WORLD HAPPENINGS OF CURRENT WEEK

Daily News Items.

COMPILED FOR YOU

Events of Noted People, Governments and Pacific Northwest, and Other Things Worth Knowing.

Figures given out in Seattle, Wash. Monday by Mayor Caldwell showed a decrease in the Seattle municipal street railway deficit during January, 1922, of $17,043,54.

the westbound trans-Atlantic steamcutter Seneca. The Seneca is main taining the international ice patrol.

Non-union coal miners in both anthracite and bituminous fields will join in large numbers with union miners in the coal strike April 1, John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, predicted Tuesday.

The house Monday, by a 3-to-1 vote, added $15,000,000 to the amount car- plainly benefited him, as evidenced industry with an annual holiday in ried in the army bill for river and harbor improvements, disregarding recommendations of the budget bureau and of the appropriations com-

An unexpected snowslide at Alamo, B. C., has cut off the Queen Bess mine, where seven persons are reported isolated. Telephone communication has been established and it is learned the camp is provisioned for a month or six weeks.

more attention to home cellars this issue. year than ever before, according to exhibitors at Chicago's second annual "own your home" exposition at the Collseum. No 1922 cellar is considered complete without its "work

The Russian bolsheviki continue to export large amounts of gold. In one week 515 cases of gold coins arrived in Stockholm from Reval, while in another week an Esthonian icebreaker brought 529 cases valued at $22,000,-000. It is understood that these parcels of gold only pass to America.

ated on and the connection of flesh each phase of the speech fitted in with Scotia were in operation. Five thouthat joins them severed should either the preceding like a carpenter's joint. of them die of their present illness Plans for the operation were completed Tuesday in Chicago. The two. Josepfa and Rosa Blazek, were declared to be in a serious condition from an attack of jaundice.

are advancing steadily toward Vladivostok, "pursuing the demoralized and completely defeated bands of the Merkuloff troops," according to a cablegram received in Washington Tuesday from Chita by the Washington office of the "dalta," the official news agency of the republic.

Radium valued at $20,000 stolen unconscious has been located in Syra-It was at first thought that the radium had been lost in the hospital and an order. expert from Pittsburg made a vain search of the city's sewers.

The part of President Harding in the stump on behalf of any congresgo out on the stump and orate.

August Probst, ex-butler at the Roll. ing Rock club, near Pittsburg, who charged he was being "railroaded" out of the country because of a love affair with Miss Virginia Craigie Mc-Kay, prominent society girl, was illegally ordered deported. Federal Judge Knox ruled Tuesday, in a decision on Probst's habeas corpus action. Probst was held, however, for further deportation proceedings.

Panic reigned in the Union Congregational church in Green Bay, Wis., Tuesday night when a bomb was thrown into an audience of 500 persons gathered to hear William El. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, world-famed pro- Republican announced Sunday night who was missing two hours. The famhibitionist, deliver his address on that beginning on Monday the price from the action of the bomb that the handling had shaken its contents, announced that the price of its evencausing it to explode in much the ing edition would be reduced from 2 boy told his mother that Marlow took same manner as a defective fire crack-cents to 1 cent, with its morning edi-hold of his waist with his teeth and London. - The house of commons Monday night, after an unexciting debate, adopted by the substantial ma-Brief Resume Most Important Jority of 278 Premier Lloyd George's 100,000 Non-Union Workers Inresolution calling for confidence in the government's policy on the coming economic coference at Genoa. The vote was 372 to 94.

> Prior to this the house by a vote of 397 to 84 rejected an amendment proposed by John Robert Clynes, laborite, which, while approving an in- Officials Do Not Expect Exact Show ternational economic and financial conference, declared that the government was not competent to represent the country at such a conference and did not have the confidence of the country.

utes of such tenseness as it had not Two large icebergs were reported in experienced for many months, when the prime minister, fresh from his ship lanes Tuesday by the coast guard retirement in the country, threw down the gauntlet to his opponents and denocuous Genoa resolution was tanta- soon. mount to a vote of confidence or lack of confidence in the government.

If Mr. Lloyd George has tired of office, as his son announced Saturday, certainly he appeared in fighting ficult to gauge, however, because Satmood as he entered the house amidst by his bronzed face and quick step, the coal fields. and as he strode to the ministerial bench with a somewhat defiant attitude, his whole bearing was that of centered in Pennsylvania, West Vira man entering upon a great fight with confidence in his own powers.

