"DAWDLERS" NOT LONG LIVED

Prominent British Manufacturer Points Out That Active Man of Business Reaches Old Age.

Lord Leverhulme, one of Great Britain's largest manufacturers, asserts that more people shorten their lives by dawdling in England than by hustling. He is a living proof that hustling promotes hale old age. He has always led the strenuous life, and at 70 is still going strong.

He presided at the annual meeting of the British Industrial Safety First association the other day. In his address he drew largely upon his American experience. Steps had been taken there, he said, to ascertain whether it was the hustling, bustling business man who was supposed to shorten his days, or the man who crawled and dawdled through life.

He declared there were men in the United States today of 80, 90 and between 90 and 100 years of age who were still in good health and actively engaged in business, whereas men who had retired early from business had shortened their lives thereby.

He thought the crawl of the dawdler was largely instrumental in shortening the lives of individuals in Great Britain—that the more a man worked, whether professionally or in other ventures, the more he would conserve his life and strength and the life and commerce of the country.

Embarrassing, Indeed!

Economizing might be all right, but first know your location! I went into a two-priced millinery store and after trying on several hats and not caring particularly for any, realized that it was next to impossible to get away without a purchase. Finally I said I had no money, but selected a hat for them to put away for me, and promised I would surely return for it the next evening. I breathed relief when I made my exit, and passing a store a few doors away, entered upon seeing a hat much to my taste, and after trying it on decided I really would buy it. As I was about to take the money from my purse, to my surprise the manager of the first store (he owned both, I later learned), entered, and seeing me, cynically smiled and said: "Don't waste your time on this customer—she's only sightseeing and has no intention of buying." My embarrassment, together with anger, was the limit, and I arose in a rage and left the store.—Chicago American.

Lost "Victory" Recovered.

Dust-covered and forgotten, two big packing cases have been reposing in the yard of federal parliament house.
They had been received twelve months ago from London, and had been "dumped" with other stores in an out-of-the-way place. Recently one of the cases was opened and was found to contain a female figure in bronze with a helmet on her head. This was intended to represent Victory and was designed to commemorate the heroism of Australian soldiers. The statue was a gift of the commonwealth by Bertina Mackenral, the Australian sculptor.
The smaller case contained the base of the statue. The unfortunate oversight has been rectified and Australia's thanks have been sent to Mr. Macken-ral.

To Waterproof Matches.

One of the commonest experiences of the camper is that of finding that matches are so damp that they will not strike. All this trouble may be avoided by providing oneself with waterproof matches. These are easily made in the following way: Melt a few lumps of candle wax in an old can on the stove. Allow this to cool a little and then, before it has set, dip the matches in, one at a time. Treat the heads and about half of the wooden part. Place the matches on one side to cool. Matches treated in this simple manner have been soaked in water for many hours, and they have ignited as readily as those which were perfectly dry. The only difference is that, in striking, it is needful to do so a trifle more firmly so as to get through the thin film of wax surrounding the head. When once the flame starts, the match burns very readily, owing to the wax which had adhered to the wood. Any ordinary matches can be treated in the manner described.—S. Leonard Boston in St.
Nicholas.

Use the Hours Wisely.

Many men whose time had never been turned to account until they were past 40 have still had enough left to accomplish great things in the world.

But these are the most sincere mourners for the years that might have been utilized.

If you will begin to-day to bear in mind that time cannot be hoarded, and that every hour of it should be converted into something that can be hoarded, you may lay the foundation for a fortune. You will certainly lay the foundation for happiness by and by.

Count your hours and allot each one to some task or to some profitable recreation. See that none of them slip by. They are as water through a mill, which, if sent over the wheel, creates valuable energy, but which spilled over the dam is gone forever.—John Blake, in Chicago Daily News.

You Never Can Tell.

Guest (upon approaching his host's home in the suburb)—Ah, there are some of your family on the veranda.
See if I can guess who they are. The girl in short dresses is your daughter, the young man in riding breeches is your son and the lady in the—er—tea gown is your charming wife.

