Little Johnny was in bed with measles.

"Won't you please ask my teacher to come and see me?" he asked his mother one day.

"You dear, good boy," exclaimed his mother. "Do you really love your teacher so much?"

"It ain't that, mother," replied Johnny. "I want her to catch the measles so the other boys can stay away from school, too."

She Was So Glad!

There is a man who used to be notoriously egotistic. Some of his acquaintances were one day speaking of him before an old woman who was not "up" in the slang expressions of the day.

The next time she put out a congratulatory hand.

"Oh, Mr. Smith," she cried, "I am so glad you are better. I heard last week that you had a swelled head!"

To Clear Bad Com- plexions Use Resinol

Bathe your face for several minutes with Resinol soap and hot water, then apply a little Resinol ointment very gently. Let this stay on ten minutes, and wash off with Resinol soap and more hot water, finish with a dash of cold water to close the pores. Do this once or twice a day, and you will be astonished to find how quickly the healing Resinol medication soothes and cleanses the pores, removes pimples and blackheads, and leaves the complexion clear and velvety.

Resinol ointment and Resinol soap stop itching instantly and speedily heal skin humors, sores, burns, wounds and chafing. Sold by all druggists.

Animated Drawings Illustrate Lectures

In illustrating a lecture in which armor plate and armor-piercing projectiles were discussed not long ago at the British Institution of Mechanical Engineers, an interesting employment was made of motion pictures. A number of drawings in which a shell was shown leaving a gun, hitting a plate of armor, the cap then breaking into pieces, the projectile passing through metal protection and subsequently detonating, were filmed. The pictures when projected on a screen showed graphically what original photographs could not have portrayed. The drawings had been carefully executed and the resulting effect was good.—From the November Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Up Pike's Peak by Auto

KING MOTOR is conquering Pike's Peak. More than a century ago Lieut. Zebulon Montgomery Pike discovered the mountain which now bears his name, and, accompanied by his little band, made a determined effort to reach its summit. It cost him ten days of marching to reach its base, and after a laborious ascent which brought him only to the crest of one of the nearby mountains, he was forced to give up the attempt, predicting in his diary that no human would ever scale its rocky heights.

Thirteen years later, however, Dr. Edwin James with a portion of the exploration party under Maj. S. H. Long, found an easier approach from the eastern side and after a hazardous climb reached the summit on July 14, 1819.

Then came the United States government engineers who constructed a winding trail from Manitou to the top of the great mountain and built there an experimental station that study might be made of weather conditions three miles above sea level. This led to the building of a carriage road from Cascade in Ute pass to the top of the mountain; and almost simultaneously there came the cog railroad. It was built in 1890, making the ascent in nine miles from its Manitou depot. This is one of the most famous of the world's mountain railroads.

And now in 1915 comes the supreme conquest of the mighty peak. The constructive ability of the American engineer has won another triumph, for since September 1, automobiles have been traveling on the "World's Highest Highway" to a point within five miles of the pinnacle of the mountain; and construction gangs are pushing rapidly the grade of this road through bowlder fields above timber line to the summit. On the first day of September there was opened to travel the first twelve miles of the highway, which connects with the Pike's Peak Ocean-to-Ocean Highway in Ute pass at Cascade, ten miles west of Colorado Springs and five miles west of Manitou.

Built by Private Capital. Before congress closed its sixty-third session, it granted the right-of-way for an automobile road that would traverse the Pike national forest and wind its way up the northern slopes to the top of the peak. When the government granted this right-of-way through a national forest for a toll road, it did an unprecedented thing. But there were good and sufficient reasons. It was shown that such a highway would be a big asset in developing the nation's scenic wonders and it is becoming Uncle Sam's hobby to advocate "See America First" and to keep within this country some of the millions of dollars that have been going to other corners of the world. The building of this highway was a stupendous an undertaking and involved so large a financial outlay that it was certain it could not be undertaken in many a year unless by private capital. And so the government gave its consent and its co-operation, reserving the right to purchase the road at any time at its actual cost, and imposing strict regulations with reference to the usage, tolls and management of the highway.