The house was crowded, interest being accentuated by conflicting reports on whether the premier would demand a vote of confidence in connection with the Genoa resolution, or fore the middle of next week. whether in view of the delicate po-Home sellers in Chicago are paying litical situation he would sidestep the passes admitting them to the proceed- for some time. ings and the galleries were filled with the more fortunate. Among the distinguished persons present was the field leaders of the union were plan- of amazement and relief going across who frequently smiled broadly at the days, their purpose being to gain as premier's quaint or biting humor.

Mr. Lloyd George's speech obviously he is capable of, but was rather an by the suspension, the union leaders exhibition of what the critics in the regarded any break in their battle- his feet. gallery called masterly handling of front as impossible. his audience. He coaxed, cajoled, The "Siamese twins" will be oper- joked and defied them in turn, but day night, when the Ku Klux Klan which has another year to run. In Troops of the far eastern republic negro bootblack, who was alleged to remain in the mines to protect the pallid daughter. "I thought we'd kept have insulted several women, while if an intoxicated condition. The klansmen had attended a lecture and mofollowing the programme it was reported to them that the negro had men. stopped women on the street and made insulting remarks to them.

Ku Klux Eject Negro.

Squads were quickly formed and a careful search of the city was made, midnight be continued, while operafrom the side of a patient in the Ham- but the negro managed to get into tors were said to be seeking reducliton, Ont., city hospital while he was hiding and remained there. When tions, located after daybreak he was given cuse, N. Y., it was learned Tuesday. 24 hours to leave the city and he immediately began to comply with the Editor and Solon Clash.

Jackson, Miss .- A fistleuff occurred the coming congressional campaign on the floor of the lower house Monwill be a silent one, it was learned at day between Jeff Collins, representathe White House, where it was said tive, and Frederick Sullens, editor of that the president is averse to taking the Daily News. The difficulty was also several vital organs in common. "You ought to be ashamed of yourself said to have been provoked by an The death was due to intestinal ob- Cousin Sarah," he went on, "to use sional candidates. Mr. Harding, it editorial in the Daily News which rewas said, leans toward the view that ferred to an alleged attempt of Mr. it is not the part of the president to Collins to present adoption of a committee report that investigated the charges brought by Governor Russell against the first insurance companies.

Bulgaria Fulfills Obligation.

Sofia. - Bulgaria has fulfilled her obligation under the peace treaty to deliver a large number of cattle and and Greece. The mixed commissions. composed of representatives of the countries interested, have parted on most cordial and friendly terms in its of the law. consequence of the satisfactory fulfillment of this condition.

Newspapers Cut Prices.

Springfield, Mass.-The Springfield "The New India." It was evident would be reduced from 3 cents to 1 vain. The dog conducted a search cent a copy. The Springfield Union tion remaining at 2 cents.

Commons BACKS PREMIER 600,000 ON STRIKE; COAL MINES SHUT

cluded in Figures.

REPORTS YET VAGUE

ing for Whole Country to Be Known for Some Time.

Indianapolis.—Complete suspension of coal mining by union workers mark-In the earlier part of the session ed the beginning Saturday of the nathe house passed an hour and 20 min- tion-wide walkout ordered by the United Mine Workers of America. Union leaders estimated 600,000 miners, including 100,000 nonunion men, had enlisted in the movement and preclared that a vote on the hitherto in- dicted no change could be expected

The exact effectiveness of the suspension, especially in the non-union and partly organized fields, was difurday also marked the anniversary of a storm of cheering. His rest had the eight-hour work day in the coal

The reports from field leaders showed the great bulk of the suspension ginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, with every determination to win and Iowa, Kansas and nearby southwestern states.

