As garden planting time is at hand all those having chickens running at large within the town limits will save themselves trouble and their neighbors much annoyance by keeping them up. The city marshal has instructions to enforce the "chicken ordinance" which requires chickens to be cooped up.

The war against disease goes on. After long and tedious effort the germ of Spanish influenza has been isolated. This is a long step forward in the scientific study of the malady; but the next step, that of finding an effective antitoxin, is longer still. Smallpox, diphtheria, and typhoid have yielded to the test tubes and cultures of the bacteriologist, and even leprosy, we are told, now has a specific. Possibly influenza will be the next to the self-sacrificing men who hold their position on humanity's firing line.—Review and Herald.

K. of C. Help Veterans

Supreme office issues chart which makes plain the extension work carried on by the organization in behalf of about 30,000 unfortunates.

How more than $100,000 per month is spent by the hospitalization bureau of the Knights of Columbus for the benefit of the approximately 30,000 disabled veterans of all denominations who remain living memories of America's participation in the war is made plain by a chart issued by the Supreme office of the K. of C. from New Haven, Conn.

The Knights hospital work comes under three main divisions Entertainment, Distribution of creature comforts and personal service, and each division supplies a need felt by the disabled men. There is a fourth division technical training exemplified principally by the maintenance of the toy-factory at St. Elizabeths hospital, Washington, D. C., where hundreds of badly shell-shocked men, many of them practically hopeless cases, are taught how to make toys through the year for the Christmas season.

Every month in the four hundred hospitals served by the 165 experienced K. of C. secretaries moving pictures, vaudeville and boxing and wrestling exhibitions are provided by the Knights. The hospitals containing the largest number of men, as in New York, Chicago and the other large cities, San Francisco etc., naturally receiving the greater number of entertainment. Almost every day the K. of C. secretaries distribute large quantities of free creature comforts, cigarettes, candy, toilet articles, etc., to the men, as the Knights did in the camps and at the front during the war.

The feature of personal service is the personal attention which the K. of C. hospital workers give the men, running errands, shaving those unable to shave themselves, writing letters, attending to compensation claims,