Host—No, you are all wrong. The girl in the short dresses is my grandmother; the young fellow in riding breeches is my wife and the lady in the tea gown is my 10-year-old daughter, who likes to dress up in her great-grandmother's dresses.—Judge.

Roses for Every Section.

The Department of Agriculture in a rose zone map shows how frosts limit rose culture in certain sections. Tea roses by this map can be grown throughout the South and in California, or wherever the frosts are over in March. Hybrid tea roses are safe farther north to southern Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, New Mexico and Arizona, where the frosts are over in April. Hybrid perpetuals and some hardy specimens can be grown in the northern states where the last frost is in May, but where frosts occur during the summer, as in parts of the northwest, success with outdoor roses is difficult.

This schedule is based on the supposition that roses in the districts assigned to them as safe will need no special care in the winter. With winter coverings of earth, straw and burlap, many roses will resist frost and cold. Some hybrid tea roses, for example, can be grown in Minnesota and Massachusetts.

There are thousands of varieties of roses, and several hundred new ones are produced each year, so that there are roses adaptable to practically every part of the country.

All True.

The guest was a smiling, sly sort of man. He hoped to make good with his host by winning the affection of his children. But for some reason seven-year-old Mary did not like him.
Still he persisted and one evening when he entered the house and saw her all bedecked in a new dress, he said meaningly, "Fine feathers make fine birds, I see," and smiled at her father.

Mary turned and looked at him and noticed the fur collar on his overcoat.
And then a little giggle escaped her.
"Oh, fine fur makes foxes, too," she returned.

But she didn't know why the guest colored.

Paraguay's Advanced Ideas.

Students in the Paraguayan Institute are to be taught wrestling and fencing.
Gymnastics will be given by a corps of professors in the schools and colleges of the republic of Paraguay. The instruction of the greatest number of inhabitants possible in physical exercises will be encouraged by local championships, national and international games, and by propaganda in favor of physical development through lectures and sporting publications.

Completely Educated.

"Mrs. Brooks says she has no longer any fault to find with her husband."
"Meaning, I suppose, that she long ago found all the faults he has."— American Legion Weekly.

"Findings is Keepings."

"The appellate division of the Supreme court of New York, has decided that 'findings is keepings,' even for a copper," writes the New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger.
"You see, Policeman Nicholas J. Majeski was off duty when he picked up an envelope lying on the sidewalk in Third avenue. Lucky pick! Envelope contained fourteen $50 Liberty bonds. That was in April two years ago, and being an honest 'cop' he turned them in. No owner turned up and recently Nick went around to the lost property bureau and put in a claim for them as their finder. 'If you were a citizen you could have them,' said his superior officer, 'but you are just a cop and the police rules and regulations say the proceeds from unclaimed property found by members of the force goes to the police pension fund.' Nick hired himself a lawyer, made a fight for the bonds and the law stands back of him."

Church Burs Collection Plate.

A new method of meeting church expenses is told by the London Morning Post, which reports that collections have recently been entirely abolished at the parish church of Fulham, in London, except for special occasions for objects not connected with the parish.

Church expenses will be met out of a special fund which has been formed and to which every member of the congregation is asked to contribute a definite sum weekly. The experiment is said to be the first of its kind so far as the Church of England is concerned, but the vicar of Priltwell, who was secretary of last year's church congress at Southend, has for some time had a very successful special fund at his church, if he has not entirely abolished the ordinary collections.

Snake Adopts Mouse.

A white mouse placed in the cage with a South American boa constrictor as food has been adopted by the snake, according to Edwin A. Osborne of No.
9518 1116th Street, Richmond Hill, owner of the unusual family. The mouse has made a nest of straw in the coils of the boa and Mr. Osborne declares the most amicable relations exist between the two.

The snake recently crushed to death a large rat in twenty-four seconds. The reptile refused to eat the rat, however.—New York World.
