BLACKSMITHING

I have opened a blacksmith shop for all-around blacksmithing at my old stand opposite Woodcock's mill and am prepared to do work at reasonable rates.

A. F. MARTIN

Wapinitia

Johnny Tapp is here from Wn. and has begun work for Joe Graham.

Gottlieb Teschner has moved his family back to Wap.

Mrs. R. R. M. Cantwell was a weekend visitor at the home of her mother, Mrs. Bell Delco.

W. B. Keen is on the sick list.

B. F. McKee of Woodburn, Oregon, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. L. M. Woodside.

Mrs. Bigbee and Supt. Gronwald were out Tuesday in the interest of the school club work.

Those from a distance who came to attend the funeral of Mrs. Woodside were Mrs. Kelly of Portland and Mr. Bartell of Cottage Grove.

Mrs. Graham returned to Clackamas Monday.

Mrs. R. W. McCorkle and Vivian Eubanks are cooking for the Powell-McCorkle threshing crew.

Andrew Booth and wife of Wamic are here during harvest.

C. J. McCorkle is threshing for John Ayres this week.

N. G. Hedin and family are in Portland.

Mrs. Davis is visiting her son Herb Hammer.

Matt Busic is able to be around again.

Rev. Geo. McDonald will be here the last of the week. He will hold Quarterly Conference meeting Saturday night. All members of the Quarterly Conference please be present with reports up to date. Rev. McDonald will preach Sunday.

Mrs. Walter Driver has returned home after spending several days with her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Maddron are now located at Westwood, California. They are all busy and enjoying their present home, but often think of Wap and wish to be remembered to their many friends here.

The cottage formerly owned by A. H. Cunningham has been the most changeable as to its occupants lately of any house in town. Joe Kramer and family moved into the cottage vacated by the McDonald family.

Obituary

On July 21st Wapinitia and vicinity lost one of its most highly esteemed citizens when the messenger of death summoned Mrs. Mary A. Woodside.

She was born at Greenfield, Indiana, June 19th, 1876. When a child five years she with her parents moved to Kansas where she grew to womanhood. In 1864 she was married to George Clair. To this union was born a daughter, Louella Grace. In 1905 she came to Oregon, making her home at Wapinitia where she has since resided. She became the wife of L. D. Woodside Nov. 26th, 1910. Besides her husband she is survived by a sister, Mrs. C. H. Temple of Decator, Ill., and her daughter, Louella Grace Clair, also of Decator, Ill.

Early in life she became a Christian and united with the Methodist church. Mrs. Woodside possessed those qualities which won for her a wide circle of friends. Her untimely departure is a great loss not only to her home but also the whole community.

The funeral services were held at the Wapinitia church Sunday morning and interment was made in the Kelly cemetery.

Around Maupin

The first huckleberries of the season were brought out Sunday by H. Anderson. They were picked near Govt. Camp by Dave Donaldson.

Tethered and otherwise detained "Bossies" are evidently the only objectors to city government thus far.

The Confer thresher and grain had a narrow escape from a disastrous fire Tuesday when a spark from the engine started a blaze which took considerable work to extinguish.

D. M. Shattuck and family returned Tuesday from a trip to East Lake and left today for their home in Dallas.

Fire Proof Hotel

G. L. and H. L. Hrrpham have been grading with scraper and teams on the Harphan property opposite Shattuck's store and dumping the earth thus displaced on the lower side of the street for the last two days. The object of this upheaval is declared to be a 36x50 two story fireproof hotel, built with concrete foundation and walls of concrete brick which are now being made in The Dalles. Mr. Harphan expects to have the hotel completed with modern equipment and ready for occupancy by the expiration of three months.

The framework of the J. L. Confer residence is taking form today.

Fire Permits Necessary

Due to the forest fire situation in Oregon. Acting District Forester E. N. Kavanagh has issued instructions requiring permits for camp fires on National Forest lands. to be effective immediately. It is the first time such a rule has been put in effect in Oregon.

Permits are being required for building camp fires on National Forest lands in the states of Washington and California and the extremely dry condition of forest lands in Oregon make the permit system necessary. The widest publicity is being given to the new rule.

The concrete walk in front of the Bank is now completed.

To the Farmers:

A differential of 4c per bushel is made between bulk and sacked wheat for the 1922-1923 crop. All trading shall be made on basis of sacked wheat.

We have on hand:

Sacks Twine
Salt Oats

The L. B. Kelly thresher engine underwent an overhauling Saturday and Sunday, then just before getting to the "setting" on Frank Batty's place a front axle broke which necessitated a wait for a new one from Portland

Smock News

How the wind does blow! The fire which started on Boulder creek is still burning despite the efforts of seventy men who are fighting it. Another fire is reported at the head of Gate creek. A truck carries supplies day to the camp for the men, who may have to stay for some time unless it rains soon.

J. W. Farlow returned Sunday evening from the fire area and has Charles heading his grain for him.

A physician was called to attend J. C. Bradwney who suffered an injury to his side, and found he had fractured a rib. Under tge treatment he is now getting along nicely.

Mrs. Howell spent last week with Mrs. J. W. Farlow.

H. E. Brown's house (owned by G. W. Bargenholt) burned down last week. Mr. Brown with other men employed at Mulvaney's mill rushed to the house which was near and succeeded in rescuing some things, but canned fruit and clothes were burned with the house. The family are staying at the Mulvaney home.
