How to Be Healthy

The Crusade of the Double-Barred Cross
 Practical Talks on Disease Prevention

Prepared by the
 OREGON TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION

(Practically every adult person is infected with tuberculosis. This infection need not be a source of danger. To keep the latent infection from becoming disease, bodily resistance must be kept at its best. This series of articles shows you how to keep healthy.)

PREVENTION OF TUBERCULOSIS

DR. GEORGE THOMAS PALMER,
 President Illinois Tuberculosis Association, Springfield, Ill.

THE prevention of tuberculosis consists first, in the avoidance of infection by the germ of the disease and second, in the prevention of active tuberculous disease after infection may have been acquired. Thousands of persons acquire tuberculous infection without succumbing to the disease. In fact, if one lives properly, it is possible for him to carry tuberculous infection throughout his entire life without developing tuberculous disease or consumption. The man with tuberculous infection, however, is always in more or less danger and consequently every effort should be made to avoid initial infection.

To avoid first infection and to prevent the development of later disease there must be team work on the part of the individual and the community. However careful the individual may be, he is not safe in a community where health regulation is disregarded, and on the other hand, the entire community is endangered by the carelessness of the infected person.

The first problem of preventing infection must be solved not only by sane public regulation and control of all consumptives who may spread the disease, but by the regulation of all those things which directly or indirectly affect the general public health. To prevent his own infection the individual must exercise care in his contact with known consumptives, must insist upon good hygienic conditions in all places where he works or plays, or joins with others in his recreation. The individual child must be rigidly protected from contact with any consumptive or possible consumptive.

To avoid tuberculous disease or consumption on the part of the individual who is already infected—and at present about eighty per cent of persons acquire tuberculous infection at one time or another—the chief problem is that of maintaining individual health at its highest point. While the infected individual may round out a long life without evidence of the disease, it is also true that he may develop active disease at any time through the lowering of his physical strength or resistance. Hence, he must live a safe, sane, normal life with the right kind of food, with ample fresh air, with moderation in all his habits, including those of work and play and with avoidance of any unnecessary strain. He must also exact of his community those civic conditions necessary to good community health, including good housing, efficient general health administration, clean streets, proper ventilation of public places, safe milk supply and a reasonable measure of public recreation.

It has been stated that if every man, woman and child would utilize our present knowledge of prevention, tuberculosis would be wiped out in a few generations.

The gratifying reduction in tuberculosis during past years has not been due to epoch-making scientific discoveries, nor even to records of the activities of sanitarians and doctors and nurses, but rather to national, state and local campaigns of popular education through which people have been taught to live sane and wholesome lives. In spite of the success which has attended the educational efforts of the past, it must be recognized that the vast majority of the people of the United States have not yet acquired the truth about this disease—the truth which will make them free from the greatest scourge with which mankind has ever been afflicted.

POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK IS OBSERVED

May 1 Sees Inaugurated First General Campaign of Kind in Service.

Without the Postal Service, business would languish in a day, and be at a standstill in a week. Public opinion would die of dry rot. Sectional hatred or prejudice only would flourish, and narrow-mindedness thrive.

It is the biggest distinctive business in the world and it comes nearer to the innermost interests of a greater number of men and women than any other institution on earth. No private business, however widespread, touches so many lives so often or sharply; no church reaches into so many souls, flutters so many pulses, has so many human beings dependent on its ministrations.

"Postal Improvement Week" has been set for May 1, by the Postmaster General. This is the first general campaign of its kind in the Postal Service for several decades. Business men and their organizations, large users of the mail, newspapers, motion pictures, advertisers, and the entire organization of 326,000 postal workers are to be enlisted in this country-wide campaign of interest in postal improvements. Your help is vital. Address your letters plainly with pen or typewriter. Give street address. Spell out name of State, don't abbreviate. Put your return address in the upper left hand corner of envelope (not on the back) and always look at your letter before dropping in the mail to see if it is properly addressed. This care in the use of the mails is for your benefit and speeds up the dispatch and delivery of mail matter.

If you have any complaints of poor service make them to your postmaster. He has instructions to investigate them and report to the department.

COURTESY

It sticks in human relations like postage stamps on letters. The POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT expects it to be used by its postmasters and employees in dealing with the public.

Help them in its use beginning with POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK, May 1-6, 1922.

THANK YOU

WITHOUT STREET ADDRESS YOUR MAIL IS DELAYED AT OFFICE OF DELIVERY

The Dead Letter Office has been in existence ever since Ben Franklin started our postal service. Even then people addressed mail to Mr. Ezekiel Smithers, "Atlantic Coast," and expected Ben to know just where Zeke lived.

Perhaps they had Zeke's address in letters up in the garret, maybe a chest full of 'em, but then it was easier to let Ben hunt Zeke. Today people are addressing letters to John Smith, New York, N. Y., or Chicago, Ill., thinking Uncle Sam can locate him, which is just as incomplete as was Zeke's address of yore. The Postoffice Department asks you to put the number and street in the address. It helps you.

Trinidad Col.

How do you expect the Postal Clerk to know whether you mean Trinidad, California, or Trinidad, Colorado?

ALWAYS SPELL OUT THE NAME OF THE STATE IN FULL IN THE ADDRESS.

"MORE BUSINESS IN GOVERNMENT"

This apt phrase was used in President Harding's first message to Congress and applies particularly in postal management where postmasters are being impressed with the fact that they are managers of local branches of the biggest business in the world.

HERE COMES A STRANGER!

Let's make our post office look neat. Mr. Postmaster, Straighten up the rural letter box, Mr. Farmer, Tidy up some, Mr. Rural Carrier, First impressions are lasting. Maybe Mr. Stranger, taking notice of these improvements, will come back, bringing you benefits. Start these with "POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK" May 1-6.