> Reports from other fields were some what vague and union officials did not expect an exact showing for the entire country would be available be-

President Lewis estimated that 6000 of the 7500 mines in the country that have been operating recently had Great crowds of people vainly bom- closed and in addition it was pointed barded the commons officials for out that 2500 mines have been idle

In various fields - particularly in American ambassador, Mr. Harvey, ning meetings during the next few much support as possible from the nonunion workers. In strongly unionwas not an attempt at oratory such as | ized fields, which were hit the hardest Mines in western Canada were reported as closed, but those in Nova sand union miners in Kentucky also were scheduled under the union's programme to remain at work, Mr. Lewis dead. I thought I'd lost you forever." Roseburg, Or. - Great excitement declaring that this was in harmony was caused here about midnight Sun- with a contract with the operators, and Mrs. Curtis stumbled to her feet. started a search for Sam Jackson, addition, 13,000 union men were to to union headquarters here indicated butter in my house, miss," she blurted that disputes had developed in Iowa, at Tony. "Well, it's what one might tion picture given by the order and Montana and Washington as to the have expected of you-you huzzy. wages to be paid these maintenance

The union leaders in these states were insisting that the wages provided in the contracts expiring Friday

Twins' Spines Joined.

Chicago.-The "Slamese twins," Josefa and Rosa Blazek, who died last at him. "Oh, please-please believe week, were joined at the spine and me.' severing them would have been fatal. according to X-ray photographs taken after their death.

The pictures, it was declared, showed a continuous U-shaped spine and Brady, radiographer.

Sunday Movies Favored.

Tacoma, Wash.-Sunday movies and baseball are planks in the platform of the so-called church ticket of Sumner, in the Puyallup valley, adopted unanimously at a political caucus following the nomination of Dr. C. E. Judd for mayor; L. D. Ryan and Clyde Tuel materials to Jugo-Slavia, Roumania for councilmen, and O. T. Fryar for treasurer. Street dancing under proper supervision was also favored, as was personal freedom within the lim-

Setter Rescues Child.

Goshen, N. Y .- Marlow, a setter owned by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sims, rescued their 4-year-old son Charles ily and neighbors hunted the fields in alone and trailed the child to a marsh. where he was stuck in the mud. The pulled him from the slough.

"YOU, YOU HUZZY!"

Synopsis.—Lonely and friendless, Tonnibel Devon, living on a canal boat with a brutal father and a worn-out, discouraged mother, wanders into a Salvation army hall at Ithaca, N. Y. There she meets a young Salvation army captain. Philip MacCauley. Urfath Devon, Tony's father, announces he has arranged for Tony to marry Reginald Brown, a worthless companion. naid Brown, a worthless compan-ion. Mrs. Devon objects, and Uriah beats her. Their quarrel reveals that there is a secret between them in which Tony is the central figure. Tony refuses to marry Reginald and escapes a beating by jumping into the lake. She finds a baby's picture with offer of reward for its delivery to a Doctor Pendiehaven. With the Pendlehavens, a family With the Pendlehavena, a family of wealth, live Mrs. Curtia, a cousin, her daughter and son, Katherine Curtia and Reginald Brown. Katherine is in love with Philip Mac-Cauley, Tonnibel returns the picture to Doctor John, and learns it belongs to his brother, Dr. Paul Pendlehaven. It is a portrait of Doctor Paul's daughter, stolen in John you with Doctor Paul's daughter, stolen in infancy. Doctor John goes with Tony to the canal boat, Mrs. Devon is deeply agitated and makes Tony swear she will never tell of Devons disappear and Tony is taken into the Pendlehaven house as a companion to Doctor Paul. Philip fights with Reginald on the boat and saves Tony. Urlah appears, orders Philip off and locks up Tony. Philip again rescues her. They exchange love vows. Doctor Paul imchange love vows. Doctor Paul Im-proves and the Curtises are furi-ous over her presence. Philip and Tony unexpectedly meet in the Pen-dlehaven home.

CHAPTER X-Continued.

She went extremely pale and put out her hand to grasp something for support as if she were going to fall. She Pennsylvania and West Virginia-the saw him rise up slowly, an expression bis face. She smiled, but what a weary little smile it was and how full of pleading, as if she were silently begging him to forgive her for some deed she'd done.

John Pendlehaven gazed at the two young people, and then he too got to "Philip," he said abruptly, "this is Tonnibel Devon. She's Paul's companion. We have—" Philip interrupted the speaker by his sudden bound around the table. "Tony Devon, little Tony," he cried "I thought, oh, I thought you were A noise fell from Katherine's lips.

