It Is Here

At last, the long sought for printing press is the property of the Maupin Times and occupying its place in operating condition in our little work shop.

We are rather brief on local news this week, and if you will pardon us this time, we'll try to do better again. It has taken considerable time to adjust the new machine and what youngster would not have to look at their new toy a little while, especially after twenty months experience trying to turn a newspaper on a little old one-page Army press and it borrowed? We hope we shall not have to use it again. "Our" press is not a new one, but an up-to-date patent Diamond and made with power attachment, capable of considerable speed.
