Daily Thought.
The solitary side of our nature demands leisure for reflection upon subjects which the dash and whirl of daily business, so long as its clouds rest thick about us, forbid the intellect to fasten itself.—Froude.

Need a Little Color.
Still, we must not get rid of too much red. It would be horrible living in an atmosphere of unbroken, pale gray conventionality.—Chicago News.

Snowstorms Form in Warm Climates.
Potentially snow storms form in general regions of warmth, strange as it may seem. The area of low barometric pressure, or storm sea, comes whirling eastward across the Gulf states and then generally takes a twist northward along the Atlantic seaboard. When sufficiently far north these warm air currents are chilled and the moisture becomes snow, very often being borne to the earth by the back draft of east wind.

The Peanut.
The peanut is a member of the pea family and the "nut" is more accurately described as a pod. It is grown from seed in many tropical and subtropical lands, a long warm season being necessary for its maturity. It flowers above the ground, then the stem bends downwards, the young pod enters the soil and there matures. No roots are ever attached to the nut; the fibers, mistaken for them, are from the stem.

Origin of the "Horn Book."
The horn book, invented in 1450 and used considerably up to the close of the eighteenth century, was the usual text book of the elementary schools. A thin slab of hard wood was covered with parchment on which were printed the capital and small letters, numerals, and some elementary syllables and words. Over this a thin sheet of transparent cow's horn was placed and firmly bound so that no moisture could penetrate.

Remarkable Meteor.
Numerous observations of the brilliant meteor seen in the early evening of October 21, 1919, show that it had the long horizontal flight of 335 miles from over a point of twenty miles northeast of York, England, to thirty miles southwest of St. Valery, France, according to the Scientific American. It traveled at a speed of about thirty-three miles a second and its average altitude was seventy-four miles.

St. Rita was canonized in 1900. She is called the saint of the impossible, and is generally pictured holding a bunch of roses. When she was dying, it was in winter and cold, and she asked one of the nuns at her bedside to go to the garden to pick her a rose. Those about her bed thought that her mind was wandering, but one of them, as a matter of form, went to the garden, and behold, on one of the bushes was a beautiful rose.

Compared with the hardships of Icelandic trawling, North Sea boats are always in a haven. From October to March blizzards of snow and sleet sweep the Icelandic regions, and from December to the end of January there is only an hour or two of daylight. Icelandic vessels are much larger than North sea trawlers, and so marked is the difference between the two operations that an Icelandic skipper rarely works the North sea, and vice versa.

Lift off Corns!
Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet. A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

Eskimo Women's Work.
While Eskimo men are hunting polar bear and walrus the women and children are busy catching the greater part of the fish and birds to be stored away for food supply during the six months' winter.
