MT. HOOD LOOP HIGHWAY SPUR

To Wapinitia

The proposed route follows the Barlow-Oak Grove road to Government Camp, thence around the east side of Mt. Hood to Hood River connecting with the Columbia River highway at Hood River.

The connecting link to Central Oregon would require the improvement of the Oak Grove road from Summit House to Wapinitia Flat. This short spur road will bring the Inland Empire of Central Oregon 50 miles closer to Portland, its main trade center. Wapinitia Plains will be 80 miles or four hours by auto from Portland's courthouse.

While the scenic feature is a grand thing for the Oregonian it is commercially valuable to Oregon due to the great returns from the tourist trade.

Multnomah county pledges a hard surface road to the Clackamas county line over this route, at no cost to the state. The Forestry department pledges $257,000 within the forest.

Under the provisions of the Bean-Barret Act it is now provided that 50-50 by state and government shall be and is provided for, which totals $500,000 available funds.

The famous White Flame Burners for your coal oil lamps can now be purchased at E. A. Cyr's confectionery at Maupin. The White Flame Burner will give twice as much light as your old burner with the same amount of oil. Costs you nothing to try one and only 35 cents if you are satisfied. We also have them for lanterns. No. 2 only size on hand at present.
