ROSELTH KNAPP BREED, HUMORIST-ENTERTAINER, IS NEXT LYCEUM NUMBER

Roselth Knapp Breed, Boston's noted humorist, is one of Lyceum's most popular entertainers. She presents a carefully arranged program of monologues, character sketches and short stories. She is a clever interpreter and possesses a finished art which delights at all times. She is more than a reader; rather is she an interpreter of real people in real life. Her "types" are distinctive, and you marvel at her gifted character impersonations. Her work is an art—made so through years of earnest study and successful platform experience.

School Notes

Most of the pupils are back to school after having been absent on account of the measles. The attendance in the grammar grade room is much improved, all but two pupils being present at this time.

Class leaders for the fifth month in the intermediate room are: Clair Green, eighth grade; Jean Wilson, seventh grade; Laurence Harpham, sixth grade; Earl Green, fifth grade.

The high school is planning a valentine box Monday afternoon. Great preparations are being made for a good time before the strenuous work of examinations next Thursday and Friday. The intermediate and primary rooms are also preparing for valentine day.

The work done last Tuesday night at the Athletic Club was appreciated by all the members who were present. The teachers of the various departments have now started on their regular work in the way of developing form. Let all the boys fall in line and do their best.

Now is the Time

Everyone knows that good roads are the making of a country and the only way to get them is to build them, and this cannot be accomplished without the help of the people and the money that is back of them. With work and money to back us up anything can be accomplished; and now since a few have taken hold, why not others get busy. Everyone who has tried the Maupin grade leading to the Flat knows it is almost impassible this winter; and if you are one who has not tried it just ask your neighbor, and he will tell you it is almost impassible. With a fine gravel pit at hand that can be taken out by blasting and spread with much work a good solid road can be built, but in order to do this we must have help.

Many know that work is being done by a small crew, but all do not know that this is all volunteer work, so if you feel you can help a little "let yourself be known" and help of any kind will be acceptable.

If you cannot come yourself a cash donation will be acceptable and let some one who can, do the work; and if this cannot be done, let the wife or boy have the best team or pick and shovel and let them come. The grade is now in a good condition to take the gravel and with plenty of help can soon be finished.

Mrs. G. L. Harpham returned Sunday after a week's visit at Shepard's Springs. G. L. went on to Bend and arrived home Monday morning accompanied by H. G. Harpham.
