

And a Prosperous New Year

Council Meeting

Council met in regular session last night with all officers present except the marshal and two councilmen.

L. Baldwin of Baldwin & Swope contractors and builders was present and contended for the council to vote a payment on the cement walks constructed this winter of $5 per cent value on the walks which have had a top surface put on them. The council were unable to pass an order for payment due to the fact that no contract has ever been presented or signed by any of the city officers.

What part of the sidewalks should be considered as completed underwent considerable discussion.

Several property owners were present who with members of the council compromised to a statement of 75 per cent payment to be made on the surfaced walks, regardless of the unfinished work. Mayor Wilson objected, holding, and with practical argument, that 60 per cent payment would be liberal on the part of the city toward the contractors, considering the unfinished territory and the damage done by the freezing of the cement when it was fresh. About 90 per cent of the surfacing will have to be replaced on the blocks above Sixth street.

Mayor Wilson wrote a suggestive amendment to the present ordinance, intended to clear up difficulties and place the matter in shape to be regularly cleared of complications.

Mr. Baldwin stated that a contract was mailed B. D. Fraley on the walk proposition, but as it was never received or signed by any of the city officers, it remains a fact that they were bound by no contract nor any formal order for work given.

Dr. Stovall and L. C. Henneghan stated that 75 per cent was not too much to allow for present payment.
