Land Slide at 77

The down train on the O. T. line was delayed by a landslide Tuesday night. The up train was held at the depot until the track was cleared at about eight o'clock last night. The passengers patronized the local hotels and restaurant for meals yesterday, Mr. Griffin making several trips with his car for the convenience of them. The slide was at Milepost 77 and covered two rails a depth of about 15 feet. The O. T. engine detached from the train and took the section crews of both roads to assist the wrecking crew who were on the O. W. track above here, the slide being on the section of the track used by both roads. The O. W. trains did not attempt to come through yesterday, while the O. T. trains transferred passengers yesterday afternoon. Schedule time is resumed on both lines today.
