Entered as second class mail matter September 2, 1914, at the postoffice at Maupin, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Announcements advertising the Wasco County Fair at The Dalles have been well distributed for some. But what about our big Southern Wasco County Fair on the beautiful spacious fair grounds west of Tygh Valley? No one so far as the Times has been able to learn knows when it is to be held or whether a Fair will be staged there at all this year or not. Why let it die? Under the management in charge in recent years past the showing made was closely contesting the county fairs, and would in a short time, due to the excellent location, surrounding and advantages to be enjoyed, become the location for all agricultural and stock exhibits held in the county. Awake!

Few of the local ladies seem to realize the opportunities offered and the advantages and instruction to be gained by attendance at the nurses' training class conducted by Miss Conihan every Thursday morning at the school house. While the course is necessarily brief it is comprehensive and should be appreciated by all within reasonable distance. Only a few more lessons yet remain and all ladies, especially those who have commenced the course are cordially invited to attend.

To drop into L. D. Kelly's packing house some morning when he and George Stout are completing the preparation of a truck load of vegetables and melons for the local markets should convince the most pessimistic of the wonderful fertility of soil in this section. Three tomatoes are too wide and deep for ordinary pack and mushroom melons of such immense size that it is a common occurrence for them to tip the scales at nine to twelve pounds. And watermelon!

The steel bridge spanning the Deschutes at this place is very evidently in need of several new planks. Drivers of machines are necessarily careful in their management of their steering apparatus to avoid getting into annoying holes or possibly worse trouble when crossing the bridge.

THE UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

—is maintained by the state in order that the young people of Oregon may receive, without cost, the benefits of a liberal education.

The University includes the College of Literature, Science and the Arts, the Graduate School, the School of Physical Education, and the professional Schools of Law, Medicine (at Portland), Architecture, Commerce, Journalism, Education and Music.

High standards of scholarship are made possible by an able faculty, well equipped laboratories and a library of nearly 100,000 volumes.

Supervised athletics are encouraged and every attention given the health and welfare of the students.

With a heightened confidence gained by the recent expression of public support, the University is now entering upon an era of large development and extended usefulness.
