Side Lights

If you ever have an idle time and have no place to go, take the road right up the hill and come to Shaniko. The people are awful clever here; the streets are paved with mud and when a cow gets stuck in it she stands and chews her cud. There is a road on every corner leading out of town, and when you go to travel them they mostly all go down. The hills are kinda' sloping, they slant in every way; one way goes to Maupin, the other to John Day. I come home the other day feeling kinder punk; you see I walking around the hill and stepped right on a skunk. He raised his flag and charged. I run a half a mile, and I sat down on the side of the hill to rest a little while. Now this sounds kinda' fishie; it sounds just like a yarn, but ever since that fatal day I have slept out in the barn. My eyesight is kinda' failing me, I cannot see so well, but I can always tell when I have a skunk. I can find them by the smell.—R. C. Fulkerson.

Someone has discovered that it takes 140 nuts to hold a Ford together and only one to hold it in the road.

Lost—One Rube. Finder please return to Geo. Claymier. Route A Box 74. Liberal reward.