THE HIGHWAY OF THE UTE PASS

Amid a profusion of wild flowers, through groves of pines and aspens, the highway proceeds. Often, as the motor climbs, it will be enveloped in a fleecy cloud. Higher and higher the car climbs, but the grade is so easy that one does not realize that he is at the summit until he can see the world about him, east, west, north and south. Sixty thousand square miles of scenery—wild, massive, awe-inspiring—can be viewed from the seat of the motor car. There below is Colorado Springs, its broad avenues and boulevards gleaming in the sun. Far out into eastern Colorado are the farms, little green patches upon the drab prairie. Back in the chasms west of the peak are grotesque formations, and in the western horizon are the snow-capped Sangre de Christo and the giant peaks of the great continental divide. At the summit one can snowball in August as well as in December. Pike's Peak just scrapes the snow out of the frosty clouds as they pass by. In the Pike's Peak region the motorist will find a variety of trips so great that he can suit any day's mood.

FISHING SEASON A GOOD ONE

Icelanders Have Reason to Congratulate Themselves on the "Catches" They Have Made.

The Icelandic fishing season has been a very good one this year, according to the report of the acting British consul at Reykjavik. He says that the fishing smacks have probably never had such a good year, fine weather and the undisturbed state of the banks favoring them. Motor boats and rowing boats obtained average results of the Westmann islands, where fishing was very poor at the beginning of the season, but improved in April. At Sandgerdi, which is said to be becoming one of the largest fishing stations in Iceland, the fishing was carried out by about thirty large motor boats, and the results were probably a record. The line and net fishing of the south and southwest coast was very fair and the fish of good quality. The fishing in the western fjords has been rather poor this year, but may improve. ## NOT CONDUCTIVE TO OLD AGE

Youngster of 80 is Told by Man of 92 He Will Never Be Old Man on Account of Habits.

The late John Bigelow, the patriarch of diplomats and authors, and the no less eminent physician and author, Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, were together several years ago at West Point. Doctor Bigelow was then ninety-two and Doctor Mitchell eighty.

The conversation turned to the subject of age. "I attribute my many years," said Doctor Bigelow, "to the fact that I have been most abstemious. I have eaten sparingly and have not used tobacco and have taken little exercise."

"It is just the reverse in my case," explained Doctor Mitchell. "I have eaten just as much as I wished, if I could get it; I have always used tobacco, immoderately at times, and I have always taken a great deal of exercise."

With that, Ninety-two Years shook his head at Eighty Years and said: "Well, you will never live to be an old man!"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

A Hearty Welcome.

"And who are you?" asked St. Peter as he peeped through the slats of the pearly gate.

"Why, I'm of the earth earthy," replied the new arrival. "Just out of college."

"Good!" exclaimed the old man. "We need somebody to tell us how to run this place, so come right in and give us the benefit of your advice."

The Hospitable Board.

"Your wife's dinner parties are always beautiful affairs."

"Yes," replied Mr. Cumrox. "At first people didn't seem to want to come to 'em. I guess maybe the high cost of living is making a difference."

WOULD FOR NOTHING.

While there were many difficulties the construction of this highway was not a hard task for the modern engineer. For part of the way from Cascade it follows the general line of the old carriage road built in 1888.

Scenery is Unexcelled.

Every mile of the highway to the summit is crowded with scenic interest. From Colorado Springs the route goes through beautiful Manitou and then into Ute pass, a 30-mile cleft in the mountain down which the Ute Indians used to come to Manitou to drink of the mineral waters there.

"Fido, sit up and show the gentle man how to kiss me, and I'll give you some nice dinner."

"I'll do the same thing, and I won't ask for any dinner as a reward, either."

What He Would Like.

Hobo—Please gimme a nickel ma'am?

Old Lady—Didn't I see you coming out of a saloon a moment ago?

Hobo—I guess maybe you did, ma'am.

Old Lady—Well, I wonder you are not ashamed to own it.

Hobo—I don't own it, ma'am. I only wish I did.

Manipulating the Scales.

"Your daughter is doing fairly well with her music," said the professor, "but somehow she just can't run the scales properly."

