beth Cady Stanton Slept in Carriage. Even the man who does not sympathize with the movement for woman's rights cannot help admiring the leaders of it. Elizabeth Cady Stanton proved more than once, says the Youth's Companion, that she had both physical and moral courage of a high order. She had often, say her biographers in "Heroines of Modern Progress," to utter her message under the most trying circumstances. Once in Michigan a party of speakers visited a deaf and dumb institution. Mrs. Stanton just said: "There is one comfort in visiting this place, we shall not be asked to speak," when the superintendent came up "Ladies, the pupils are aswith: sembled in the chapel ready to hear you." They spoke, while the superintendent repeated in sign language what they said. At another time their boat was icebound in the middle of the Mississippi river. Someone shouted: "Speech on woman suffrage!" They rose to the occasion, and there

"I had just fallen into a gentle slumber." she wrote, "when a chorus of grunts and a violent shaking of the carriage revealed to me the fact that I was surrounded by those long-nosed black pigs so celebrated for their courage and pertinacity. They had discovered that the iron steps of the carriage made most satisfactory scratching posts. 'Alas,' thought I, 'before morn-ing I shall be devoured!'" She plied the whip upon them, but without effect; so she went to sleep and let them scratch at their pleasure. had a sad night of it, and never tried the carriage again, although I had many equally miserable experiences within four walls."

CALLED PARADISE OF BIRDS

Great Lake Region Abounds in Rare Songsters - Attracted by the Many Lakes,

The lake region of Michigan and Wisconsin has been described as the 'paradise of birds."

In Michigan alone 300 species of birds have been identified. The great lakes and the thousands of lesser lakes add to the bird life by calling to these waters the aquatic birds. Michigan has many birds whose habitat is in the far north around Hudson bay and others that live in the states south of Michigan, even along and be yond the Gulf of Mexico. The first are illustrated by the Bohemian waxwing, spruce partridge, Canadian jay and others, while the summer red bird, the mocking bird and the cardinal red bird illustrate the second group.

The great lakes attract many birds that are usually maritime, such as gulls and terns.

Michigan abounds in lakes-there are 425, for instance, within a 25-mile radius of Battle Creek-and there are the nesting places for many interesting birds not found elsewhere.

Boring Clam Is Odd,

One of the strangest creatures known to science is the pholas, or boring clam. When still very minute the animal bores into the sandstone ledges at extreme low water, by means of its sharp shell, which is replaced by secretion as it is worn away. It penetrates the rock to a depth of six or eight inches, and hollows out its burrow as it increases in size

Shaped roughly like a top, it could not leave its rock dwelling even if it wished to do so. For food it depends on the animalcules that float in sea water, which it seizes by its long siphon, or tongue. The pholas is in great demand at the seaside resorts along the Pacific coast, for its meat is very tender and makes excellent soup .--- Youth's Companion.

Uses of Coke Growing.

The tremendously increased importance of by-products of coke ovens and gas works since the war started has led to efforts to increase the use of coke by concerns that heretofore have used only coal. The government has led the way by mixing certain proportions of coke with other fuel on its railways and in its buildings, and the manufacturers are following this example. The coke ovens and gas works are now depended on to furnish three vitally important products-explosive material, motor fuel and nitrogenous fertilizer-and it is deemed imperative that the production of these by-products be stimulated by an increased demand for the coke.

Velocity of Stars.

The average velocity of stars ranges from about six kilometers, or between three and four miles, per second, for "young" stars to about thirty kilometers per second for "old" ones. But notable exceptions occur. At Mount Wilson Solar observatory of the Carnegie institution some stars have been found to move with velocities of 141, 150, 179, 233, 316 and even 325 kilometers per second, the highest speed
