SENT IN BY OUR CORRESPONDENTS

Tygh Valley

We have been having real March weather, windy and blustery. If the old saying is true about the first three days of March ruling the next three months we can expect windy weather this month as Saturday was very windy, but the other days were like spring. Mrs. V. P. Steers and little granddaughter Eunice made a trip to Portland one day last week re-Friday evening.

Roy Morris has been here visiting his little daughter Eunice and friends.

Lyle Bigbee was here this week visiting Grandma Morris.

Charlotte Muoger is staying with Mrs. Q. C. Morrow this week while Dr. Shannon is treating her ear.

Tygh Valley witnessed a small prize fight last week. It was only one round and quite exciting while it lasted. Jim McCowan and Bill Stillwell were the actors.

Elmer Munier returned Saturday evening from Camp Lewis, having received his discharge from the army.

Mrs. Rodger White went to Maupin for a short visit Tuesday.

G. W. Foster bought a horse from Mr. Thompson.

The new bridge and grade at Tygh are finished and the crew is working on the hill between V. P. Steers and the Fitzpatrick store.

Sherar Bridge

We saw the smiling face of the Tygh Valley barber in these parts last week.

Carl Dahl made a business trip to The Dalles Thursday.

Jim Cook spent the week end with his mother at Maupin.

Sunday afternoon the White River hikers consisting of Mable Thomas, Florence Mueller, Ernest Asibley, Alfred Brown and Clifford Brown crossed the sheep bridge below the plant following the river to Tygh grade recrossed White river and soon found themselves in the prosperous little town of Tygh where they bought their lunch and returned home on the opposite side of the river.

Dr. Shannon is moving back to Tygh and this community is certainly very glad to welcome the Dr. and family back to Tygh.

A good many are plowing and some spring seeding is being done in this vicinity.

Mr. Geo. Harth was at Portland attending the auto show.

This is spring weather and soon will be time to put in garden, we have green onions already and they are fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Strom were called to The Dalles to be with her mother who is undergoing an operation at The Dalles hospital.

The roads from Sherar to Tygh are in fine shape and a good many in cars are trying them out.

J. M. and P. H. Conroy and W. R. Head made a business trip to The Dalles.

Mr. F. P. Mays is spending a few days at his ranch near Tygh.

Mr. Solomon Hauser made a business trip to Portland.

In Memoriam

In the I. O. O. F. Cemetery near White river, on Feb. 26, 1919, a pioneer lady was laid to rest. The Rev. Mr. Larson had charge of the services and many friends gathered to pay their last respects to one who had spent a long and useful lifetime in their midst. Abigail Westerfield was born in Knoxville Ill. May 23, 1841, and died at the home of her son Philip McCorkle, on Happy Ridge, on Feb. 24, 1919. During the summer of 1852 an epidemic of typhoid passed through that part of Ill. and in August, both Mr. and Mrs. Westerfield died of the disease, leaving four children. Samuel, Byron, Abigail and Amanda, to face a terribly altered life alone. From the illness—they all had the disease—and shock of that awful time, they never fully recovered. Abbie as the older sister, kept house for the sad little group for several years. Finally the brothers came west, and Byron settled in Wamic. In the early seventies the sisters followed, coming by rail to San Francisco, thence by boat to The Dalles, as that was the mode of travel in those days. White living with their brother Byron, Amanda made the acquaintance of and married, George Mayfield; and later Abbie married Thomas Zumwalt. One son, Charles, was born to this union. After about four years Mr. Zumwalt died, and on Nov. 19 1879, his widow united in marriage with W. M. McCorkle of Tygh Valley. In and near this place she spent the remainder of her life. Grandma McCorkle came of an old American lineage. Her maternal grandfather Silas Ayers, was a hero of the Revolution; and an ancestor known wherever the English language is spoken and Longfellow read, in the person of John Alden, was also hers. With such forbears it was natural that she should meet life bravely and well. May her mantle fall on us. Two sons, Philip S. Ernest V., with their wives; five grandchildren Blanch, Inez, Eugene, Rachel and Elmer; and one sister Mrs. Mayfield of Elgin, Ore. of her immediate family mourn her passing; and six stepchildren and a host of friends will long remember a good woman who has gone from us.

Play Ball

Shouted Ralph Kaiser, when Kelly's Kolts staged their first tryout for the team last Sunday. Maupin is sure to have a good fast team this season from the way the boys worked out. With about twenty already working hard for positions and several more to come, the fans are expecting some fast, snappy games this spring. Manager Kelly has a smile clear down his back and judging from his pleased look he is sure of a winning bunch. If you want to see some fast ones come out next Sunday and watch the boys toss them around. Lets all get behind the team and boost. Watch Maupin go.

A Fan.

NEWS ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Home from France

Fred Pratt returned from Portland Wednesday where he saw his brother Harry between trains, enroute to Camp Lewis from overseas. Harry will be home soon.

Brenton Slusher was over from Dufur Sunday to Tuesday. He says Maupin weather seems almost like summer compared with Dufur vicinity. The roads between here and Dufur are much better than he expected to find them.

W. H. Staats and the Times would appreciate it if the street adjacent there were put in as good condition as that farther down. We have paid proportionately with the other business people for street improvement and believe we should receive equal benefits.