"So you know her too, Philip," she snarled with a hasty glance at her played the speak while eating broad and "Mother!" gasped Katherine, as Ton-nibel snatched her hands from Philip. "Kathle, you needn't 'mother' me!" cried Mrs. Curtis, blind with rage "Either she goes away or I do. I won't stay in the house with a common sneak-a common-"

"Sarah, sit down," thundered John Pendlehaven, "Don't speak another such word or-

Tony was at the doctor's side before he could finish his threat.

"I didn't sneak," she sald, looking up "That she didn't," cried Philip, com ing to her side. "Consin John, I've known Tony Devon ages, and I didn't even know she was in this house." He turned his flashing eyes upon Mrs. Curtis, who was weeping hysterically. struction, according to George W. such language to a perfectly nice little girl. Why, you've just about broken her heart.'

His voice had sunk to a passionate whisper. His eyes misted in a youthful struggle to control his joy, and-and at the sight of him, Katherine lost her wits entirely.

"Who and what have we been har boring in this house, Cousin John?" she shricked in a high thin voice, struggling to her feet. "A gutter rat, a lit tle snake, a loose girl-'

Each word, brought out with greater chemence and passion than the one before struck the listeners dumb. In shame-faced misery. Tonnibel sank to the floor, dropping her head into her

"Oh, no, I'm not that," she wailed. "My mummy never lived in the gutter; she never did. I was poor, awful

"Poor!" exclaimed Katherine. "You're worse than poor. I suppose you've wheedled Philip the same way you have Cousin Paul."

"Katherine, I command you to be silent," shouted Pendlehaven. "If you say another word, I shall ask you to leave my house." "Well, I never!" screamed Mrs. Cur-

"And you too, Sarah," thrust in the this thing, but I know very well that Tony Devon is not a bad girl."

"That she is not," interjected Philip. "Now I'll tell you all about it." As John Pendlehaven raised her to her feet, Tonnibel lifted her head and fixed her tearful eyes on Captain Mac-Cauley. "You promised you'd never tell anybody," she murmured. Her mind was with the dead Edith Devon, and the words of her own serious reverent onth given in the presence of her wildeyed mother would not allow her to stigma heaped upon her by the Curtis "So I did," admitted Philip, soberly, "but you see now this has happened. You must release me from that promconsent that Philip should lift the

"I can't," sighed Tony. Then turned her face to Pendlehaven. "You'll trust us," she pleaded, waving her hand toward Philip, "Please trust him and me."

"Ha!" shricked Mrs. Curtis. "Trust

"Shut up, Cousin Sarah," snapped Philip at the angry woman. Then he addressed himself to the doctor. "I did promise her I wouldn't tell how we met. And I won't! In fact it isn't any one's business. Is it, Cousin

"Not that I can see," came in rather drawling answer. "I'll repeat what I said before,"

Philip took up hastily. "I didn't know she lived here." "We're ready to believe that-nit," cried Katherine, Captain MacCauley stared at her,

Was this frowning angry girl the smiling, yielding Katherine he had known or thought he had known? "You can believe it or not, Kathle," he told her savagely.

In Shame-Faced Misery Tonnibel Sank to the Floor.

difference to me. But it's true, just the same."

"Wait here for me, Philip," said the doctor, in a low tone, "I'll be back in a moment.

Then he took Tony by the hand and they went out together.

For several tense moments a silence too dreadful to describe settled down upon the dining room. Katherine twisted her fork sulkily and Mrs. Curtis still sniffed in her handkerchief.

Philip looked from one to the other. wishing with all his heart he could say something that would clear the atmosphere. "I'm sorry, Cousin Sarah," he said abruptly, trying to smile. "It certainly was awkward, wasn't it?" "Awkward?" repeated Mrs. Curtis wrinkling her face. "Awkward isn't the word, Philip. It was disgusting. The gorge rose again in his throat Tonnibel Devon is the best girl I know," he asserted. "Poor little thing, I pity her with all my heart." "Pity is akin to love, my dear Philin," sneered Mrs. Curtis.

"Mother," cried Katherine, "Philir wouldn't so far forget himself and his friends and position as to love-well-if you can't keep your tongue still, go This was a shock for Philip. That any girl could speak to her own mother in such a way was beyond his comprehension. The door opened just then and Dr. John walked in "She came down to tell me that Paul wanted me and forgot it," he said in a low tone. "The poor child is quite Mrs. Curtis tossed her head and rose from the table, and Katherine, rising also, followed her mother out of the room.

