Wamic Items,

Pleasant memories of the fair at Tygh Valley still linger in the heart. This was one of the most successful fairs that have been held at that place. Much credit is due the association for the generous arrangement of the event. The exhibits were good for so short a time used in the preparation of the ground and so forth. The children's industrial work won much admiration and showed good work on the part of the teachers from the different districts. Prof. Scourvin and Mrs. Viva Driver of this place had a number of enthusiastic pupils who won prizes. Prof. Benington and other teachers of Tygh made many worthy displays. Mrs. George Crofoot of District No. 48, on Juniper, was a very ardent worker in the children's industrial work. Mrs. Crofoot is one of the few teachers who has introduced the sand table in the school room and she finds it a practical help to the children. Her pupils won many premiums. Many other features of the fair were interesting and an immense crowd was in attendance. The proceeds of the fair were very satisfactory. The play given at Tygh in the evening won much applause and the attendance there was good.

The infant son of Jack Fraley was buried here Wednesday. The babe was only three weeks old.

The baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waite of Badger Creek died Saturday at the home of Grandma Morris at Tygh Valley.

Mrs. J. R. Woodcock has been very ill recently.

A much needed shower of rain fell here and at Tygh Valley Wednesday afternoon.

A number of hogs were hauled from this place and Smock to the depot at Sherar this week.

Mrs. Orange Britton was sick a few days last week.

Mrs. Sophia Kistner is visiting at the C. E. Pratt home.

Smock Items 2

Blaine Disbrow is building a shed to use for farming implements and vehicles.

Smock was well represented at the Tygh Valley fair and displayed some fine garden produce grain and apples. Mr. C. Cline took first prize on potatoes and wheat. James McCoy had the finest and best display of apples, prunes and onions.

Cal Duncan returned to the Hartman sawmill Sunday after spending a day at the fair and visiting with his parents.

Those hauling hogs to Sherar for shipping Saturday were J. W. Ayres, Orrin Farlow, David Mayfield, Roy Fleck, T. J. Whitcomb, C. S. McCorkle and John End.

Mrs. John Farlow and Mrs. Leone Hull were Tygh Valley visitors Monday.

L. W. Yockey is home from the mountains where he has been employed by the Government during the summer.

Mike Kennedy and sons drove a number of their cattle out of the mountains to ship from Sherar Saturday.

The sound of Henry Mayfield's hammer is heard early and late on the building of his house.

Wayne Spoor and wife started for Catalow Valley, Oregon, Tuesday, where they have a homestead. F. E. Spoor accompanied them as far as Wapinitia. Mulvaney & Sons filled an order for finishing lumber for Dr. Brown's residence at Tygh Valley.

Mulvaney & Sons are sawing lath for J. T. Harper of Tygh Valley to be used in finishing a couple rooms over his store.

Grant Ledford was selling apples Monday in Tygh Valley.

Mrs. Nora Mulvaney brought her little granddaughter home with her from the fair Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Gesh, the parents came for her Sunday.

Winter days are drawing nigh but Roy Fleck is preparing for summer days, being engaged in hauling sawdust for an ice house.

Wapinitia Items

Dr. and Mrs. Hatfield are in town for a few days.

J. I. West took a fine load of hogs to Maupin last week.

The Southern Wasco County Fair was well represented by the Wapinitia people last week and all report a fine time.

Mrs. V. B. Tapp has been on the sick list this week but is better now.

Carl Pratt was a Wapinitia visitor Sunday.

Clinton Knopf, a well known young man of this place, was united in marriage to a Portland girl last week. The couple are living on their homestead south of here.

Geo. Magill made a business trip to Wapinitia Tuesday.

Archie Tapp has been having some work done on his teeth by Dr. Hatfield.

Mrs. M. E. Hartman and son Lincoln started for the valley Sunday to visit relatives.

Schools were close last Friday all over the Flat in honor of the Southern Wasco fair.

Work is progressing nicely on the new hotel which is being erected in Wapinitia by Mr. Barzee.

Sid Wilson took some horses to Tygh to sell, but the horse buyer was not there on account of the illness of his wife.

The Ladies' Aid of Wapinitia are planning to hold a bazaar on the evening of November 12. Refreshments will be served.

Home, home, sweet, sweet home, is being sung by some of the Wapinitiaites since returning home from their camping trip at the Tygh fair.

Jackson Rice was employed by V. B. Tapp to run the merry-go-round at the fair last week.

Services are being held at the church every Sunday as follows: Sunday School 10 a. m., preaching 11 a. m., Young People's meeting 7 and preaching 8 p. m., Rev. Mr. Staines as pastor.

Mrs. John Lewis is among the many others having dental work done this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gabel were visitors over night at Wapinitia Saturday night.

What a long dry spell, seems to be the cry heard far and near these days. Some good brisk showers would surely be welcome guests. Some of the early sown grain has sprouted and died for lack of moisture, a very unusual occurrence in this section of the country.
