout the East, says he, and prosperity is on her way to the Coast. Even now there is an improved spirit. Confidence and determination, together with the constantly increasing development of our natural resources and the immense foreign demand, assure good times for the West, as well as for the East.

Mr. Vogler found his own line in a most excellent condition. The Reo factory, which during the year just past manufactured 16,000 cars, are preparing to build 20,000 this coming season. This is doubly remarkable when one considers how the Reo car is built in its entirety, from rear axle to radiator, in the Reo plant. It is not, like over 50 per cent of the cars made in America, simply assembled by the factory.

He also found that although Detroit, Mich., is the home of over 80 per cent of the cars made in this country, there were sold last season in that city alone over 550 Reo cars, yet the Reo is not built at Detroit, but at Lansing. This fact is significant.

CAPONS BRING PREMIUM OVER ROOSTERS

Typical Capon, a Wyandotte—Notice the Absence of Comb, Wattles and the Long Hackle Feathers, and the Plump, Well-Filled Body.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Capons sell best during the winter months, especially from Christmas to the end of March, and are regularly quoted in large markets, usually at a very substantial premium over roosters. The high price paid for capons is merited because of the excellent quality of their flesh. The cockerel and capon make about an equal development when they are both young, but the capon soon outstrips the cockerel in growth. The capon finishes off and fattens more readily and economically.

Cockerels, after they are five months old, usually bring 12 to 18 cents a pound. If held longer than this, however, they become "staggy" and are classed as old roosters, and do not bring more than 6 to 12 cents a pound. Capons in season, that is, during the winter months, and especially about holiday time, bring 18 to 25 cents and often more per pound. In localities where especially fine poultry is raised, capons usually sell at somewhat better prices than roosters, but the difference is not great. In fact, in the Boston market many capons are picked clean and sold as "South shore roasters." The market for capons depends largely on local conditions, but the demand continues good notwithstanding the fact that more are raised each year.

As capons are not usually marketed before Christmas or the first of January, they have to be housed during the late fall and early winter. Because of their quiet disposition they stand crowding quite well and have been successfully housed with only two or three square feet of floor space to a fowl. It is better, however, to allow four to five feet if possible.

During the last month or month and a half before marketing, the corn in the ration should be gradually increased until the fowls are on a full fattening ration. For the last two or three weeks it is desirable to shut them up and feed them in crates, for every possible ounce at this stage adds to the appearance and profit. Machine cramping is sometimes practiced the last week with excellent results.

Killing and Dressing for Market.

The capons selected for killing should be confined for 24 hours without food or water, to completely empty their crops. The usual method of killing is known as the sticking method. The fowl is hung up by the feet, the head being in the left hand, and the whole body stretched to full length. The mouth is forced open and, by means of a sharp, narrow-bladed knife held in the right hand, the blood vessels at the back of the throat are severed with a single sweep. The knife is then turned and the point plunged through the roof of the mouth to a point just behind and between the eyes. The brain is here reached, and if properly stuck all feeling is then lost.

Capons should always be dry picked, as they look much better and as some of the feathers should be left on. The feathers of the neck and head, the tail feathers, those a short way up the back, the feathers of the last two joints of the wing, and those of the leg, about one-third of the way from knee to hip joint, should be left on. These feathers, together with the head of the capon, serve to distinguish it from other classes of poultry on the market, and consequently should never be removed. Capons scalded and plucked have bring very little, if any, better prices than other poultry in the same condition.

Most markets require capons to be undrawn and the head and feet left on. If drawing is required the vent should be cut around and the intestines pulled out until the gizzard is reached, where it is broken off. Nothing else is removed.

Cooling and Packing.

After picking, the carcasses are hung in a cool place until the animal heat has entirely left the body, when they are packed in boxes of convenient size, holding about a dozen carcasses. Every attention should be given to neatness and attractiveness, as this helps the sale and the price. If they are shipped in warm weather they should be packed in ice.

