Those Tin Cans

Some of our local citizens have been telling ye scribe how we ought to get busy and write some editorials or something for our subscribers to read, and suggest that the tin cans in the rear of the Times building and some of the other business houses and residences of this city, would be a good subject to begin on. While we are personally adverse to picking up tin cans until there is a change in the weather and a change under foot, it is said that our little burg would look much more inviting to visitors as well as local people, if the tin cans, garbage, a few rocks and other unnecessary ornaments decorating our back yards and alleys, were distributed in better order by themselves in the Deschutes river or some place of less inconvenience to the fishes, but please don't throw them at us, as we may show ourselves capable of sending a tin can as far as anyone even if we are a Benjaminites, and not very good at copying the literary get up of the Monday Crawfish in the Oregonian.

Winter gave us a farewell reminder Friday night with another snowfall continuing until evening of the next day when a brisk breeze followed by a rain Sunday soon melted the snow and left the ground bare again.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and removes dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.
