LOST 36 HOURS IN WOODS
Young Girl Turns Up at New Jersey Farm After Night in Woods.
Lakewood, N. J.—Elsie Wolke, eighteen years old, daughter of Karl Wolke, occupant of a small bungalow on the edge of the dense woods here, was returned to her parents after she had stayed for 36 hours in the woods. Searching parties of farmers and police, aided by ten dogs, scoured the woods for the girl, but were unable to find her.

Some time later she entered the home of Morris Kaplanoff, a farmer, two miles from here on the road to Tom's River. Her clothes were torn and her face and arms scratched from brambles. She was unable to tell her name, but said the family letter box was 87 on the rural free-delivery route.
Kaplanoff learned from the girl that she had slept during the night in a cemetery in the woods, where two parties of searchers had converged during the hunt. She was taken to her home.

Fisherman Lands Woodchuck.
Winsted, Conn.—Harry Dewey, while trout fishing, stopped long enough to eat his luncheon and afterwards when he picked up his fish basket on the bank of a brook he found a baby woodchuck inside. He quickly closed the cover of the basket, imprisoning the little animal, which now has a home.

CUT LETTUCE FOR SHIPMENT
Far Less Decay Developed in Transit
When Two or Three Lower Leaves Are Removed.

Carefully cut lettuce, with the two or three lower leaves and all diseased leaves removed, develops far less decay in transit than the commercially cut lettuce in experimental shipments from Florida to northern markets, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

POTATOES IN ROTATION PLAN
Specialists Advise Interval of Two or More Years Between Crops for Best Results.
Specialists state that it is best to grow field potatoes in a regular rotation, keeping an interval of two or more years between the potato crops because of the liability of disease carrying over from one crop to the other.

QUALITY AND HONESTY COUNT
Farmer Can't Make No. 1 Hog Out of No. 2 Animal by Selling it Through Cooperative Market.
You can't make a No. 1 hog out of a No. 2 merely by selling it through cooperative marketing. Quality and all-round honesty will continue to be the most compelling virtue of all right-thinking men and women.

SELECT EGGS FOR SETTING
Avoid Those That Are Abnormally Small and Poorly Shaped--Stick to One Color.
Eggs that are abnormally small and poorly shaped should not be used for incubation; neither should eggs that have thin or very porous shells, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. If possible, eggs should be set when fresh, and it is never advisable to use for hatching eggs that are more than two weeks old. One of the quickest ways to obtain uniformity in the offspring is to select uniformly good-sized eggs of the same color.

The SANDMAN STORY

GREEDY TIM.
GREEDY TIM was a little squirrel and one day he overheard his mother saying she was going to give a big dinner soon and must begin to get the cakes and pies and things ready at once.

The finest thing that Mrs. Squirrel was to give her guests was a huge nut pie—a pie so big that it would take two of the family to place it on the table.

Greedy Tim dearly loved nut pie, and he watched his mother make it, with great longing for a piece, but at the undercrust until he had a hole made big enough for him to get inside and then he began to eat. He had not eaten very much, though, before he heard a sound—some one was coming—and Tim kept very still inside the pie.

The next thing he knew the pie was being carried by his mother and father to the dining room and he heard all the guests exclaim: "Oh, what a beautiful pie!"

But the next thing he heard made him tremble so he was sure the pie must be shaking, for his father began to sharpen the knife with which he was to cut the wonderful pie.

"You must make it very sharp," he heard his mother say, "because the crust must be cut right through and not broken."

Tim began to tremble more, and then his father put the knife on the top crust and poor Tim could stand no more.

Up he jumped, right through the top crust, and frightened the guests almost out of their senses; but he did not frighten his mother, for no sooner had Tim showed his head than Mrs. Squirrel grabbed him and out into the kitchen she marched poor Tim, trembling more than he had inside the pie.

"So you thought you would eat up my nice nut pie, did you; you greedy boy," she said, as she tinged Tim's legs with a switch.

Tim was not only punished with the switch, but he did not get any of the left-over goodies from the party the next day, as his brothers did, who stayed in bed and slept, as good squirrels should, when the grownups were having a party.

THE RIGHT THING AT THE RIGHT TIME

WHAT ABOUT GOSSIP?
Be thou as chaste as ice, as pure as snow, thou shalt not escape calumny.—Shakespeare.