It is extremely difficult to make any general statement concerning the profits yielded by capons. That they yield a profit is practically all cases is undoubtedly true, but whether the profit is sufficient to give up to them the time and room they require is a question which must be settled by each man's experience and by local conditions.

WAS QUITE TOO THOUGHTFUL

Husband Who Received Basket of Soft-Shell Crabs From Wife Saved the Bread for Himself.

"Yes, I've heard from my wife and she's going to hear from me. Down on the shore where she is they have the very finest soft-shell crabs that ever used a nipper, and when they're fried they show themselves for the kindly disposition critters they are. Well, this morning I got word from my wife that she was going to send some of 'em fried and ready to eat. 'A fine lot' is the way she told me about 'em, and I had visions of about a bushel of 'em; so I promptly notified friends in the East end that they were on the eat."

"When the package arrived at the office it wasn't as large as I had expected, but I told myself not to be greedy and decided to make a fair division. Division seemed easy, for the package contained two smaller packages. Opening one, I sampled the goods and found them worth while and then passed them around in the office. They lasted three minutes. Then with the other package neatly tied I took a car for the East end. This is where the drama approaches the 'smash.'"

"My wife is a very thoughtful woman. When she provides a lunch she provides the trimmings. It was quite a little snack she wanted me to have at the office and she carefully put the crabs in one package and—"

"Yes, you have it! When I proudly opened that package in the presence of my East end friends, I found that it contained four slices of bread!"—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

A Strategist.

Downtown—Here comes Blinkers. He's got a new baby, and he'll talk us to death.

Upton—Well, here comes a neighbor of mine who has a new setter dog. Let's introduce them and leave them to their fate.—Life.

The Sorrow of it.

"Is there no hope about the Jinks' rich old uncle?"

"None whatever. The doctor told them this morning he was likely to die for years."—Baltimore American.

Her Thoughts.

She—Why so pensive, dear? What are you thinking about?

She—I was thinking that if all the faras husbands give their wives could be knitted up, what a lot of socks and mittens there'd be for the brave soldiers.—Philadelphia Record.

Maid or Cook.

The Wife—Do you know that you have not kissed me for over a week?

Absent-minded professor—Eh! Then I wonder who in the world I have been kissing?—Boston Transcript.

Human Churn

WHEN the food reaches the stomach it is subjected to a peculiar churning movement by the muscular walls of the stomach.—(See Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, page 45). In the blood, kidneys and skin, the blood is purified of its waste materials—these organs act as human filters, leaving the blood pure and clear—unless liver, digestive tract and kidneys are clogged.

MORE REST.

Lady—You lazy tramp! Why are you not a son of toil?

Hobo—Because, lady, it is so much easier to be a son of soil.

Progressive.

"Well, I like your cheek!" exclaimed the indignant maid, after the young man had landed a kiss on her complexion.

"And I like yours," he rejoined. "But I imagine I would like your lips better."

Whereupon he planted another mild rooster right under her nose.

Needed Sleep.

"Please give me the price to get into a moving picture show?" pleaded the tramp to the man passing.

"But will you spend it to get to the movies?" asked the suspicious man.

"Indeed I will, sir. You see, since the cops have chased us out of the park benches there's no other place we can go to sleep as cheap as the movies."

The Champion.

"What are you boys doing?" asked the man.

"Telling lies; the one who tells the biggest gets the stick of candy."

"What? Why, when I was your age I never told a lie," growled the man.

"Here's the candy, mister; you win," chorused the youngsters.

Pat's Solution.

"Plaze, sir," said an Irishman to a farmer going to market one day, "would you be so obliging as to take me greatace here to B-wid ye?"

"Yes, said the farmer; "but how will you get it again?"

"Oh, that's mighty aisy, so it is," said Pat; "for shure I'll rema: inside uv it!"—Tit-Bits.

It Certainly Would.

Flatush—It is said that the letter-carriers in Portugal save themselves much work on Sunday by delivering letters in church.

Bensonhurst—Would think it might interfere with his enjoyment of the service if a man in his pew is handed a bunch of bills.

Base Deception.

