The Last Act.
 Into the jeweler's shop came a simple-looking old chap, with a quaint, old-fashioned kitchen clock under one arm.

"I want you to look at it," he said, as he laid the timepiece on the counter, "and tell me what's wrong."
 The jeweler removed the dial of the clock, screwed his magnifying glass into his eye and poked about in the clock's interior.

"Nothing wrong with it now," he announced presently. "It's sufferings are over."

"Well, what do I owe you?" asked the customer, thinking he had repaired the clock.
 "Nothing," replied the shopman. "You're mistaken. This isn't professional treatment. It's a coroner's inquest."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

 The next day the desolate one replied: "Referring to my wire of the 16th, cancel wolves."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Wooing by Mail May Be Romantic but It's Also Risky

By LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

(Copyright, 1916.)

Oh, golden opportunity that means so much, They do me wrong who say I come no more When once I knock and fail to find you in. For every morn I stand outside your door And bid you wake to rise, to fight and win.

There can be little or no successful wooing by mail, you say, and I answer: "Oh, yes, but there is and it is the most romantic kind of romance. Introductions are made by mutual friends by letter and the pendulum is set swinging."

A score or more of friendly letters may pass between a man and woman ere interest is awakened by the few casual words which touch the heart—hidden spring. It is usually the missing of a letter on the day he is wont to receive it that arouses a man to the realization that there would be something missing from his happiness if those letters were stopped altogether.

If he had never beheld the writer, his fancy paints glowing pictures of the fair face bent over the page. He is sure she must be good to look upon. Almost without realizing it at first the tone of his letters grows more fervent. She replies to them so modestly, yet with such diffidence, he becomes more charmed with her than ever.

At length, with manly directness and earnestness, he asks her if she is averse to being wooed and won. He puts in a good many sleepless nights between hope and fear, wondering if her reply will be favorable. It is. Their betrothal by mail follows as a matter of course.

It is a trying ordeal for a man to have his photo taken, but he goes through the experience because she has asked for it, eagerly begging for hers in return. For one reason or another, she delays sending it. They set the wedding day. Thereupon follows the first hitch in his wooing. His business is of such a nature he cannot go to her and after much urging it is decided that she shall come to him. His womenfolk will be with him to meet her at the train. The minister who is to join them in wedlock will be waiting their arrival at the church, where his neighbors, friends and townspeople will be gathered to give her a royal welcome.

She describes the costume she will wear. He designates the place he will be standing. He hears the train approach with a heart in his bosom beating like a timid schoolboy's. In fancy, he anticipates a shy, frightened young girl alighting and looking about her with wide, bewildered eyes, in the brown dress and white sailor hat with the wreath of daisies about it which she has so minutely described. He knows he will be able to determine at a glance whether she is sweet sixteen or demure twenty and he almost wishes he were not yet the five and thirty he has candidly owned up to.

The train stops. One figure only alights. He sees the fluttering of a brown dress, whose wearer waves an umbrella vigorously in his direction. In the woman who has come on at his solicitation to marry him he sees a person of fully 200 pounds weight, red as to face and white as to hair, a spectacled grandma looking every one of her fifty years. He begs off at a heavy price.

Moral—It is dangerous to woo and win a stranger by mail!

A Few Table Don'ts.

Here are a few valuable "don'ts" for the table:

When your hostess hands you a plate, don't offer to pass it on to another person. Take what your hostess intended for you.

And when you have your food, don't hesitate about beginning to eat. Old-fashioned people wait until all are served before eating, but it isn't strictly correct to do this. Of course, if you happen to be one of a home party, where you are passing vegetables to others, you would naturally see that you had done your part before beginning to enjoy your share of the meal.

Don't take a second helping of soup or fish if you are going through a meal of several courses.

Never cut your bread. It should be broken on the cloth, or the plate that may be provided, and broken without raising it from the table.

Don't shake salt over your food. Salt and mustard should be placed on the side of the plate.

For the sake of your neighbors don't stick out your elbows when dining. People who have acquired this very bad habit should practice until they find another angle. When manipulating food on the plate use the hands from the wrist, not from the elbows.