There was very little said between the young man and his older friend after the ladies had taken their departure, but when Captain MacCauley was ready to leave, he looked anxiously at his companion.

"Cousin John," he murmured. "You won't let any one

"Indeed not," interrupted the doctor, anticipating the lad's plea. "Tony Devon is here to stay, Phil."

"Could I-could I see her, Cousin John, just a minute?" the boy faltered. "Not tonight, old fellow," replied the doctor, kindly. "Tomorrow, perhaps." And Philip had to be content. That evening Katherine spent with her mother in hopeless misery. "He acted just as if he loved her," she walled at one time in their conversation. "I'd give anything to find out how long he's known her."

"So would I," said Mrs. Curtis. "Katherine, we've got to get her away by some means. She's bewitched John -she's brought Paul up from his grave -and there's no telling, she may usurp your place in their wills."

"And now she's hoodwinked Philip," gulped Katherine. "Can't you think of some plan? Can't we claim she steals or something like that?"

"John wouldn't believe it, especially now that Reggie is coming home," was the answer. "His letter today said he'd be here very soon. Everything that happens in this house out of the ordinary is blamed on my poor boy." And she began again to cry.

"Great Heavens, mother, don't do that," screamed Katherine. "Can't you see weeping doesn't do any good? You make me so nervous I could fly. We've got to make some plan to get her out of here. While you're sniveling all the time, you can't think,"

Mrs. Curtis rose and walked to her bedroom door.

"My children have no sympathy for me at all," she shot back. "But you say I can't think while I cry? Well, watch me! I'll bet you five dollars Tony Devon is out of this house before another week is over."

The next morning when Reggie Brown came home, he went directly to his mother. Of course, as usual, she wept at the sight of him and began to upbraid him for his thoughtlessness. Why hadn't he let her know where he was? Why had he been gone so long?

Reggie laughed insolently.

"Do I ever let you know where I go, mater?" he demanded, dropping into an easy chair, "No, I don't, and I won't! I've come for five hundred dollars I have to have. Now cough it up."

"I haven't that much money in the world," sobbed Mrs. Curtis. "Then wheedle it out of Cousin John," he commanded. "I've shaply got to have it!" Paying no heed to his gruff command, Mrs. Curtis rocked to and fro in excess of agony. "If Paul had died," she wept, "we'd have had a lot of money-

"How do you know?" was Reggie's quick query. "Because I know how his will's made," explained his mother, "and unless his Caroline is found, your Cousin John and I get all his money.' Reginald's eyes blazed into a flame of interest. Money was the only thing that attracted him. "Why doesn't he die, then?" he asked, dropping back sullenly. "He's old enough and sick enough, isn't he?"

"Because he's getting well," replied his mother. "That girl--" "What girl?" Reggle's voice asked the question in monotone. "Some huzzy John picked up not long ago," was the reply. brought Paul to life, and John is wild about her, and now-

"Where is she?" interjected Reginald. "With your Cousin Paul. And, Reggie, I'd give five hundred to get her out of the house. The boy rose and stood gazing down at the tips of his highly polished boots. "I'd give more than that," he replied solemnly, "to know Cousin Paul was in his grave." "Then rid us of the girl, and he'll soon keel over," said the mother.

But Reginald wasn't interested in Cousin Paul's new companion. He wanted money and that was all, now that Tony Devon was dead. "How about the five hundred for me?" he questioned, looking at her keenly. "I've said I hadn't it, my son," said she. "Now run away and don't bother me any more." Reggle did leave the room, but not the house. His mind was filled with many plans to get hold of the cash he needed. There were two things had to be done. Whoever the girl with Cousin Paul was, she had to go. It was enough that his mother didn't want her in the house. Reggie could abuse his own women folks; he could force his mother into a spell of hysterics, he wouldn't tolerate. Then the other thing to which he had made up his mind almost brought his hair on end when he contemplated it. The world had to be relieved of make them cry all he wanted to, but that any one, and a stranger too, could

A little drop of something-Reggie rose to his feet and walked nervously up and down the room. "Twould be easy enough to get hold of, for Dr.

John always had plenty of drugs on

"I'd like to kill her."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

The Problem at Present "Do people in society talk about one nother?

"Not as much as they used to," said Miss Cayenne. "They seem to be let-ting one another alone and talking about their servants."