Entered as second class mail matter September 2, 1914, at the postoffice at Maupin, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

The true prosperity of a community depends much upon the happiness, contentment and moral stigma of its members, but these factors are in turn largely dependant upon the frequency and nature of social gatherings, or social functions.

Now is the time for us people of Maupin to awaken ourselves, to think seriously and to decide wisely in the crisis that confronts us to seize the opportunity that is open to us. It is true we have weighty and important business considerations, but new plans that are being projected, are so pregnant with possibilities for good for the future of ourselves and our children that we should welcome the chance to solve them with the combined wisdom of the community.

Let us provide ample, sanitary, legitimate meeting places for our children, our young people and ourselves. Let us have a commodious, convenient, suitable sanitary provision for our people to assemble in where the social activities of the community may be enjoyed with comfort and profit. Let us have a place with ample ventilation where our youth may assemble under proper chaperonage and enjoy those activities and privileges that belong properly and are necessary to the proper functional development of youthful lives, such as gymnastic exercises, basket, volley and indoor baseball, as well as the more generally social affairs of entertainments, social programs, suppers, pageants, holiday exercises and such like.

Is it cheaper for us to close our eyes to such opportunities and neglect them and allow, may force our children to seek the satisfaction of the natural and legitimate impulses of their social natures in illicit and questionable lines of amusement, either openly defying our wishes in the matter or with our rather silent but tacit consent, indulging in social recreation that is not beneficial if it is not positively harmful? Or should we not rather provide for them the opportunities to enjoy and develop the natural, right and proper inherent, possibly latent possibilities of their natures, where we may renew our own natures in associating and commingling with them in their social life and thus lend our finance and our influence for a better community socially, educationally, industrially, financially? Are you with us?
