HAVE NEW MARK OF IDENTITY
Breakfast Coats Have Begun to Disappear With Ruchings; Lace and Chiffon Taking Place.

Breakfast coats have begun to disappear with ruchings, which have long been an inseparable part of this household garment; at least 'tis so among the more exclusive mode. Instead, little ruffles of lace or chiffon, or narrow flat lace insertions are giving these long popular breakfast coats a new characterization. More frilly ruffles are these essentially feminine garments, which is as it should be in the realm of negligees.
The more tailored bodicot garments, however, have a large and devoted following and these are being trimmed with self-material in narrow fold, applied in scrolls, rosettes and lattice work.
When warm weather comes, the breakfast coat in the sheer cotton materials will give summer comfort. Fancy dainty weaves and printed volles and all the other softer summer materials make charming negligees. These are finished with colored organdie fold trimmings, or raveled-out silk ruches or simple pipings and, of course, lace and sheer cottons are always inseparable.
Lingerie Frocks.
Amusing little lingerie frocks of printed voile have been imported, and they are not only decidedly smart, but are also very low in price. The voile has a white ground and the figures are in red, blue and dull yellow, little futuristic flowers that look quite wide awake. The sleeves and the hem are bound in a narrow piping of red organdie and a red organdie belt with red rosettes gives just the proper color emphasis.
Dainty Negligees.
For spring some dainty cotton crepe negligees are being shown, and the low waistline so much featured in outer apparel enters the negligee field.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

CANNOT HOARD TIME

IN A certain time you can make a certain amount of money. You can put the money away for years later, but you can't put the time away. Money, called by the economists frozen labor, might also be called hoarded time.
But time is more than money. It can be turned into many things that can be stored away—education, cultivated taste, pleasant and profitable memories. But time itself you cannot hoard. You must use it as it passes, or it is gone forever.
Time spent in recreation is not wasted, unless you spend more than a due allowance for recreation.
But time spent in absolute idleness, or in activities that are worse than idle, is sheer criminal waste.
If you could go back over your life and gather back the hours that have never been improved, you would still have enough time to do great things. But those hours are gone.
You can only, as Shakespeare says, "regret your dear time's waste" and resolve to waste less of it in the future.
Many men whose time had never been turned to account until they were past forty have still had enough left to accomplish great things in the world. But these are the most sincere mourners for the years that might have been utilized.
If you will begin today to bear in mind that time cannot be hoarded, and if every hour of it is converted into something that can be hoarded, you may lay the foundation for a fortune. You will certainly lay the foundation for happiness by and by.
Count your hours, and allot each one to some task or to some profitable recreation. See that none of them slip by. They are as water through a mill, which if sent over the wheel creates valuable energy, but which spilled over the dam is gone forever.

Mother's Cook Book

"A fig tree looking on a fig tree becometh fruitful," says the Arabian proverb. And so it is with children; their first instructor is example.

EVERYDAY GOOD THINGS

NOW is the time to go forth and pluck the early watercress, the wholesome dandelion, the dock and poke, the new shoots of milkweed and marsh marigold or cowslips, all giving the needed zest to the food of spring.

Fresh Dandelion Salad.
Those who appreciate the value of the tender bleached heart of dandelion like it with a bit of salt without any dressing. For a salad the bleached leaves are best, but the tender green shoots, cut and mixed with a small green onion and served with French dressing is a salad not to be despised. Cut the dandelion close to the root, with all the tender green buds. Wash carefully and slice the root from the base, buds and tender leaves for an inch above the root. These use for a fresh salad; the rest of the leaves may be cooked for greens. Another addition to this salad is a thinly sliced tomato, which adds a bit of acid and softens the bitter of the dandelion. Using mayonnaise on the fresh green dandelion is another appetizing method of serving it.

Cooked Dandelion Salad.
Cook the greens until tender, which will take two hours or more unless the greens are very young, then serve with the following salad dressing: Rub a small bowl with a cut clove of garlic, add one-half of a teaspoonful of salt, a few dashes of paprika, two tablespoonfuls of orange juice and four to five tablespoonfuls of olive oil. Whip this dressing until it is creamy, then serve on the cooked dandelions.

Pigweed or Lambs' Quarter.
This is a good wholesome green and common enough to be generally well known as a weed, but not well known as a good food. Pull it up by the roots and strip off the green leaves, as the stalk is generally too tough to serve. Cook with pork or corned beef and serve hot.

Purslane is another good green, which grows in profusion. Pick the leaves and stalks, shake well and wash, then cook as any other greens.
Horsradish, pleplant and dandelion cooked together make a good flavored combination. Yellow dock when young and tender is good.

Cowslips are delicious when well cooked and seasoned. They are easy to clean and do not shrink as do the dandelions when cooking. A half peck of tender dandelion greens will shrink when cooked to a small vegetable dishful.

Mustard is grown for a green and makes a most tasty dish. The wild mustard is good, but the leaves are much smaller than those of the plant called Chinese mustard. A few leaves of the mustard cut in bits and added to the dish of lettuce improves it.

Watercress at this season is in its prime, fresh and green. It grows along the banks of brooks. One should use care in picking it where there is no fear of sewage contamination.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Redmond.—The new Redmond automobile camp grounds, which were opened to the public the first of the month, are attracting a great deal of attention and favorable comment among tourists.

Grants Pass.—Commercial fishing in Rogue river is improving steadily as further drops in the water are noted. Saturday the fishermen brought in 2500 pounds, the price now standing at 14 cents. About eight boats are operating nightly.

Pendleton.—A wave of petty larceny at the municipal natorium here is responsible for the decision of the city council to hire an additional caretaker and place a large set of lockers in the dressing rooms so that patrons of the big open-air tank may have protection.