Rankin—That's the greatest skin game I ever saw.

Phyle—What do you mean?

"That show advertises a tattooed man."

"Well!"

"And the gink inside is simply covered with transfer pictures."

For Bachelors.

"Why are you unhappy?" we asked the unspeaking Turk. "Here you have just wed a third beautiful wife."

"That's all right so far as it goes," he responded. "But when I had only two I held the balance of power, but now—"

The Modern Method.

"Your new novel is in some ways a bit out of date."

"How, for example?"

"Well, you make the heroine sweep the room with a glance, when today everybody is using vacuum cleaners."

Novel Proposal.

"Have you ever been engaged to be married before?" asked the young man.

"Yes; six times," replied the sweet young thing.

"Well, if your hand is not working just now I'd like to ask for it."

Difference of Opinion.

He—You are the idol in my heart.

She—That's all right, but I don't intend to have any idle business in this family.

Couldn't Fool Her.

"Where are you telephoning from, dear?"

"From my office, dovey."

"No, you are not. I can tell the difference between the click of a typewriter and the click of pool balls."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Sanitary Precautions.

"Hey, Molke, and phwat do ye think of these new sanitary drinkin' cups?"

"Sure, Pat, and soon we'll have to spit on our hands wid an eye dropper!"—Gargoyle.

NO DOUBT THAT RESINOL DOES STOP ITCHING

It is a fact that the moment resinol ointment touches itching skins, the itching stops and healing begins. With the aid of resinol soap, it almost always clears away all traces of eczema, Summer rashes, pimples, or similar tormenting, unsightly eruption quickly, leaving the skin clear and healthy.

And the best of it is you need never hesitate to use resinol soap and resinol ointment. Resinol is a doctor's prescription which for twenty years has been used by careful physicians for many kinds of skin affections. They know that its soothing, healing action is brought about by medication on hand and gentle as to be suited to the most delicate or irritated skin. Resinol ointment and resinol soap are sold by all druggists.—Adv.

No Skeptic.

"Do you believe that there is really something which can invariably tell when a man is lying?"

"I know it!"

"Ah, perhaps you have seen one of the instruments?"

"Seen one? I married one!"—Houston Post.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. Easy to take.

After the Rescue.

"What made you swim so far beyond the breakers," asked the life-guard, indignantly.

"I wanted a chance to look at the ocean instead of the bathing suits."—Washington Star.

Our Boarding House.

"What's the trouble this morning?"

"Sah! There's a green water on duty and a guy who is behind with his rent got the star boarder's breakfast."—Kansas City Journal.

Rather Pathetic.

"Why do you treasure these old love letters of your grandmother's?"

"I never had any of my own," sighed the other girl.—Kansas City Journal.

"I think," said Mrs. Thompson, "that children ought to stay home with their mothers."

And then, as well as the applause would let her, she went right on again.—Washington Star.

Illustration.

"That girl ahead of us reminds me of a flower, but I can't recall just what one."

"Oh, look! She's just tripped on a banana peel!"

"Now I know. She's a lady slipper."

Rebuilt Federal Trucks

A SAFE USED TRUCK TO BUY.

A REBUILT FEDERAL is as good value for the money as a new truck. By rebuilt we mean that the truck is entirely taken apart, each part examined and if necessary replaced by a new part made at the Federal factory, the entire truck repainted and refinished, and everything necessary done to make the truck practically as good as new in every detail.

When you buy a rebuilt Federal you are protected by the same policy and interest that we give to all Federal owners. We operate a repair department, in which the workmen are specialists in Federal, our supply of Federal parts is complete, and the stock room organization high class, which insures the prompt filling of all parts orders. We also operate a service department, which is open any day and night, always at your call. The Federal being a good truck in the first place and protected by a company which is equipped with the best tools and machinery, you are consequently protected.

A SAFE USED TRUCK TO BUY.

If you are in the market for a truck from 1909 to 1910, we urge you to compare value Federal with new trucks at similar prices. We think we can convince you of their superior value.
