W. E. Woodcock and Don Miller were over from Wamic Tuesday after flour, they report a flour famine, in that vicinity but were unable to take back a very large supply, on account of the condition of the roads which at this time are almost impassible between that place and Maupin.

Narrow Escape from Death

During the recent snow blockade Jim Woodcock and Tedium Crabtree narrowly escaped with their lives while shoveling snow and ice from the platform of Woodcock Bros. grain warehouse on the O. W. R. R. & N. track, the heavy snow and ice on the iron roof suddenly gave way. The men, hearing the slide coming, jumped to the edge of the platform to escape being crushed, but the momentum of the slide carried the snow and ice far out to the edge of the platform, striking the men at their ankles and precipitating them head foremost to the railroad track some 20 feet below. With the assistance of E. C. Woodcock they were able to free themselves from the mass of snow and ice. Mr. Woodcock suffered a sprained arm and Mr. Crabtree's hand was badly lacerated. Had the slide struck them with full force they would undoubtedly have been crushed.

Fourteen Years Ago

(from the Tygh Valley Bee, Feb. 14, 1907, E. O. Shepherd, Editor.)
(Mrs. John McCorkle)

Mrs. Van Woodruff had the misfortune to fall and hurt her right knee rendering her quite lame which is a great inconvenience to her in moving about.

A. A. Bonney returned last week from a visit to Miss Bessie in Portland. He reports an improvement in her health. Her many friends are pleased to hear that she is better.

Mrs. Hattie Hamill, who has been visiting for some time with Mrs. Van Woodruff, left on the stage Monday morning for Merominee where she will remain a few days with Mrs. Grace Morris before returning to relatives in Iowa.

Some little excitement was caused Monday about noon when the Worrell residence was found to be on fire. Several men and some women came to the rescue and extinguished the fire. It was caused by the stove pipe coming unjointed in the garret. No serious damage was done.

The remains of Miss Alexander, who, while teaching school at this place three years ago was stricken with pneumonia and died, were taken from their resting place a week ago Monday and conveyed to Toledo, Lincoln County for final interment.

In spite of the pitchy darkness of the evening and the drenching rain falling in gusts of wild torrents Saturday night a good sized audience listened attentively to the splendid program rendered by the talent of the Ladies' Social Club. The evening's entertainment was gotten up and conducted solely by the ladies, and the whole performance was rendered by young ladies and little girls except one or two pieces, wherein two or three small boys figured. After the program was over the dining room doors were thrown open and coffee with sandwiches and cake was served at ten cents a cup. The affair was most successful both from a literary and financial point.

Plenty of fresh ground corn meal at the Valley Roller Mills.

Mr. A. M. Young has lately received a letter from his father who about two months ago decided to visit the east. Going to Adams Nebraska, where he met a sister whom he had not seen for fifty years. After spending some time there he visited relatives in Minneapolis Minnesota and no doubt would have remained all winter had the winter suited him. Mr. Young says that he went the wrong time of the year. As he is expected to visit Tygh Valley soon we will endeavor to ascertain more fully why he returned to Oregon quick. We think the weather had a great deal to do with it.

To whom it may concern—
Intelligence having reached my ears to the effect that some bad boys have been shooting my wife's chickens with air guns. I desire to say that I have concluded to offer a large reward for the apprehension of the guilty parties. I don't believe that there are boys in Tygh that would do such a crime but this matter must be sifted down as great damage has occurred by a sudden scarcity of eggs and if the guilty parties are apprehended there will be a lively time in this old town, "when court sets".

A. M. Young.

That two of Tygh Valley's supposed good citizens are afflicted by the dread malady, kleptomania, is the current report and is vouched for by one of the most popular cooks in town, Mrs. R. J. Muir. The rumor is that last Sunday before going to Sunday school the above mentioned cook prepared and placed in the oven to roast a fine turkey of immense proportions. On returning home, accompanied by several guests, lo, the fowl had abandoned its cozy quarter and was no where to be found though a posse searched the premises. After much deliberation on the subject Mrs. Muir, (she's Irish you know) became considerably irritated and was using the English language within precedent fluency for the benefit of the "scoundrels," when A. C. Simson and Earnest Mayhew with hanging heads reminding one of whipped puppies, returned the missing bird roasted "to a turn". Well, the joke took a turn and all participated in a long and hearty laugh over the well played jest Mrs. Muir and guests are loud in their praise of Mr. Simson's ability to roast turkey.

Neighbors and Royal Neighbors don't forget the Installation January 8th don't forget the lunch too.

It is rumored that as soon as spring weather settles Tygh is to have a planing mill and lumber yard.

Tywasor Grange will hold a public installation and basket supper Friday (tomorrow) night at the hall. The public will be admitted after eight o'clock. All are invited to attend.

WAPINITIA

The patrons of the Oak Grove school met at the school house on the evening of December 20 to enjoy the fine program and Christmas tree which had been gotten up under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Bradley.

The weather on that night was all that could be wished for and the sleighing was fine.

The school house was well filled and tastefully decorated; a large tree filled one side of the upper side of the room while seats were arranged for the children on the other side of the chimney.

The tree was loaded with gifts both useful and ornamental.

After the program was finished there came a sound of bells from over head and in a moment Santa Claus (Guy Peterson) came down the ladder which had been thoughtfully placed by the side of the chimney after a few words of greeting to the children, Santa Claus, assisted by Mr. Henry Peterson and O. S. Walters proceeded to distribute the gifts. There was much laughter when Mr. Ben Foreman received a white flannel rabbit and a bag of candy, while the teacher received a rag doll. Every body went home well pleased and all joined in wishing their their teacher a merry Christmas.

The school has done well under the able management of Mrs. Bradley.

The average daily attendance for the last month was 14.6 and per cent of attendance was 93.

Below is the program as rendered by the pupils.