Hood River.—Stranahan & Slavens, local contractors, were awarded the contract for construction of the junior high school building here. The structure will cost about $10,000. The new building will occupy the site of the old junior high school, destroyed by fire on September of last year.

Dufur.—A resolution opposing the repeal of the educational millage bill and denouncing the action of the delegates who voted for such repeal at the state grange convention recently was adopted by unanimous vote of 50 members of the Wasco County Pomona grange at its June meeting here.

Corvallis.—More than 500 Oregon farmers have come to Corvallis within the last week to inspect the investigations and findings of the expert station. They studied the most popular crops and latest methods of station specialists, and took many notes to guide them in making application to their own farm practice.

Albany.—A big pile of driftwood under the north end of the Albany bridge across the Willamette, which has become a dangerous fire menace, is being removed. Once last summer and twice already this year fire started in this driftwood and the blazes proved hard to fight. In two of the fires the bridge caught and was damaged considerably.

Marshfield.—A wage increase is said to be pending in the various sawmills of Coos bay. Managers are reticent about the exactness of the report, but say there is such a movement under consideration. Several versions are given, one of a straight increase of 10 per cent and another of a general adjustment, but not such a large increase.

St. Helens.—The annual community day and stock exhibit day of the Lancton community was held at Yankton Saturday. H. A. Lindgren, professor of animal husbandry at Oregon Agricultural college, judged the exhibits. A picnic lunch was served by the women of the community and a program was given under the direction of County Agent Hollibaugh.

Salem.—A proposed bill, introduced by the Law Enforcement club of Portland, of which Charles P. Church is president, which provides that money in banks and other similar institutions shall be considered the personal property of depositors and may not be deducted from the assessed value of the assets of the bank, was filed with Secretary of State Kozer Saturday.

Pendleton.—Ninety-four per cent certified, the first petition filed with the clerk of Umatilla county initiating the exposition tax measure proposing state indorsement of action of the voters of the city of Portland if they authorize a tax of $3,000,000 for the staging of the 1925 exposition was filed Saturday by W. W. Harrah, member of the managing committee of the fair board.

Salem.—Ten thousand dollars will be raised by subscription among members of the Illahee Country club, located near Salem, and improvements will be made at the clubhouse and grounds, according to officers of the club. The committee from the club, which has a membership of 153, is composed of John J. Roberts, F. W. Steusloff, William Brown, D. J. Fry and Homer H. Smith.

Salem.—Attorney-General Van Winkle Saturday completed the ballot title for the anti-alien land ownership bill initiated by the American Legion of Oregon. It was filed with the secretary of state. The purpose of the bill, as set forth by the attorney-general, is "to prohibit aliens not eligible to citizenship under the United States laws to acquire, possess, enjoy, transmit or inherit real property or interest therein in Oregon, except as prescribed by any United States treaty now existing."

Each Man's Rights Limited.
Every man must work out his own salvation, but in doing so must recognize that millions of other men are doing the same thing and have rights as well as he. Therefore, what he does must not unnecessarily interfere with what they are doing.

Pollen Carried Far.
Wind-blown pollen (sulphur rain) is known to be carried far. The Swedish experiment station reports a quite extensive rain of tree pollen on two fire ships, twenty and thirty-seven miles from shore, and the pollen of algae is known to have been carried even as far as 200 miles.

Progress.
Progress in human history has been traced by the destruction of barriers. While science has found a way to span the seas and bridge the continents, philosophy has made planes of thought on which men of every race may meet together in harmony of faith and purpose.—Walter S. Young.

One to Spare.
An old lady saw two boys fighting in the street. She went up to the bigger of the two, and cried: "You wicked boy, you will kill him." "I don't care," answered the boy "I've got another at home."

Some Pictures.
Thanks to modern development in art, one can now tell the homeliest girl she is as "pretty as a picture" without lying.

What She Wanted.
Last Saturday we were eating lunch and Madeline had just finished eating a ham sandwich. In asking for another she turned to her mother and said: "Mamma, I want some more meat, but don't wrap it up."—Chicago Tribune.

Inbreeding of Species.
In an experiment with 600 white rats belonging to the sixteenth to the twenty-fifth generations of brothers and sisters from the same litter, it was found, says Science, that close inbreeding produced no deterioration.

Too Familiar.
"This air is very familiar," said the musician as a goat of wind whisked his hat off.—Boston Transcript.

Daily Thought.
A thing of beauty is a joy forever; its loveliness increases; it will never pass into nothingness.—Keats.

DOCTOR ORDERED WOMAN OBEYED

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and is Now Well

Chicago, Illinois.—"You surely gave women one good medicine when you put Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on the market. After I had my baby I was all run down and so nervous it kept me from gaining. My doctor did everything he could to build me up, then he ordered me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with his medicine and I am now a new woman. I have had three children and they are all Lydia E. Pinkham babies. I have recommended your medicine to several friends and they speak highly of it. You are certainly doing good work in this world."—Mrs. ADRIEN TOMSHECK, 16557 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

There is nothing very strange about the doctor directing Mrs. Tomsheck to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There are many physicians who do recommend it and highly appreciate its value.

Women who are nervous, run down, and suffering from women's ailments should give this well-known root and herb medicine a trial. Mrs. Tomsheck's experience should guide you towards health.

Old Woodwork Made New.
A wood dye is a good finish for old woodwork. If the old finish is unsatisfactory and you do not wish to remove it a wood dye may be put over it. There are a number of different shades made. A final finish of an enamel makes the wood look as good as new.

Would the Lighthouse Keeper?
A lady advertised for a servant to do light house work. She received a letter from a girl who said she would like the position, for she thought the sea air would do her good, but she wanted to know where the lighthouse was situated.—H. S. Johnson, in Detroit Free Press.
