The commercial club will officially open its books for membership on the night of Saturday the 17th of November. This is a special meeting for all farmers, merchants, water users, forestry men, cattle men, sheep men and others interested in the life and "pep" of Wapinitia plains, to get together and pull together and let no dog bark. Wapinitia plains is on the map and is rapidly coming into its own. We need new energy, new ideas, new thought prompt action, satisfactory results and a solidarity of the community spirit. We need the commercial club for obvious and sound reasons, but it cannot live and will not grow without you to join and enjoy its use. If you attended its last meeting you are in accord with the above statements. If you are really a good neighbor a loyal citizen you will simply lay down your tools and shake the dust off your boots and take the time to come out on the 17th of November, a week from Saturday. Don't say a club can't live on the Wapinitia plains, because you and others are asleep. Don't say you are too busy chasing the dollars to learn how to save it and make it easier. Don't be a bump on a log, but come out and shake hands with the whole jolly lot of your friends who will be looking for you on the 17th. Some music will be worth hearing, and the program will not lag. Remember the 17th at 8 p. m., at Evick's hall.

Water is again on the flat. The great storm of a week ago blew down many snags and trees. It took a crew three days to open the log jams for the flow of water to pass out on the land. Ice and cold added to the difficulty, but the management determined to accommodate the needy water hewers and so they have.

The canal extension by farmers-outfits has proceeded to a point near the Hammer and Enderby farms. While some have stopped to seed others have taken their places and the good work goes on. Every gathering on the flat turns its conversation into irrigation channels.

The reservoir site in McCubbers gulch is cleared of brush and the cutting and removing of the timber is in progress.

There is to be an annual banquet and entertainment of highest character on the first Saturday following thanksgiving at Evick's hall, Wapinitia, under the auspices of the Wapinitia Plains Commercial club. Public addresses by eminent speakers and attractive choruses and quartet music.

Wapinitia Items

A fine rain fell here Sunday, night for which we are very thankful as it will be of great benefit to the grain.

A. L. Daniels moved to his homestead on Sunflower Flat Wednesday.

N. W. Flinn and Celia made a trip to Wamic Tuesday after a winter supply of apples.