GIANT POWDERS
Lift them out!

Ordinary powders and dynamites waste much of their energy by shattering and pulverizing. To get the best results in land-clearing operations the explosives should disrupt, crack, split and heave the stumps and at the same time lift and remove the roots for easy handling. The explosives that do this are —made by a Western Company especially to meet Pacific Coast conditions. More than 2,000,000 pounds used every year for stump blasting in Washington and Oregon alone.

GIANT FARM POWDERS
STUMPING — AGRICULTURAL

There are two Giant Farm Powders—Giant Stumping Powders for wet soil and Eureka Stumping Powder for blasting in dry soil. They do their work at the lowest possible cost.

Test one case. Compare it with any explosive that you have ever used. After you have blasted a dozen stumps you will understand why those who have once used them always continue to use Giant Farm Powders.

Our free book on Stump Blasting tells how to save money in land-clearing. It shows how to make land-clearing easier by using Giant Farm Powders. We have other books on Boulder Blasting, Tree Planting, Subsoil Blasting, and Ditch Blasting. Write today for the book in which you are interested. Your name on a post-card will bring it.

Live on $3 a Month.

University of Washington, Seattle.—Those who fret and stew over the high cost of living received an awful jolt this semester, when two students and two alumni of the university admitted that their total individual living expenses for the semester, including telephone and electric lights, averaged $3 per month. The men live in a cozily furnished houseboat on Lake Washington, close to the campus. They do their own housekeeping and cooking and have cut their expenses to the minimum, although enjoying most of the comforts of home.

Each man takes his turn week by week at doing the work, and friction is unknown.

Barry Sullivan, the tragedian, was playing Richard III on one occasion. When the actor came to the words, "A horse, a horse! My kingdom for a horse!" someone from the gallery called out, "Wouldn't a donkey do as well, Mr. Sullivan?"

"Yes," replied the tragedian, turning quickly to the interrupter. "Please come around to the stage door."

"ANURIC"
 The Latest Discovery in Medicine.

Why Suffer From Backache, Lumbago, Rheumatism?

It is now asserted with confidence that these painful effects due to uric acid in the system are entirely eradicated. A remedy, called "ANURIC," has been discovered by Dr. Pierce in his hospital practice, which he believes is thirty-seven times more potent than lithia, and is the cause of a drainage outward of the uric acid with which it comes in contact within the body. It will ward off backache, headache, and the darting pains and aches of articular or muscular rheumatism—of those diseases which are caused by too much uric acid, such as gout, asthma, sciatica, or sore, stiff, aching joints.

When the kidneys are weak or diseased, these natural filters do not cleanse the blood sufficiently, and the poisons are carried to all parts of the body. There follow depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability. "ANURIC" prolongs life because old people usually suffer from hardening and thickening of the walls of the arteries, due to the excess of uric acid in the blood and tissues.

Dr. Pierce, chief physician at the Invalide's Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has been testing this wonderful medicine for the relief of overworked and weakened kidneys. The relief obtained by sufferers has been so satisfactory that he determined to place "ANURIC" with the principal druggists in town where people could get this ready-to-use medicine. "ANURIC" is not harmful or poisonous, but aids nature in throwing off those poisons within the body which cause so much suffering, pain and misery.

If you want quick relief buy it now—or send Dr. Pierce 10c. for trial pkg.—or $1.00 for full treatment. This will prove to you that "Anuric" eliminates uric acid from the system as hot water melts sugar.

Had Made Start.

Pete, the hired man, was known for his prodigious appetite. One morning he had eaten a normal breakfast of oatmeal, buckwheat cakes, toast, fried potatoes, ham, eggs, doughnuts, coffee and the usual trimmings, and gone to the neighbor's to help with extra work. Pete arrived before the family had risen from the morning meal.

"Well, Pete," hospitably inquired the farmer, "had breakfast yet?"
 "Aw," drawled Pete in a wheedling tone, "kinda."—Everybody's Magazine.