PERSONAL
THE trained nurse who is worthy of her profession sticks pretty strictly to the etiquette that makes the ruling that the nurse and the doctor should regard as confidential any information or impression gained of their patients or patients' families as a result of their professional relationships.

While the young nurse is in training she usually learns to her grief the embarrassing results of indulging in what seems sometimes like harmless gossip concerning her patients; so that by the time she goes out on cases in private homes she is usually pretty well cured of any natural desire to gossip.

But what about the others who come into our homes who sometimes learn things about us and our affairs that we might not wish to have bandied about the neighborhood? What a blessing it would be if they, too, had been given instruction in a sort of professional etiquette that would seal their tongues! It may not be that there are bits of information that it would really embarrass us to have known, but in the course of telling, many facts become distorted and twisted sometimes past all recognition.

But whether or not you are bound by professional etiquette, if your work takes you into other people's homes or gives you a special insight into other people's lives, remember that common courtesies forbid you to make feed for gossip of this information.

Remember that many a seamstress and dressmaker has brought real unpopularity on herself because she has gained the reputation of being a gossip.

And remember that it is just as ill-bred to "pump" for the bits of gossip that you crave as it is to spread them.

"You never talk scandal."
"No," replied Miss Cayenne. "The fact that people do something terrible is no reason why I should say something shocking."

Clinging to Prose.
"I have observed that you never quote Shakespeare in your speeches."
"No," replied Senator Sorghum; "I have trouble enough keeping my facts and figures straight, without being called down by people who specialize on pointing out misquotations."

Not Strange.
Miss Fuss—Yes, that's a photo of my maiden aunt. Perhaps you saw her name in the papers last week? She frightened away a burglar.

SIDE LINES INSURE AGAINST BAD CROPS

Many Stories of Achievements Reported From South.

Case Cited of Arkansas Woman, With Co-operation of Husband, Sold $1,200 Worth of Milk, Butter and Eggs in Year.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Numerous little stories of big achievement are encountered in going through the reports to the United States Department of Agriculture from home demonstration agents in the South. In estimating the money value of the returns reported in the various activities of the clubs it is necessary, of course, to remember that account seldom is taken of the land value, interest on investment, board and lodging, and such things, although credit for labor at the current rate of pay is set down in most cases.

However, the value of the achievements rests upon something more important than money—the fine community effect, the leadership developed, the general all-round rise in agricultural morale. It is impossible not to be deeply impressed by the work reports of some of these southern women and girls, results accomplished, very often, under conditions of unusual difficulty and discouragement. An example of what may be accomplished under the stimulus of the home demonstration work and with encouragement and co-operation in the home is afforded by the case of Mrs. Jim Dorris of Bear, Ark., who enjoys the hearty co-operation of her husband in the work she is doing. With from three to six cows this couple sold, from January 1 to December, last year, $458.85 worth of milk and $405.75 of butter, and from 69 hens $249.80 worth of eggs. This $1,200 from side lines, coming in through the years, is important on any farm, and in many cases is a form of insurance against crop failures.

WINDBREAKS SAVE MOISTURE

Farming and Living Conditions More Favorable in Regions Where Trees Are Planted.

When the prairie regions of the Middle West were first developed the lack of trees was severely felt. The clear sweep of the winds across the plains was a great hindrance to agriculture, for the soil was dried out quickly by evaporation, grain was lodged, and orchards injured by the force of the wind. Windbreaks were the only remedy and thousands of miles of them were planted along roads and farm division lines. The effect of this planting, although felt only gradually, was very distinct; farming and living conditions became more favorable throughout the whole region.

Secret of Success.

If a man wants to succeed he must give what success demands—hard work and thought. If he won't give it he has no right to kick and say luck is against him.

A Chinese Custom.

In China, at dinners and theatrical performances, it is customary to provide guests or spectators with hot towels saturated with scented water for wiping their faces.

A Lady of Distinction.

Is recognized by the delicate fascinating influence of the perfume she uses. A bath with Cuticura Soap and hot water to thoroughly cleanse the pores, followed by a dusting with Cuticura Talcum Powder usually means a clear, sweet, healthy skin.—Adv.
