Grain Show

A big grain show is to be held at Pendleton September 19-24.
It is important that the grain of Wasco county compete at this show with grain from all of the other Oregon counties and from all Western states. Therefore all growers of a high quality of grain are urged to reserve a sack for exhibition purposes. This county should exhibit the following:

Wheat: Turkey Red, Early Bart, Federation, Forty Fold, Bluestem, Marquis, Hybrid 128, Hybrid 63 - (Turkey hybrid), Hybrid 143 - (Shot hybrid), Earley: Mariout, Blue barley, Utah Winter (Irish barley).

Oats and Rye: Any varieties obtainable.

Some of the premiums offered are as follows:

1. For club wheat, common wheat, and hard red winter, ten premiums each, running from $25 for first place to $5 for tenth place.

2. In addition special premiums of from $10 to $20 for most varieties.

3. Special premiums for certified wheat of $10.

4. Sweepstakes.

5. Six premiums for barley 6. Four premiums each for oats and rye of from $20 to $5.

It would thus be possible for a grower to win several premiums. For instance a grower of Turkey Red wheat might win the premium of $25 for the best wheat of the class 'Hard Red Winter'. He might in addition win the certified seed premium of $10 and the sweepstakes for the best bushel of wheat, $50.00 making a total of $85.00.

Those desiring to see the county represented at the show are requested to see the county agent at once.

Engineering Triumph.
A daring engineering feat was performed in Pittsburgh recently when a nine-story modern building, filled with hardware, was moved a distance of 75 feet by 12 laborers. Ninety-pound rails, 120 of them, made the tracks on which the structure was moved. The sidewalk and basement of the building, incin dug a big engine and boiler that could function, went along with the building. Customers passed to and from the building as though nothing was happening.

JOY THAT COMES BUT ONCE

Statesman Recalls Thrill of Delight That Came to Him in His Schoolboy Days.

William C. Redfield, former secretary of commerce, says that he can recall with microscopic distinctness the moment that gave him the biggest thrill of delight in his whole life. It was when he was going to school and trying to master long division.

Three or four aisles over from where he sat a boy yawned. It was not an ordinary yawn, but one of such genuine expression of feeling toward things in general that it attracted Redfield's attention.

He was fortunate in having a paper wad right at hand, ready for any emergency, and he aimed this at the boy's cavernous mouth. By one of those rare exhibitions of magnanimity on the part of an inanimate object, the wad went right square into the goal, and Redfield's joy knew no bounds.
He had played the one chance in a million and won.

Encouraged by his dexterity in that instance, Redfield then tried throwing rings at knives at county fairs, but never again did he exhibit such won-derous aim.

Caruso of China.

Lou Hoong-Shen, the Caruso of China, is dead. You never heard of him? Yet, he died in a Shanghai theater that had contracted to pay him $10,000 a week. That's a big salary. It is phenomenally big in China, where a few cents a day will hire a strong man. Born of poor parents, Lou Hoong-Shen had to scrap for a living. But, though China is a land of musical voices (as anyone will testify who has listened to the songs of the hawk and the coo), the boy Lou stood alone. He had the most wonderful voice among 400,000,000 Chinese. Despite this, he had to work hard before he became great. For many years he was a number—a Chinese actor. Ten years ago he was "discovered" in Shanghai. At once he quit the paint and wielded the voice of a Chinese actor and became a musical star. By odd coincidence, the great Chinese tenor died from a burst blood vessel in his throat, similar to that which threatened to take the life of Caruso, now convalescent.