"Oh, I suppose that's an inherited trait," rejoined the fond mother. "Her father made his money in the grocery business."

Had Practice.

The Coed—I don't see how you can read Chaucer so readily. The spelling is so queer.

The Professor of English—I've had lots of experience while examining the sophomores' papers.—Harvard Lampoon.

No Diplomatic Concession.

"So Willie Blinks blacked your eye, said the small boy's father.

"Yes."

"And hasn't he apologized?"

"No. He won't even refer to it as an unfortunate accident."

Great Men.

"Has your town any great men?"

"Well, I don't know how great they are, but three of our citizens have their pictures published in patent medicine ads every day."—Detroit Free Press.

Not Safe.

"Safe burglars do not boast about their work."

"Why should they?"

"Yet they are always blowing about their business."

Classy Conversation.

"Gee, that barber shop must have a fashionable patronage."

"Why so?"

"Follow that shaved me actually started to talk golf to me."

Brown's Home Life.

Jones—I don't see your husband at the club of late, Mrs. Brown?

Mrs. Brown—No. He stays at home now and enjoys life in his own way as I want him to.

Exactly.

"I don't believe the woman who has the next apartment to ours ever touches her parlor carpet."

"My dear, that's a sweeping arraignment."

Of Course Paw Knows.

Little Lemuel—Say, paw, what is an upstart?

Paw—An upstart, son, is a self-made man who isn't your friend.

Now Lemuel Knows.

Little Lemuel—What's an auction, paw?

Paw—An auction, son, is a for-bidding place.

ODD CHINESE "FAIR"

Held Upon Ground That Was Obtained by Trick.

Christian Missionaries Take Advantage of Gathering to Preach the Gospel to Crowds That Collect to Buy and Sell.

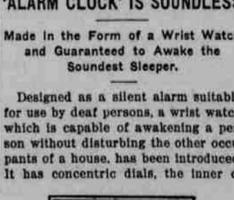

Persons who find a delight in the "county fair" will appreciate a little story by Miss Rose Alice Mace, in the Woman's Missionary Friend, of "The Missing Fair," held in Mintoinghlan, China, on February 15, says the Christian Work. This fair has the distinction of being the only one of its kind held in China. It is held on the spot where a temple once stood. A wealthy old gentleman, who admired the spot and coveted it as a burial place for his family, by a clever ruse got the temple walled, and tombs for his ancestors safely erected, when the deception he had employed was discovered, and the people determined upon revenge. There is a superstition prevalent there that if the grave of an ancestor be trodden upon by his descendants will suffer through life. Thereupon it was decided that on February of each year the people of the surrounding neighborhood should meet and tramp on the graves of this man's friends. Later they began taking a few articles with them to exchange or sell. This gradually increased until now thousands of people meet there and bring all kinds of things for sale. The people seem to have about forgotten the original purpose of the gathering, and now think of it only from a social and business standpoint.

But the interesting thing to us is that the missionaries have taken advantage of the opportunity of so large a gathering for spreading the Gospel. Benches with awnings are erected near by, a large Chinese sign placed in a conspicuous place extending a cordial invitation to the people to come and listen to preaching and singing. Large Sunday school lesson pictures are exhibited and smaller ones distributed containing the Scripture texts in Chinese, and so interest is maintained. "The people in general," says Miss Mace, "seemed pleased to have an opportunity of learning something of our belief and doctrine. Many seemed favorably impressed, and several seemed really interested and anxious to learn more about the great truth presented to them."

'ALARM CLOCK' IS SOUNDLESS

Made in the Form of a Wrist Watch and Guaranteed to Awake the Soundless Sleeper.

Designed as a silent alarm suitable for use by deaf persons, a wrist watch which is capable of awakening a person without disturbing the other occupants of a house, has been introduced. It has concentric dials, the inner of which is used for setting the alarm. A small-sized cord that encircles the wrist or ankle, when the watch is strapped in place, tightens as a predetermined time and awakens the sleeper. The device performs an especially convenient function when traveling.—Popular Mechanics.

