(Mrs. John McCorkle)

Lon Wing and wife were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wing Monday.

Mr. Hull and wife, of Smoek, were in Tygh on business the first of the week.

Mr. Fagen is "at home" with the R. W. McCorkle family having changed his place of abode.

T. J. Swift and wife and Zean Watkins spent a couple of days visiting friends in Dufur, last week.

The Bazaar held in the hall last Wednesday night was a success both socially and financially.

G. L. Harpham, of Wapinitia, has closed the doors of his hotel. This will be an inconvenience to the traveling public.

All members of Tywasor Grange are requested to be present Friday evening, the 20th, as it is election night.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the Christmas tree to be held in the Moad hall Tuesday night, Christmas eve.

There is to be a Christmas tree in the hall at Kingsley Christmas eve, every body come and enjoy a good time.

Earnest Mayhew moved his family into their new residence last Monday. These genial people are welcome residents of Tygh.

Esther Rogers is employed in the D. Morris home.

Winter has come to Tygh Valley sure. The first snow of the season fell to the depth of three inches.

A load of merchandise passed through Tygh Saturday enroute to G. L. Harpham of Wapinitia who is going to start a general merchandise store at that place.

Mrs. Martin Wing, of Tygh Valley, who has been staying with her son-in-law, S. E. Johnson, in this city, is convalescing from an attack of pneumonia—Dallea Chronicle.

Around Maupin

One night last week the brick flue in Attorney Dufur's residence fell over to the ground. Too much sand in the cement with which it was constructed is thought to have been the cause.

Don't forget the Pendleton Woolen Mills robes and blankets at R. E. Wilson Co.

Congressman Nick Sinnott has notified The Maupin Times that he will make distribution of government seeds allotted to him this year through the papers in his district as this method has proved so successful for several years in getting same into the hands of those who most desired them. There will be several thousand more seeds allotted to each member of Congress this year than there were last year. Congressman Sinnott will send a package of seeds to any constituent writing directly to him at Washington, after they are ready for distribution; sometime after the first of the year.

Stovall's fly Swatters 5c each Maupin Drug Store.

H. R. Kaiser and H. R. Jr. are in The Dalles. Mrs. Kaiser learned by telephone that the train which they were on had been snowbound at White Salmon, Wn., for 72 hours, the passengers finally being transferred to a river steamer and taken on to Portland.

J. M. Conklin is spending the winter with his family in Berkeley, Cal.

The White river bridge near Tygh is now being taveled, but the two upper bridges are said to be impassible owing to high water.

The young people have had a round of enjoyment with sleds on the snow and ice.

While making the decent of the hill between the ball ground and R. H. DeCamp's place for a bob sled one day last week Art Fargher, "Skinner" Morrow and George Morris, lost their footing and slid down over ice and sage brush at a speed eye-witness claim to have been 45 miles an hour. Had it not been for tall sage brush and a wire fence George would most certainly have continued his course to the railroad track, which undoubtedly would have been serious injury for him.

Monday, a number of the cars and trucks were run out for a little exercise, the first since the snow. Some hay, fuel and lumber were hauled.

Woodcock Bros. flour mill has not been running the past few days due to shortage of fuel to operate their engine.

Work on the R. E. Wilson Co. building is progressing rapidly, some of the interior being completed.

Work was resumed Saturday morning on the construction of the concrete buildings. Snow and ice were cleared away and the mixer was "chugging" again the fore part of the week.

Vernon Roberts commenced Wednesday morning to make the stage trip to Wapinitia, driving a team and hack.

A number of Warm Spring Indians were kept in Maupin by the storm and found a box car a welcome refuge.

Precautions Against Fire.

Dry grass along the roadsides and in the pasture fields is a serious menace to a ripe crop of grain. A spark from a match or passing train or emitted from the exhaust of an automobile engine, or a lighted cigarette or cigar stub thrown carelessly aside, can easily start a fire which, with surroundings favoring its spreading, will result in irreparable loss and destroy a quantity of grain sufficient to furnish an entire community with food. Where conditions permit, furrows should be plowed between the grass and the grain. If this is not possible, the grass should be mowed close enough to afford a check to the spreading of fire.

A New Hazard.

A comparatively new danger to grain fields is white-hot carbon discharged from the exhausts of tractors when pulling up-hill or through a heavy part of the crop. Every exhaust should be protected by a fine wire screen, which should be renewed at least once a month, as the heat becomes so intense as to quickly destroy its effectiveness. When the grain has been threshed and piled in the field, it should be protected by a sufficient number of furrows to prevent its destruction from the burning of stubble.

Danger From Threshers.

The time of one of the great dangers to grain and grain fields in the North west is during the threshing season and is caused by careless methods in threshing and piling the threshed grain too near to the straw stacks. Every threshing machine by the very reason of its operations collects a certain amount of chaff or dust, which is highly inflammable and subject to explosion, and the farmer should insist that before a threshing machine commences operations on his settings the machine be thoroughly cleaned out, flies examined and water tanks kept full. If possible, the straw stacks should be removed every night, but where this is not possible then under no circumstances should the threshed grain be piled so close to the thresher or the straw stacks that the burning of either would endanger the grain. Every threshing machine owner or operator should be required to have a good sized chemical tank with its equipment to immediately extinguish small fires.

If not sufficiently cared, and whether baled or loose, hay will generate gases which are susceptible of spontaneous combustion unless the barn is sufficiently ventilated to carry off these gases. Every particle of dry grass and all litter and rubbish should be removed from barnyards and from all buildings on the farm. Under no circumstances should smoking or the use of matches be permitted around barn buildings, while candles or any other open flame should be strictly prohibited and only closed lanterns or electric pocket flashlights allowed in or around barns carrying any quantity of hay.

If you have a library book from Cyr's please bring it back to the Maupin Drug Store when you are through with it.
