Cooperation

During the last few months the word "Cooperation" has been brought before the public in numerous publications, and through many other agencies of expression.

In a discussion of this word as it applies to problems of agriculture, our object is to determine whether cooperation is something logical and possible that can be applied to our problems or is it merely the dream of an idealist.

Cooperation as we understand the term means a "united effort to obtain or reach a definite objective". For a practical illustration of the feasibility of application of word under the definition above. I wish to refer you to the results obtained after the command of the allies on the West Front (in the late war) was centralized. Before this time you will remember, the Central Powers had every thing their own way. What happened afterward needs no explanation.

I might cite to you also, our own government from the time of its inception until the present day, as the greatest illustration in all history. Space forbids a discussion on this subject. So we will conclude that cooperation is beneficial.

Can it be applied to our problems? It can, but it is very likely that it will not be, because a great number of us imagine the word cooperation is a magic word, a cure all that will right our grievances, without any conscious effort on our part.

If cooperation means doing those things that will please and benefit a few to the detriment of the many, such act being prohibitive to the locality at large, from the very nature of the thing contemplated, owing to the financial stringency or other conditions beyond the power of the members of the committee to regulate. If cooperation means an active, hostile campaign against a movement for the betterment of the community, without first offering a plan more logical than the one attacked. If cooperation means attempting to defeat those things of benefit to a community, because of our personal dislike and prejudice, to the agency through which they find expression or are brought into existence. If cooperation means seeking to better ourselves to the detriment and loss of our neighbors. If cooperation means to declare any project crooked or a man false upon rumors circulated to that effect, without a personal investigation of these reports and if cooperation means to repeat all gossip that reaches our ears and to exaggerate the stories in the retelling. If cooperation means these things, I say gentlemen, to apply it to our problems is as simple as putting on our shoes, and for the same reason, it comes naturally and from force of habit.

However cooperation does not mean these things neither does it necessary mean the reverse of them. But they and many others of like nature are of vital importance in as much as cooperation cannot exist as long as these things are prevalent as they are in this age.

We must bear in mind before we can have community cooperation each individual must be willing to forgo some of his personal rights, such as judgement etc., and be willing to be bound (with in reason) as the majority of the members (exercising their best judgement) may see fit.

We are aware that every locality has its confirmed knackers, pessimists and just plain ordinary everyday liars, we know also that this class is very small, and realizing that their trouble is a disease of the mind we must strive to overlook as much as possible their short comings. Cooperation cannot exist for a with this class but in spite of them.

In summing up our case, we find, gentlemen, that cooperation can be applied to our problems by that degree of effort, which each individual requires to put himself above his suspicions,

Business Is Business

"Business is Business," the Little man said,
"A battle where 'everything goes,'
Where the only gospel is 'get ahead,'
And never spare friends or foes,
'Slay or be slain,' is the slogan cold,
You must struggle and slash and tear,
For Business is Business, a fight for gold,
Where all that you do is fair!"

"Business is Business," the Big man said,
"A battle to make of earth
A place to yield as more wine and bread
More pleasure and joy and mirth;
There are still some bandits and buccannere,
Who are jungle-bred beasts of trade,
But their number dwindles with passing years
And dead is the code they made!"

"Business is Business," the Big man said,
"But it's something that's more, far more;
For it makes sweet gardens of deserts dead,
And cities it built now roar—
Where once the deer and gray wolf ran
From the pioneer's swift advance;
Business is Magic that toils for man
Business is True Romance."

"And those who make it a ruthless fight
Have only themselves to blame
If they feel no whit of the keen delight
In playing the Bigger Game,
The game that calls on the heart and head,
The best of man's strength and nerve;
"Business is Business," the Big man said,
"And that business is to serve!"

Case 15-27 Kerosene Tractor

Pulls 3 or 4 Plows

In fields where plowing is difficult—tough or baked soil, stiff grades, etc.—this Case 15-27 Kerosene Tractor will pull 3 plows easily. Where conditions are favorable, this tractor can pull 4 plows.

So it is a favorite on the average farm. It is neither too large nor too small.

In addition to its field work, it is designed for belt work, having the pulley properly placed. It will drive a Case 25x40 Thresher equipped with feeder and wind stacker or other machines requiring similar power.

The Case 15-27 has abundant reserve power. While rated at 15 horsepower on the drawbar, it can deliver more than 18 horsepower. While rated at 27 on the belt, it can deliver 33 horsepower. It is ever ready for the hardest jobs. It never tires.

All gears are cut steel, enclosed and run in oil. It has a four-cylinder valve-in-head motor, mounted crosswise on a one-piece main frame. This affords the use of all spur gears.

A Case Siphon Thermostat controls the cooling system and insures complete combustion of kerosene. A Case air washer delivers clean air to the carburetor.

There are dozens of betterments found only in this tractor. You should be familiar with them, so that you may make a careful comparison.

May we have the opportunity soon to point out Case superiorities?