Bees Swarm on Bicycle.

A bicycle standing at the curb in front of a confectionery store on a business thoroughfare in Whittier, Cal., recently served as a settling place for a large swarm of bees. For more than two hours the insects succeeded in turning shoppers to the opposite side of the street and crowding vehicular traffic well into the middle of the pavement. Oddly enough, the bees in settling chose the seat of the bicycle as a clustering place and piled themselves nearly a half-foot deep upon it, also thickly covering part of the frame and rear wheel. Subsequently a hive was procured and the bees transferred into it by a policeman.—Popular Mechanics.

Driving Out Swindlers.

Francis P. Gibson, secretary of the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf, says that $5,000 bona fide deaf persons are working to drive swindlers, supposedly deaf, into other lines of business and to uphold the reputation of deaf persons for shunning charity. He says that deaf persons have no need of charity because of the numerous schools, in almost every state where trades are taught. In Chicago 2,009 deaf persons are engaged in gainful trades.

Smokeless Powder.

Smokeless powder dates back some fifty years, but it was not until about 1855 that it attained its real efficiency and sprang into general use. It must be understood that even the best of this powder is not absolutely smokeless. It is not smoky enough, however, to "do any harm," and as compared with the old powder may well be called "smokeless."

Knew the Business.

The leading druggist in a certain suburb wanted an apprentice. One applicant for the situation had been employed in a fish store, but he seemed a likely lad.

"Your handwriting's good enough," said the druggist. "Can you do mental arithmetic?"

"Yes, sir," replied the lad.

"What would 34 pounds of salmon at 8 cents a pound be?"

"Bad, sir!" was the prompt answer.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Two small boys belonging to the divorce colony in Reno, Nev., met on the street one day. Billy's mama, a divorcee, had just married the ex-husband of another divorcee.

"So you've got a new papa, Billy," remarked Harry.

"Yes," rejoined Billy. "Mama found a perfectly good husband that some other lady threw away."—Judge.

It Doesn't Mix With Business.

In an interesting but unindexed book, called "How to Deal with Human Nature in Business," written by Sherwin Cody and published by Funk & Wagnalls, we read on page 401:

"Formerly it was thought that for sociability a salesman must drink with his customers. Scientific investigation has shown that there are far more customers who do not care for that kind of sociability than who do, and now the vast majority of salesmen on the road make it a special point never to call on a customer with a breath that smells of alcohol. Those who do not mind it are not repelled by a clean breath, and those who do mind it are saved from something that disgusts them."

The last two sentences could be rewritten to advantage, but they state an important fact: booze and business do not mix. This fact has been seen and tested by the keenly intelligent men who want more business, and they are acting on it.—Colliers.

The American Plan.

"Well, old chap, do you think Miss Van Billion intends to buy you?" asked the first duke.

"My dear boy, I really can't tell, don't you know? Some days I think she does; then at other times, old top, I fear she is merely shopping," replied the second duke.

At a reception in Paris a traveler, who was a strong "anti-Semite" was talking to Rothschild on the beauties of the island of Tahiti and sarcastically remarked:

The sick man had just come out of a long delirium.

"Where am I?" he said, feebly, as he felt the loving hands making him comfortable. "Where am I? In heaven?"

"No, dear," cooed his devoted wife, "I am still with you."—Kansas City Journal.

"Why, Ethel said I'd have to redeem my past before she'd marry me."

Naval Defense Essential.

The best naval authorities declare that our sea power has declined most deplorably in the past year or two. European navies, in spite of their losses, are growing more powerful and efficient, through building submarines and other types of warships faster than they are sacrificing them. With rigid economy, and some changes in the revenue laws, our national income will reach the level of our necessary outgo for ordinary purposes. The extraordinary bills, for national defense, might in view of essential facts be met by an issue of bonds. An American public that has money to lend to European governments would much rather lend to Uncle Sam. Whatever may be thought of a large army, there is a clear and definite demand for a navy that will enable this country to help secure the freedom of the sea. We have reason to invest in a navy as a protector of our coasts and a guarantor of our commercial interests.
