Lumber reduced 30 per cent. New price list just started—may advance soon, due to fall demand

Put today's Prosperity into Much Needed Buildings

Manager Renick of the Tum-A-Lum Lumber Company states he is now working on list No. 12 which is the third and latest decline in lumber prices this year. Mr. Renick says much building is being talked of this year, but that shortage of cars and workmen may delay fall building until bad weather unless early action is taken and building plans are not left till the last minute as is usually the case.

Carpenters are already busy and have much work ahead in some cases.

Almost certain advances in lumber prices and scarcity of labor will make the "Last Minute" builder wish he had planned and started earlier.

"Size up your crops" and PLAN "AFTER HARVEST" BUILDINGS NOW, is Manager Renick's advise. Tum-A-Lum Plan Department furnishes in 48 hours when required plans and estimates of cost of buildings for Homes and farms. No obligation to buy. Mr. Renick has the Tum-A-Lum plan books of Homes (pictures of Interiors) and farm buildings which he will be glad to explain.
