A Good Thing

In another column of this issue appears the announcement of the opening number of the Ellison White entertainment program; 4 big numbers in all. These people have on their circuits some of the best known speakers and entertainers in the U. S. We might say that Wm. J. Bryan or Ex-President Taft could have been secured for this circuit at a no greater cost to the committee than Tom Skyeull, the Australian Soldier Post.

The three following numbers each of which will be published in their turn all consist of three or four people in musical and varied programs and are all high class entertainers and thoroughly familiar with their work.

The movement by the business and professional men of Maupin in bringing these entertainments to our little town is deserving of the whole souled support of every one in the community for the reason that these performances cannot be had for nothing; in fact each number will cost in the neighborhood of $150.00 and the object of the committee; to bring as good an entertainment to you as you could see anywhere, will be reached if you will all do your part and boost. After you attend once it will not be necessary to ask you to boost; you will do it "on your own hook".

Portland, Dec. 29.

The State Irrigation Congress will meet in Portland, January 9, in the Oregon Building, Commercial Club rooms. The change in date is due to the call of the legislature by Governor Olcott.

A full instructive and beneficial program is prepared and all irrigationists should endeavor to be present or send delegates from their respective organizations.

Wasco county has not been fully represented at some past annual Congress meetings; therefore I urge that you attend and do all you can to boost the Irrigation Congress.

Yours truly,

NEWS TIMES OF LOCAL INTEREST

At Home

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Chastain returned home from Portland Friday night. J. H. Chastain met them at the train with his Ford, but while absent from his machine to escort the bridal couple from the train, Raymond and Earl Crabtree abducted the Ford and J. H. was obliged to walk to the bend in the road above the bridge carrying a couple suit cases. The boys, believing he had walked far enough, delivered up the machine at this point. A crowd of young people from Maupin and surrounding territory went out to the Chastain home that night and tendered the happy couple a joyous welcome and had the treats.

Pendleton, Oregon, Jan. 29, 1916.

To whom it may concern:

I have been very near sighted all my life, being compelled to quit school at twelve years of age on account of my eye trouble. At different times I have been fitted with glasses by eye specialists, with more or less satisfaction, until last June, when I had my eyes examined by Dr. Herbert W. Copeland, who made me the best pair of glasses I ever had. I use them for both reading and distance with perfect comfort.
